CHURCHILL GAIN IN PNEUMONIA BATTLE IS TOLD

Physicians Report He Rests Well.

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—An announcement from 10 Downing street tonight said there was some improvement in Prime Minister Churchill's general condition.

Announcement that Churchill had been stricken with his second attack of pneumonia in 10 months and is under the care of three physicians, including a heart specialist, somewhere in the middle east, was revealed to an anxious British nation earlier today.

Gravity Is Disclosed.

Attlee read to hushed M. P.s this official bulletin issued at No. 10 Downing street, Churchill's official residence:

"The prime minister has been in bed for some days with a cold. A patch of pneumonia has now developed in his left lung. His general condition is as satisfactory as can be expected."

Commons found at least a measure of reassurance in this final sentence, and the nation offered prayers for a speedy recovery. The gravity of Churchill's illness was underlined by announcement that daily bulletins on his condition would be issued.

Spends Restful Night.

The first of these, issued at 7 o'clock tonight [1 p. m. Chicago war time], said:

"The prime minister has had a good night. There is some improvement in his general condition."

Without disclosing the exact whereabouts of the prime minister, except that he is in the middle east, Attlee said "I can assure the house that every modern facility is available on the spot." Supplies of the drug penicillin were understood to be available if needed.

There was a possibility that the war cabinet would have to name an acting leader.

Expect Long Absence.

The Daily Express said "altho there is no cause for alarm, the prime minister's illness will mean his absence from arduous public duties for a long time. He may have to delegate permanently a good deal of work he has been doing himself."

Churchill was ill with pneumonia for about a month in the latter half of February and the first part of March this year.

At that time friends said he was "the world's worst patient," restive and cantankerous, always reaching for cigars which were forbidden and demanding to work in bed so insistently that his doctors could not deny the privilege.

F. D. R. Back; Faces Rising Tide of Issues

Honor for Roosevelt

LONDON, Dec. 17 [Friday]—(AP).—President Roosevelt has been elected honorary master of the bench of Gray's Inn—one of Britain's most ancient societies of barristers—it was announced today. Prime Minister Churchill also is an honorary bencher.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—President Roosevelt has returned to American soil after five weeks of journeying to diplomatic and military conferences in Africa, Europe, and Asia, the White House announced tonight.

On his return the President is faced with a series of domestic problems as grave if not graver than the international problems which sent him scurrying to meet with Prime Minister Churchill, Dictator Stalin, and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The President found the nation confronted with a nation-wide railroad strike, scheduled to start Dec. 30, which threatens to paralyze the entire war production program and hamstring the military establishment. There also is a prospect of another coal strike.

Blows at Subsidy Program.

On Capitol hill the subsidy program is being dealt staggering blows by congress. The administration is shouting that defeat of this program will skyrocket the nation up the dangerous spiral of inflation.

Also marooned on Capitol hill is the administration's tax program calling for sharp upward revision of tax rates to lessen the gap between war expenditures and revenue collections.

During the President's absence the New Deal has been suffering defeats at special elections which have made it clear that the results of congressional elections in November marked a tide of growing Republican strength.

The White House did not announce when Mr. Roosevelt will return to the White House. It was not said where Mr. Roosevelt had landed or how long he may rest before returning to his desk.

Recalls German Report.

"I am happy to say that he is safely back in the United States," Stephen T. Early, White House secretary, said in reporting the return. Early recalled the German radio had reported the President's plane had been forced down in the Azores Islands.

[The German news agency DNB, in a dispatch purporting to come from Lisbon, Portugal, said yesterday that President Roosevelt's plane made a forced landing in the Azores Islands while on his way to the Cairo and Teheran conferences. There has been no official confirmation that such a stop was made while the President was en route to Cairo. The broadcast said, "It was understood that Roosevelt, on his flight from Cairo and Teheran, has stayed on the British occupied Azores Islands for some hours because his aircraft had to land on Terceira Island for repairs owing to motor damage."]

Adm. Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations, also returned, it was reported.

LONDON PAPER PLANS EDITION FOR NEW YORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 17 [Friday].—The London Daily Mail today announced it has completed arrangements for production of a weekly trans-Atlantic edition in New York City. The publication will be a digest assembled in magazine form and photographed on microfilm which will be flown to New York and printed there. The trans-Atlantic edition will contain pictures, news, and features.

The purpose of the experiment, the Mail said, is to contribute to a "closer understanding of the British by the American people."

[There was no information last night from officials in Washington, D. C., as to whether the Mail would be granted newsprint for its project. American publications' stocks of paper are severely rationed.]

MONTREAL AFL GROUP ENDS 'NO STRIKE' PLEDGE

Fear Crippling of War Industries.

BY DON STARR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 16.—The Trades and Labor council, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, late tonight rescinded its no strike pledge as a result of the success of the Canadian Congress of Labor's police and fire strike here.

The council's action added to fears of labor experts that a wave of strikes would be touched off in war industries. The strike of 4,500 city employes which had set the fuse for violent repercussions thruout the dominion had ended yesterday with the capitulation of the government to Paul Marquette, czar of the labor congress.

Marquette and his satellites admit that the strike here was a test case and government officials are fearful that its success may be the prelude to a wave which might dangerously hamper the war effort and might conceivably result in a general strike in Canada.

Clerks Cancel Strike.

Meanwhile, 2,000 city hall clerks canceled a strike ultimatum today when city authorities agreed to recognize the National Syndicate of Municipal Workers as bargaining agent. Conferences on a working contract were scheduled for Saturday.

Dissatisfaction with the earlier settlement with policemen, firemen, and public works employes at the same time prompted Honore Parent to resign as Montreal's deputy administrator. Parent had refused to recognize the Congress of Labor as bargaining agent.

The politico-labor crucible in which the present situation flamed involves elements of communism, a curious fascism, and the CCL, a labor movement now in its infancy but fast growing under Marquette, the John L. Lewis of Canada. Marquette today denied he had had any relations with the Congress of Industrial Organizations in the United States but admitted that many of his local unions are affiliated with the CIO and pay into its funds as well as those of the CCL.

Other Ties Shown.

How much money the CIO in the United States sends back into Canada is not known, but observers who have watched the CCL grow are convinced the amount is not inconsiderable. Other CIO-CCL links have been demonstrated. When the latter organization held its national convention here last September Allan S. Haywood, vice president and director of the CIO, told the delegates that the two organizations were not affiliated and in the next breath termed the relationship a "nice working agreement."

Incidentally, the Communist party of Canada and the Canadian Commonwealth federation, a radical labor party which also is rapidly gathering strength, were strongly represented among the 600 delegates to the CCL convention. The movement toward communism thruout the province is evident and in the last election one Communist was elected as a provincial delegate.

French Canadian Unrest.

Another element is the unrest among French Canadians which broke into the open with the British evacuation at Dunkirk and continued with French-Canadian resistance to conscription. French-Canadian resentment is evident even in the demeanor of street car operators who refuse to answer questions put to them in English.

The strongest force, however, is Marquette and the CCL. Altho he admittedly is more powerful than Aaron R. Mosher, national president

JUDGE ALLOWS SUIT FOR BALM

Broker's Case Will Test 1935 Prohibition.

The Illinois law enacted in 1935 that prohibits the filing of breach of promise suits is unconstitutional, Judge Frank M. Padden ruled in Superior court yesterday when he denied a motion to dismiss such an action brought against Harry Dobry, an insurance broker who lives at 1332 Estes avenue.

The plaintiff, Miss Margaret Teehee Cunningham, is an art student and war plant worker. She alleged that Dobry, altho married, represented himself as a widower, proposed marriage, and is the father of her son, Tommy, 4. She asked judgment for $50,000. She lives at 3325 North Seeley avenue.

Attorney Assails Motives.

Atty. Julius L. Kabaker, representing Dobry, argued that it was the express intention of the legislature to bar such suits and that the court should respect that intention and let the state Supreme court decide constitutionality. Many such suits, he said, had the nature of extortion and were legal blackmail. Judge Padden, however, asserted the law was clearly unconstitutional.

He gave Kabaker 30 days in which to file a demurrer or an appeal. The attorney said he was uncertain what action he would take.

"The question does not present one of procedure or practice but of substantive or fundamental law," Judge Padden said. "If the legislature can deprive a person of the right to sue for breach of contract to marry it can abolish the right to sue for a violation of any contract or other wrong. The marriage contract has always been considered in our law as one of the most important. . . .

Cites Moral Effect.

"In the opinion of the court the law violates the fundamental law of the land and, if it were upheld, would put a premium upon the violation of the moral law. . . . In the opinion of this court the law is clearly unconstitutional."

The ruling upheld Sol R. Friedman and Thomas J. Cavanagh, attorneys for Miss Cunningham, who argued that both the federal and state constitutions guaranteed every person a day in court for redress of wrongs.

This is the first test of the law, which passed the legislature with only one negative vote.

Judge John R. McSweeney of Municipal court, who sponsored the anti-"balm" bill in the lower house when he was a state representative from Chicago, said last night:

"My opinion is that this case will be carried to the Supreme court for a test and that it will there be held constitutional."

Record Meat Stocks Force OPA Promise of Point Cut

Confronted by the largest accumulation of meat in years behind the bulging walls of cold storage rooms [183,996,000 pounds of beef, 376,072,000 pounds of pork] and with butter stocks at an all-time high for December, Chester Bowles, federal price and rationing administrator in Washington, D. C., yesterday promised harried housewives downward revision in meat ration values.

His concession came as Col. Bryan Houston, deputy rationing administrator, admitted in Chicago that a shift of 9 per cent in public opinion would make it necessary to abandon gasoline rationing.

Won't Suspend Rationing.

At the same time, Bowles rejected suggestions from the meat industry that meat rationing be suspended because of increasing supplies, and insisted there will be no change in dollars and cents price ceilings on retail goods.

Representatives of nine of the largest packing firms in the United States, meeting yesterday in New York with Commissioner of Markets Henry M. Brundage, unanimously indorsed a proposal for a 30 day moratorium on rationing of pork and pork products.

Report Enormous Stocks.

Enormous surpluses of meats and butter in cold storage warehouses were revealed Wednesday by the department of agriculture, which described beef stocks as the largest since Jan. 1, 1937, and the biggest December total since 1919, and pork stocks the second largest for December since 1936.

Lamb and mutton holdings are 31,074,000 pounds, biggest since last January, and the butter total of 176,045,000 never has been equaled in December, the department reported.

More "Oleo" Available.

The war food administration indicated that a somewhat larger supply of oleomargarine will be available for civilians during the first quarter of 1944—but not enough more to warrant a drop in the 6 point a pound ration value.

Bowles said a close check on food supplies and consumption is being maintained by OPA by interviewing 2,500 housewives each month and by obtaining weekly reports from food dealers. He denied reports that meat was spoiling because storage capacity was exhausted, except for a "borderline" case in Washington, where spoilage was "threatened."

'PUT YOUR ARMS AROUND ME' AND NEW DAY BEGINS

First call is no longer a harsh awakening in the barracks of the medical company at Fort Sheridan. A public address system operates there, and the business of getting up in the morning is accomplished to such tunes as "Put Your Arms Around Me, Honey." Result: The risers are soon whistling the ditty, and early morning blues are gone.

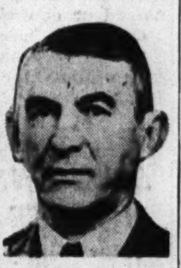
SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HDQ., Dec. 17 [Friday]—(AP).—The American 6th army commanded by Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger smashed ashore at Arawe, on the southwest coast of New Britain, Wednesday at dawn supported by sea and air forces.



Lt. Gen. Krueger.

"The enemy's surprise was complete and his resistance was quickly overcome," said Gen. MacArthur, who directed the operation from his base on an island off the north New Guinea coast.

The American troops chiselled their hold on this cornerstone of Japan's defenses in the southwest Pacific after the place had been blasted in the mightiest air raid in this theater. Planes had dumped 356 tons of bombs on Arawe and islands in the harbor there only the day before the landing.

Casualties Light.

If the aerial pounding of the day before had not numbed the defenders, the pre-invasion hammering given Arawe by naval ships of Rear Adm. Daniel Barbey's 7th amphibious force and by allied bombers and attack planes served to discourage or destroy most of the opposition.

Our ground casualties were extremely light, MacArthur said. Most of the casualties were among the first assault groups who went shoreward in rubber boats.

At 8:30 a. m., after the destroyers finished their work and turned for home, Japanese bombers with fighter escort came over to attack the beachheads and the surface craft. Two of the planes were shot down.

The invasion was achieved without the loss of a single allied plane or surface ship, MacArthur's announcement said.

Planes Hammer Bases.

While the troops were establishing a base which MacArthur said will insure the allies surface command of Vitiaz strait, between New Britain and New Guinea, and adjoining waters, other allied bomber groups were hammering at other important enemy coastal bases on New Britain Island.

Gasmata, the big supply air field center about 75 miles east of the Arawe landing, was hit by 32 tons of bombs. The Cape Gloucester area on the western tip of the island, 60 miles west of Arawe, received 92 tons of explosives among its air field installations. Other bombers struck at Rabaul, the enemy's harbor and air base on the northeastern tip of the island.

Australians fighting up the coast of the Huon peninsula, New Guinea, were attacking Lakona, the Japanese supply base 12 miles north of Finschhafen, while an inland force of Aussies in a frontal assault drove the enemy from strongly defended positions northeast of Wareo, which the Australians captured Dec. 8.

Marshall Isles Bombed.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Dec. 16 (AP).—A new 40 ton bombardment of the Japanese mid-Pacific Marshalls was announced today and, for the first time in five weeks of almost daily attacks, the loss of one of the raiding Liberators was reported.

The new air field of Taroa on Maleolap atoll and the main fortified base of Wotje were the targets. The raids occurred Wednesday.

Thirty enemy planes battled it out over Taroa. Two were shot down, eight probably destroyed and eight more damaged. There apparently was no interception over Wotje.

In addition to the Liberator lost, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said that several others were damaged. One crew member of a damaged bomber was killed.

Enemy Hurls Back First Assault by 150 Commandos.

OUR HEROES

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OFF ARAWE, New Britain, Dec. 15 [Delayed].—I saw the American troops land at Arawe this morning to win their first foothold on New Britain Island—a two mile stretch of beach—and Pilelo island in Arawe harbor.

Altho an initial landing, attempted by Commando units in rubber boats, was repelled with a high percentage of casualties for the small force involved, the operation as a whole came off in brilliant fashion.

There was evidence of hasty evacuation of whatever Japs held the jetty area at the sea end of Cape Merkus, where the principal landing was effected. They had set fire to a ration pile and abandoned a small amount of personal equipment in preference to attempting to fight the superior number of attackers.

Silhouetted Against Moon.

The most spectacular portion of the operation—in which 150 men in tiny rubber boats tried to slip ashore under cover of darkness in hopes of setting up a road block—failed. According to survivors of the ill-fated attempt, the Japs permitted the little flotilla to get less than 100 yards from the moonlit shore before laying down a withering fire from rifles, machine guns and small artillery pieces.

The men crowded in the awkward rubber boats tried desperately to make breastworks with their packs and managed to get off a few answering shots from their tommy guns. But our force was silhouetted against the moonlight and firing at an unseen enemy. Many of the boats were soon riddled and sank or overturned as the men leaped overboard into the water, many of them hampered by full packs fastened to their backs.

Sees Men Die.

Robert Eunson, Associated Press correspondent accompanying this mission, narrowly escaped death. Other eyewitnesses gave graphic accounts of the action. Staff Sgt. W. Hughes, 25 years old, Grand Prairie, Tex., former grocery clerk, said:

"We went over the side of the transport into the rubber boats at 0508 [5:08 a. m.] and reached a point close to the shore at approximately 0530 [5:30 a. m.] When we were maybe 100 yards out they opened up with five or six machine guns and some heavier weapon—I don't know what the devil it was. They shot most of the boats from under us as the men began trying to make breastworks with their packs. Quite a few of the men had their rifles shot right out of their hands.

"I saw four men die.

"Finally the boat I was in sank, and four others and myself swam to another pushing out into the channel. I got the men to kick and paddle as well as they could. I was in charge because our platoon commander had just been killed. Finally we reached the channel and drifted with the tide. The boat was full of holes. We used up all our plugs and even stuck our fingers

MOTHER CABRINI TO BE CANONIZED CATHOLIC SAINT

Chicago Nun to Be First American So Honored.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Mother Francesca Xavier Cabrini, a Chicagoan, is scheduled to become the first American ever canonized a saint by the Catholic church. The completion of the long process, was announced in an Associated Press dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, last night. She was a native of Italy and a naturalized American.

The dispatch stated that a message from Vatican City told of a meeting of the congregation of rites which had decided on the canonization of the famous nun, who founded 70 schools and hospitals, including Columbus hospital, 2548 Lake View avenue, where she died in 1917. It added that Pope Pius XII. will preside at ceremonies for Mother Cabrini's sanctification in January.

Processes for two other American nominees for canonization, Mother Mary Seton, of New York, and Kateri Tekakwitha, "Lily of the Mohawks," native American Indian girl, of Auriesville, N. Y., are still under way.

Move to Canonize Pope.

The Berne dispatch stated that the process toward the canonization of Pope Pius X. had been initiated by the congregation. This process will sanctify the first modern pope.

The process toward Mother Cabrini's canonization was begun at Columbus hospital in August, 1933, under rules of utmost rigidity. Thus the exhaustive scrutiny of the life of the Chicago nun who had founded the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart and had crossed the Atlantic 25 times in the establishment of benign institutions in Europe, South and Central American countries was begun.

The hearing was called by order of the Apostolic see, and Cardinal George Mundelein was appointed presiding judge. There was strictest secrecy thruout the weeks when testimony was taken. Witnesses to Mother Cabrini's miracles were cross-examined by "devil's advocates."

Body Exhumed in Privacy.

When the hearings were completed, some of the members of the tribunal proceeded to West Park, N. Y., where Mother Cabrini had been buried. The body was exhumed in privacy and identified by witnesses. If any seeming state of miraculous state of preservation existed, this was added as corroborative evidence of her merit, altho not considered proof in itself of a miracle. The evidence then was sent to Rome for review by the congregation of the sacred rites.

Cardinal Mundelein appointed as judges of the tribunal the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne, the Rev. A. J. Murray, the Rev. Louis Gambastiani, and the Rev. Benjamin Franck. The devil's advocates were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George J. Casey, present vicar of the archdiocese, and the Rt. Rev. John Della Cioppa, who came from Rome for the hearing.

Review Begun in 1936.

The congregation of sacred rites began the review of testimony in June, 1936. A little more than two years later, the Chicago nun became the first American citizen to be numbered among the blessed in heaven. This was the second ceremonial step toward sainthood; the first being the title of Venerable, which had been bestowed by the congregation.

Cardinal Mundelein, who celebrated the beatification mass on Nov. 13, 1938, was also the first dignitary ever to broadcast from St. Peter's cathedral in Rome. This broadcast was a tribute to the nun who was then beatified. Henceforth, she would be known as Blessed Mother Cabrini.

Cardinal Mundelein was said to have been the first prelate ever to have celebrated masses for both the burial and beatification of a person. Centuries sometimes pass after death before processes toward canonization of a person are begun.

Reverent Joy at Hospital.

Reverent joy was expressed last night at Columbus hospital when it was learned final advancement of Mother Cabrini's cause was imminent. At Mother Cabrini Memorial hospital sisters asked not to be named or quoted.

One sister, however, said:

"I am very happy. I wanted to go to Rome for her canonization. But the war——"

UPHOLDS OPA'S SUSPENSION OF JOLIET OIL FIRM

Judge William H. Holly in federal District court yesterday denied the motion of the Joliet Oil company to enjoin the office of price administration from enforcing its order suspending the company from business for 30 days.

The motion, filed Oct. 27 by the company, charged the OPA had usurped judicial functions and was seeking to deprive the company of its property without due process of law, in violation of the constitution.

In his memorandum opinion, Judge Holly held that the OPA was within its rights in issuing the suspension order, adding that in war time the President has the right to regulate the flow of gasoline and to set up executive agencies for that purpose.

In ordering the suspension, the OPA accused the company of failure to account for coupons in the sale of gasoline.

BLENDED PRICE FOR MILK GOES UP FOUR CENTS

Milk producers supplying the Chicago area will receive a blended price of $3.24 per hundredweight [46.5 quarts] for milk delivered during November, it was announced yesterday by H. H. Erdmann, acting federal market administrator.

Commercial Users Hit; No Hardships Seen.

The midwest's gasoline quota for civilian use was slashed 34,000 barrels a day yesterday in the January-March period by the petroleum administration for war—the greatest reduction imposed on any section of the country.

The cut reduces the midwest's quota to 433,000 barrels daily.

Col. Bryan Houston, deputy administrator in charge of all rationing for the office of price administration, indicated A, B, and C coupon values would remain unchanged, but said the cut would come from gasoline allotted to farmers for off the highway use, and from truck, taxi, and other commercial users. These supplies are rationed under TT and R coupons. After Jan. 1 the TT coupons will be discontinued, to be replaced by T coupons.

Truck owners and drivers who fail to file applications immediately for new gasoline transport coupons will not receive their new tickets until after Jan. 1, OPA said.

No Hardship Seen.

The PAW said the reduced allocations reflect smaller seasonal requirements and should cause no hardship.

District 1, covering the east coast, was allowed 372,000 barrels a day, down 7,000 barrels. Allocations to the southwest were increased 1,000 barrels a day to 146,000 barrels; the Rocky mountain states took a 2,000 barrel slash to 32,000, and the Pacific coast region was cut to 134,000 barrels a day, down 1,000 barrels.

Col. Houston is on a nation-wide field trip in connection with a plan to decentralize rationing, placing greater responsibility with local boards.

"Can't Ration Plenty."

He said he opposed any horizontal reduction in the value of gasoline coupons.

Rationing will continue, he said, until the supplies of the commodities affected reach 75 or 80 per cent of normal.

"When there are enough goods, rationing is administratively impossible," he said. "You can't ration plenty."

Spot surveys, he said, have disclosed 90 per cent of the people believe that rationing of shoes and fuel oil is justified, but only 59 per cent believe gasoline rationing is necessary.

"That is a dangerously low figure," he observed. "If it should go below 50 per cent, we won't have any gasoline rationing."

Keep Within Quota.

Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, said in Washington that, with the exception of August and September, midwestern motorists have kept within their gasoline quota, while west coast motorists used 15 per cent more than their allotment and east coast drivers 5 per cent more.

Discussing price ceilings, he said there will be no retreat from the OPA's decision to fix dollars and cents prices on as many retail goods as possible.

John F. Manierre Gets a New Position in OPA

John F. Manierre, regional enforcement attorney of the office of price administration, yesterday was named acting enforcement executive. He will take over temporarily the duties of Alex Elson, acting regional administrator.

MILL IN FLORIDA PUMPS 500 TIRES INTO SEA DAILY

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fernandina, Fla., Dec. 16.—Raw material for approximately 500 automobile tires a day is being pumped into the ocean as sewage from the Rayonier, Inc., wood pulp mill here. N. B. Gibbs, manager, this afternoon looked at Trib-buna tires from the same raw material—from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Canadian wood pulp mills—and said his corporation would be happy to coöperate with any chemical firm that would undertake to process the waste material.

"Your tires look better than the natural rubber on my car with about the same amount of mileage," said Gibbs, after inspecting the rear tires of The Chicago Tribune tire test car which have traveled 16,500 miles. "Rayonier will do anything it can to help the synthetic rubber program, but it would take an alcohol or a chemical company to process our waste. Rayonier makes wood pulp—it's the largest wood pulp manufacturer in America—but it hasn't the talent or the experience to recover alcohol from its waste sulphite liquor."

Increase Testing Speed.

The Trib-buna rubber consists mainly of butadiene converted from alcohol salvaged from waste sulphite liquor, the sewage from THE TRIBUNE'S wood pulp mills. More mileage is being added to the tires, at 65 miles an hour, at the request of Rubber Director Bradley Dewey.

"I believe Rayonier would be glad to furnish its waste sulphite liquor free to any company that might build a processing plant here," said Gibbs. "The same statement would apply to the corporation's wood pulp mills at Shelton, Wash. At both places, the liquor is a nuisance by-product.

"Here the sulphite liquor is pumped into the Atlantic, a mile offshore from the low tide mark, two and a half miles from the pulp mill. At Shelton, the sulphite liquor is dumped into Puget sound."

The wood pulp manufacture uses only a fourth of the weight of the logs it consumes. Half the weight is water. A quarter is cellulose, the material used for newsprint at THE TRIBUNE'S mills, and for a rayon stock at Rayonier here. The other quarter is a natural cement called lignin which is washed into the sewers with a dilute sulphurous solution, called sulphite liquor.

Contains Natural Sugars.

The liquor contains sugars natural in the wood. In the process pioneered in the western hemisphere at THE TRIBUNE'S mills, this sugar is fermented and distilled for alcohol required for synthetic rubber.

"It looks like an opportunity for some one with experience in sulphite liquor processing," said Gibbs. "Our business is making wood pulp."

In Washington, D. C., the war production board is seeking new supplies of alcohol for synthetic rubber. The synthetics now are being made mainly from petroleum or from alcohol distilled from grains.

CEILING PRICES OF COAL HIGHER ON NORTH SHORE

Ceiling coal prices on the north shore, from Wilmette to the Lake county line, will run 25 to 50 cents a ton higher than in other parts of Cook county when flat schedules of prices are put into effect Monday, the office of price administration said yesterday.

Charles Wilcox, coal rationing executive, said freight rates to the north shore are higher than to the rest of the county, and hauling costs also are higher there.

Anthracite users in Evanston, he said, also will pay slightly more than users of hard coal in Chricago and the south and west suburbs.

OFFICE THIEF MISSES $900.

Fifteen dollars was taken from the safe at the Crown Life Insurance company, 203 North Wabash avenue, Miss L. H. Quimby, 900 Rush street, the office manager, reported to Central police yesterday. The thief overlooked $900 in a concealed compartment, she said.

MONTREAL AFL GROUP ENDS 'NO STRIKE' PLEDGE

City Parley with Clerks Agreed Upon.

of the "Industrial" union, this French Canadian, who formerly was a chauffeur for the local street car company, is listed only an organizer. He beamed when he agreed with a subordinate's statement that "when they don't know what union they're talking about they just say it's a Marquette union.'"

Met CIO Chief.

Marquette admitted that he had met Phil Murray, president of the CIO, "once." The meeting took place in Ottawa, where the CCL has national headquarters.

Marquette admitted there are no limits to which the CCL would not go in organizing unions thruout the country, asserting that he would organize "any group of workers." Observers are of the opinion that Ontario will be the next province on Marquette's list.

His choice of the province of Quebec and the city of Montreal as the testing ground for his labor dictatorship was not accidental. Quebec is one of the two most highly industrialized provinces in the dominion. Montreal is not only the largest city in Quebec but in the whole dominion as well and it is in the unfortunate position of being governed completely by dominion officials rather than local officials, a situation which resulted from the city defaulting on its bonds.

Under statutory law, the provincial government takes over when a municipality defaults on its bonds. Responsibility for the government of Montreal was delegated by the province of Quebec to the Quebec municipal commission, which sent its representatives here to sit in the city hall.

Mayor's Hands Tied.

Adhemar Raynault is the duly elected mayor, but he can do nothing without the consent of the Quebec municipal commission's representatives. The hands of the Fascist-like 99-member city council are similiarly bound. The council is the first step toward corporate government. One-third of its members are elected by property owners, one-third by tenants, and the other third by various public bodies such as the board of trade, the French board of trade, charities, and similar organizations.

But with provincial authorities assuming control over the local government, additional trouble has fallen on the city. The strike of city employes ostensibly was to force recognition of the CCL as the sole bargaining agent for them. Provincial officials have not been able to agree on a labor policy, but Leon Casgrain, the attorney general, said flatly that policemen should not join unions. That Parent, representative at Montreal city hall of L. E. Potvin, chairman of the province's municipal commission, capitulated to the strikers is accepted as proof that Casgrain has lost in his opposition stand.

Observers are agreed that more serious trouble is coming, possibly within a few days.

Strike Incenses Taxpayers.

Montreal citizens, whose local taxes are among the highest in the nation, are incensed because the 14 hour strike left this city of 819,000 almost entirely without police and fire protection. Some volunteer firemen were said to be standing by at hospitals and similar institutions for emergencies, and a handful of provincial police and Royal Canadian mounted police were on hand to spread a thin patrol over the city. Only small fires were reported during the strike. The calls were answered by officers of the firemen. Altho the union maintained that everything was peaceful, one reporter observed men approach a fire hydrant which was turned on to fight a blaze and shut it off with the wrench used for that purpose. They fled, taking the wrench with them. A reporter received several threatening telephone calls after his account of the event was published.

HUNT SOLDIER'S 'MOM' TO CARRY OUT LAST WISH

A gold ring taken from the finger of an army paratrooper as he lay dying in Italy is waiting to be claimed by the Chicago mother who gave it to her son last April, shortly before he left for overseas. The ring, now in the possession of Mrs. Myrtle Currier, Belmont, N. C., is described in a letter received yesterday by the missing persons bureau of the police department. Mrs. Currier writes that she was given the ring, which is inscribed "Mom to Gerry, 4-17-'43," by a soldier who took it from the finger of his buddy, Gerry Laurance of Chicago, with the promise that he would return it to Gerry's mother.

NEGRO BISHOP VISITS UNITS OF U. S. 5TH ARMY

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Dec. 15 (AP).—Bishop John A. Gregg of Kansas City, representing the federal council of Negro churches in America, visited Negro units along the 5th army front today.

"Only a few days ago I talked to your loved ones at home," Bishop Gregg said, "and I'm here to bring their love. They are proud of the record you have made in North Africa, Sicily, and here in the mountains of Italy."

HEAR MARSHALL WILL REMAIN AS CHIEF OF STAFF

BY HANSON BALDWIN.

[Copyright: 1943: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, probably will remain in Washington in that capacity and will not go to London as supreme Anglo-American commander in the European theater.

Gen. Marshall, one of the numerous American officers who attended the Cairo and Teheran conferences, generally was expected to be shifted to London shortly to take charge of the combined Anglo-American forces, who, according to London reports, are being mobilized and prepared in Britain for an invasion of western Europe.

The probable change of plan has come as a keen surprise to many here. The reasons for it are not known.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who at one time was slated to succeed Gen. Marshall as chief of staff, now is more likely to become supreme Anglo-American commander in the European theater, it is reported.

BLACK MARKETS STILL FLOURISH, ITALIANS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, on the Swiss-Italian border, Dec. 16.—"The uphill fight in Italy against the black market ended with the black marketeers' complete victory," said the Cremona newspaper Regime Fascista today. The situation was said to be so serious to most Italians that "they considered their food cards only a mere supplement and inadequate to provide for actual needs."

The anti-black market campaign was aimed to win over the lower classes, for whose support the new Fascists are making a strong bid, after having given up the middle classes as hopelessly hostile. But before any fight against the black market can win rations must return to normal, Regime Fascista said. The present monthly allowances per person are 5 ounces of butter, 13 ounces of meat, and about 2⅓ of oil.

There is no likelihood of increased rations before either production or stocks are improved.

One Plows Into Derailed Cars of Other.

Lumberton, N. C., Dec. 16 [Special].—Exhausted rescuers tonight announced a toll of at least 69 dead and more than 50 injured in the early morning wreck of two Atlantic Coast Line passenger streamliners crowded with homeward bound service men and other preholiday travelers.

For more than 24 hours after the wreck there was no announcement of the list of dead as military police guarded the scene, barred with machine guns the approach of newspaper men to a mortuary where bodies were being taken, and arrested a photographer who tried to take pictures.

An official of the railroad said 48 of the known dead were service men and other sources reported that a majority of the injured were in uniform.

Cold Hampers Rescuers.

Rescue efforts continued thruout the day with acetylene torches being required to cut away the twisted wreckage to reach the living and dead. Freezing temperatures, and 4 inch snow hampered the work.

The two fast trains were bound in opposite directions when they piled up at 1 a. m. in the hills near the little town of Buie, N. C.

Railroad officials blamed a broken rail for the accident. Three coaches of the Tamiami West Coast Champion were derailed and sprawled across the double track when it struck the break as it roared thru the night southbound from New York to Tampa, Fla.

Altho hastily lighted newspaper bonfires stopped two freight trains that approached the scene of the wreck, the makeshift flares had no effect on the Tamiami East Coast Champion, northbound from Miami to New York, which arrived 40 minutes after the first streamliner was derailed.

Fold Like an Accordion.

The northbound train plowed into the three derailed cars, smashing them into twisted wreckage. Witnesses said the cars of the oncoming train "leaped from the track and folded together like an accordion." Most of the dead were in the northbound train, of which six cars were derailed.

William Wood, publisher of the magazine Small Homes Guide, who was a passenger on the southbound train but was unhurt, said the scene was "like a bad dream." He told of the efforts he and Capt. P. W. Allen of the navy made to help the wounded and reach the dead.

"Bodies were mangled, rails twisted into hairpins and loops all over the place," he said. "It was like a bad dream, filled with screams in the dark and we couldn't see exactly what had happened. You could hear people shouting and crying in the freezing temperature."

Tells of Expectant Mother.

He told of an expectant mother, whose legs and thighs were crushed, crying: "I won't lose my baby, I won't lose my baby, God help me, I won't." A short time later a doctor examined her, gave her a sedative and told her that her baby would be born. "Thank God," she said.

Wood said another woman, crushed about the hips and legs, held a baby in her arms. Both were unconscious but finally the baby began to cry. The mother's eyes flickered open, she patted the baby, softly cooed to it a moment, then lapsed into unconsciousness.

Two Catholic priests, Father R. T. Rastatter and Father B. Smith, both of St. Mary's church in St. Petersburg, Fla., who were on the southbound train, said they administered last rites to about 30 injured passengers near death as they lay during the bitter cold in the wreckage.

5 Died in 15 Minutes.

"Some of them were pinned under the wreckage at the time," said Father Rastatter. "About five of them died within 15 minutes after we administered to them."

"The worst scene was near the front of the northbound train where one car was lying on the other and all but about eight people in the bottom car were pinned inside. They all appeared to be dead or seriously injured. One man and one woman had their heads severed. Two girls had each lost a leg."

The severity of the weather—it was 10 degrees above zero—added to the suffering, he said.

Communications Down.

Highways to the scene were sheathed in snow and ice which had stalled buses, and lines of communication were reported down impeding rescuers trying to reach the scene and in getting the injured to hospitals quickly.

The Red Cross rushed blood plasma to the receiving hospitals from Fort Bragg and the army air base at Maxton, N. C., and it was soon being administered to those most seriously hurt. Doctors and nurses, assembled from all surrounding communities, worked in relays in caring for victims.

Welfare and inquiry centers were set up in Lumberton and nearby Fayetteville. The Red Cross set up a canteen at the scene of the wreck and passed out coffee and doughnuts to workers.

None of Dead Identified.

The bodies of 50 of the dead, none identified, were taken to one mortuary at Red Springs, where it was said 21 were bodies of civilians.

It was at the Red Springs mortuary that military police were reported to have set up machine guns and to have barred all newspaper men. At the scene of the wreck, M. P.'s arrested Bill Belche, Fayetteville photographer assigned to get pictures of the wreck, which was being photographed by army air forces and signal corps men.

In Atlanta, Maj. Harold Tyler, public relations officer of the 4th service command, said the army had no jurisdiction. Meanwhile, the case was brought to the attention of the war department in Washington, which subsequently assured the Associated Press that it had instructed local authorities not to interfere.

Another Associated Press representative, Reporter Ralph L. Howland, later reported that military police kept him away from the Red Springs morgue, a machine gun being used to bar his way.

Army Equipment Aids Train Wreck Rescue Work

8 PERSONS HURT WHEN 'L' TRAIN AND CAR CRASH

All of Those Injured in Trolley.

Eight persons were injured, none seriously, last night in a collision of an elevated railroad train and a Kedzie avenue surface lines car on the surface crossing of lines between Eastwood and Leland avenues.

All the casualties were passengers in the street car, which was derailed and pushed against a watchman's shanty on the west side of the intersection. The train, an eastbound Englewood express, and the trolley, northbound, had stopped at the crossing immediately before the crash.

All the injured were taken to hospitals, but four later went home.

The more seriously injured were: Joseph De Paul, 45 years old, 1729 Granville avenue, a sprayer; Jack Krutt, 49, of 3059 Ainslie street, sheet metal worker; Albert Gordon, 51, of 4460 North Spaulding avenue, a clerk, and Herbert Crock, 28, of 5452 North Christiana avenue, postoffice clerk; Henry Elman, 33, of 5553 North Spaulding avenue, shoe store manager; Hyman Prizant, 51, of 4810 North Christiana avenue, theater manager; Nathan Stern, 38, of 4931 North Hamlin avenue, furniture dealer, and Thomas Griffin, 30, of 5249 Gladys avenue, street car conductor.

Capt. Frank Gill of the Albany Park station said his preliminary investigation showed that the motorman of the elevated train, Alfred Greenawalt, 43, of 6559 South May street, started his train before crossing gates had been lowered. The elevated train, running on the Ravenswood branch, crashed into the center of the street car.

Roy H. Decker, 46, of 1433 Belmont avenue, a substitute gateman employed by the Chicago Rapid Transit company, said he was awaiting a signal from Richard Tyrrell, 50, of 2152 Warren boulevard, a crossing flagman, to lower the gates when the collision occurred.

Tyrrell said the street car started into the intersection before he could whistle to the gateman to lower the gates.

U. S. FACES EVILS OF PROHIBITION, SAYS DRISCOLL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16. [Special].—Alfred E. Driscoll, New Jersey state commissioner of alcoholic beverage control, today told a senate judiciary subcommittee which is investigating liquor supplies that the country is facing "de facto prohibition and its attending lawless conditions." He blamed existing enforcement systems more than actual scarcity of whisky.

"All of the symptoms," he said, "are present, increasing bootlegging and high-jacking and signs that when legal liquor becomes scarcer there will be something to take its place. The pressure is increasing steadily and will continue unless a mobilizing of public opinion causes the coördination of all enforcement agencies.

He said that if the present tax of $6 a gallon on liquor is increased to $9, as proposed in the pending revenue bill, it would constitute a further invitation to bootlegging.

For Sale in Britain: 14,000 U. S. Radio Sets

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Britons soon will have a chance to get new radio sets, it was announced today by Capt. Waterhouse, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade. About 70,000 radios of British manufacture are getting their finishing touches and 14,000 American sets recently arrived.

FALSE ANSWERS IN WPA DEAL LAID TO LA GUARDIA

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia signed an application for federal funds to build a summer camp for welfare workers that contained false statements and withheld information, the city council probing the mayor's administration of city affairs charged today.

The report, the second of a series prepared by the committee, charged that the mayor, acting for the city, certified that the Sanita Hills project at Holmes, N. Y., was a public project altho neither the honor welfare fund of the sanitation department or the city at that time held title to the property. The report said the WPA spent $345,310 on the project, including $110,000 for converting old elevated railway cars that later were taken to Sanita Hills and set up as camp bungalows.

The converted cars deal was described in the report as a conversion of city property. The report contended the cars were turned over to the summer camp after more than $110,000 of WPA funds had been spent on them. The 94 cars thus used, it was charged, might have been sold to government agencies, as was done with 224 others, netting the city more than $100,000.

FARMER HURT IN FALL.

Ira Leroy Bontgages, 22 years old, a farmer near La Grange, Ind., suffered a fracture of the jaw and a concussion of the brain yesterday when he fell on the floor after he had been overcome by carbon monoxide gas in a garage at the rear of 832 East Pershing road.

HOPKINS STANDS AS MAJOR-DOMO IN PALACE GUARD

Senators Name Others in Front Ranks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Current heated senate debate on the New Deal today raised the question of the constituency of the White House palace guard.

The question was posed to the senators who have been hurling insults at one another and taking umbrage all over the floor of the senate over the New Deal.

All agreed that Harry Hopkins, special adviser to President Roosevelt; Felix Frankfurter, associate justice of the Supreme court; Samuel I. Rosenman, former New York state judge, and David K. Niles, White House administrative assistant, are the pillars of the palace guard.

Casual votes were registered for James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director and former Supreme court justice and senator; Robert Sherwood, author of "Idiot's Delight" and White House ghost writer; Anna Rosenberg, New York labor expert, and James M. Barnes, lame duck congressman from Jacksonville, Ill., now a White House assistant with a passion for anonymity.

Takes a New House.

Hopkins is the acknowledged commander of the palace guard. The former social worker is the No. 1 intimate of the President. There is some speculation as to whether Hopkins can hold the post of favorite now that he has taken a house in Georgetown.

For years he has lived in the White House. He constantly was at the President's elbow in the executive mansion and at conferences abroad. Now that he is moving, reportedly because of friction between Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Hopkins, the former Louise Macy, it is believed his influence will lessen.

The chief of staff of the palace guard is Justice Frankfurter, former professor of law at Harvard university. In some quarters Frankfurter is regarded as the most powerful man in Washington. Former pupils of his law classes hold the majority of important legal posts in the capital and he is credited with placing Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and other high officials and even military leaders in their present posts.

His Personal Attorney.

It is generally recognized that Frankfurter plots the New Deal campaigns from boondoggling to war. He would prefer to remain behind the scenes, but is not averse to being known as the brains of the New Deal.

Rosenman was Mr. Roosevelt's personal attorney when Roosevelt was governor of New York. He was found to have a certain facility of phrase and was retained as a writer of speeches and compiler of personal records after going on to the New York Supreme court. Recently he left his $25,000 a year job on the bench for $10,000 a year here to be closer to the President and the attainment of his great ambition—a seat on the Supreme court bench.

Niles is the hatchet man of the palace guard. The chubby Boston fellow traveler is credited with having negotiated the $600,000 loan the United Mine Workers advanced for the 1936 Roosevelt campaign.

HOUSE REJECTS PLAN TO RETURN SURPLUS FUNDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—A senate approved measure designed to abolish control over surplus war billions by executive agencies and return the purse strings to congress was rejected by the house today in a surprise action, taken without floor debate.

The measure was snowed under on a roll call vote, 283-18, after Rep. Clarence Cannon [R., Mo.], chairman of the house appropriation committee, made a motion to defeat it. The proviso was included as a proposed amendment to a 308 million dollar deficiency bill on which the senate and house are in disagreement.

After the house adjourned, Cannon and Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, issued statements contending the senate measure, instead of saving billions of dollars, would in their opinion, actually cost additional billions.

The measure now goes to the senate, from where the entire bill is expected to go to a conference committee.

6 FOOT 3, AGE 125 —HE IS PERFECT MAN OF FUTURE

Dr. James Shelby Thomas, technologist, has looked into the future and discovered, among other things, that everybody may be perfect within 100 years. That's what he told the Chicago section of the American Chemical society last night at the Medinah club.

The "perfect man," Dr. Thomas said, will be 6 feet 3 inches tall, will never grow gray nor fat, and will live to be 125 years old. He will owe his development to tremendous strides about to be taken in the medical, chemical, and dietary sciences, and in the fields of good living.

Dr. Thomas, who is past president of the Clarkson College of Technology and the Chrysler Institute of Engineering, and a former University of Chicago economist, also predicted that soon after the current war is over there will be millions of new houses that cost only $1,600 and contain dozens of new developments.

Noise Outside; Music Inside.

These developments, Dr. Thomas added, eventually may include unbreakable glass plumbing; filters that transform noises from outside into music inside; refrigerators that have everything, including murals, and a living room that can be redecorated completely by pressing a button.

"Thanks to the genius of applied science," Dr. Thomas added, "a myriad of new comforts and conveniences for the home and amazing equipment for farm and factory will be developed from research for the war."

But he warned that the planning of these things must be started by business, "small business" particularly, because "business men are the creative planners and the creators of the real wealth of America." Already, he said, every New Deal bureau has its plan "to spend untold riches for a 'bright new world' when the war ends."

Creating Wealth a Problem.

"It is high time," Dr. Thomas added, "that some consideration be given to how we are going to create the wealth to spend. We must look to the scientists to give us the findings; engineers and inventors to give us the tools, and business management to provide the necessary organization for what ever newness there is to be after the war."

He predicted that, no matter what happens, a severe economic jolt will follow the war, and urged that business lay its plans quickly to combat it. He asserted that the current excess profits tax was too high to permit business to change over from war to peace as easily as many persons expect.

U. S. ARMY SENDS SOLDIERS TO AID BRITISH IN MINES

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 16 (AP).—The United States army has agreed to assign a number of soldiers familiar with American mechanical loading equipment to teach Britons how to boost their coal stock.

Mechanization of underground mines will largely increase the output. The manager of one mine estimated his mine would be able to produce 27,200 pounds per man per week, compared with the 8,000 pounds now dug by hand. Only a few pieces of American machinery are working in the mines in this country at present, but the government hopes to obtain $4,800,000 worth of equipment from the United States in 1944.

Hopkins' Property

New electric refrigerator, still in crate, stands in Washington, D. C., home of Harry Hopkins, chief adviser to President Roosevelt. Hopkins' priority for the appliance was topic of speech in congress by Rep. Alvin F. Weichel (R., O.), who complained an Ohio hospital was refused an electric refrigerator and told to get an ice box.

STRIKE IN FIVE PLANTS PUT UP TO WHITE HOUSE

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 16 [Special].—A strike at five Western Electric company plants in the Baltimore area, called Monday to enforce demands for separate sanitary facilities for whites and Negroes, was referred to the White House today by the war labor board. A WLB spokesman said the army probably will move in if the government seizes the plants, because the company's principal production is for the army.

The strike was called first at the plant in near-by Point Breeze by an independent union. The action was denounced by both AFL and CIO unions and another independent group of employes.

The AFL International Association of Machinists charged the strike was inspired by the company to "avoid bargaining with a legitimate union," and demanded police protection for employes who want to work.

GAIN IN COUNTY MEMBERS TOLD BY FARM BUREAU

Membership in the Cook County Farm bureau has soared to a record total of 2,900, it was reported yesterday at the bureau's annual meeting in Hotel Sherman. Among the members, 1,853 are coöperating with the agricultural adjustment administration program, officials declared.

A report on 4-H club activity revealed that 245 members had produced 307 head of cattle, raised 30 acres of crops and vegetables, and 3,695 head of poultry.

The bureau, under the presidency of Jacob Ouwenga, reported an income for the year of $5,488.85 above all expenses.

REDS CRUSH NAZI TANK PHALANX ALONG KIEV LINE

Seize Towns; Score New Gains on 2 Other Fronts.

LONDON, Dec. 17 [Friday] (AP).—Soviet Ukrainian forces rolled back massed German tank formations and seized more towns for the second straight day yesterday in the battle of the Kiev bulge, Moscow announced today, while German reports said White Russia to the north was aflame with at least three soviet drives.

Moscow's midnight war bulletin said the Red forces had broken up a German attack on a water barrier, perhaps the Teterev river about 55 miles west of Kiev, and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy, including 800 killed.

To the south, in the twin Russian drives on the Dnieper bend rail towns of Smela and Kirovograd, soviet forces killed 900 Germans, battered down German counterattacks, and captured several hamlets, the war bulletin said.

The Germans, who already had reported two soviet offensives in White Russia, told of a third, near Mogilev, 90 miles southwest of Smolensk.

Sites of Reported Drives.

The three assaults were said by Berlin to be:

1. South of Nevel, where for the third day about 60,000 soviet troops lashed out in an area 70 miles from Latvia. Berlin reports told of heavy fighting there as the Russians attacked with "superior forces."

2. West of Krichev, near Mogilev, where the latest Russian attack was reported aiming at the Dnieper, spearheaded by flame-throwing tanks. "Some dents" in the German lines were acknowledged altho Berlin said these were "sealed off."

3. Southwest of the rail junction of Zhlobin, northwest of Gomel, where about 100,000 Red troops struck for the third day with heavy air support. The Germans said the Russians failed to achieve a breakthru.

Reds Silent on Attacks.

No word of any of these three battles came from the Russians, who apparently awaited important victories before making claims, their usual procedure.

In the Kiev bulge, where the fighting centered south of Malin and northwest of Radomysl, about 55 miles west of Kiev, the Russians appeared to have broken the back of another Nazi tank sally.

Berlin said the fighting here was "approaching a climax," altho the Germans have pushed beyond Radomysl toward Kiev.

To the south, Moscow reports said, Russian vanguards have reached the outskirts of the communications hub of Smela as they filtered down from captured Cherkasi.

Germany's war bulletin said Nazi troops in the Kirovograd area "took several localities by storm" in continued counter-attacks. It also claimed Russian blows were repulsed on the Kherson bridgehead at the mouth of the Dnieper.

BRITAIN REJECTS SPAIN'S STAND IN CONSULATE RAID

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP). — Britain has refused to accept Spain's disclaimer of responsibility for the incident in which men wearing Falangist uniforms broke into the home of the British vice consul at Saragossa on Nov. 19, commons was told today.

George Hall, foreign office parliamentary secretary, disclosed that Spain in apologizing recently for the intrusion said the government could not be responsible for the actions of party members.

"The ambassador has been instructed to reply that his majesty's government cannot accept the disclaimer of responsibility, or accept the view that the Spanish government is not responsible for the protection of the British vice consulate against ruffians wearing the uniform of the official party," Hall said.

Fascist Force Reported Shifted from No. Italy

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 16 (AP).—Reports from northern Italy today said the Fascist Littorio division, which has been stationed at Verona for several weeks under German officers, had suddenly been ordered to depart for an undisclosed destination. There were rumors that the troops were being sent to Germany for use as laborers in pursuance of German plans to strip northern Italy of its man power.

BERLIN POUNDED FOR 5TH TIME IN MONTH BY R. A. F.

LONDON, Dec. 17 [Friday]—(AP).—The British announced early today that R. A. F. bombers blasted Berlin last night for the fifth major attack on the German capital in less than a month following a strong American heavy bomber raid against Germany's northwest corner.

The air ministry announcement came after the Berlin radio reported R. A. F. bombers struck at the German capital in a "terror attack on a considerable scale."

Until last night the R. A. F.'s biggest bombers had been idle since Dec. 3, when they attacked Leipzig.

First advices indicated the latest raid was not so heavy as the November attacks, in one of which more than 2,300 tons of bombs devastated the center of Berlin. The last major raid on Berlin was the night of Dec. 2.

Yanks Bag 18 Nazi Planes.

Heavily escorted Flying Fortresses and Liberators plunged thru a circular wall of anti-aircraft fire to reach their targets and shot down 16 Nazi fighters of the few which dared to challenge them thru the rough weather, while two more Nazis were bagged by the fighter escort of Thunderbolts and Lightnings. Eleven United States bombers and one escort plane were lost from the mission over a strategic area dotted with Nazi submarine and shipbuilding yards.

At one English base—where the hours of daylight are nearing the shortest of the year—returning bombers gave the control staff a tough job by stacking up overhead for an hour and a half before the last of the group was safely aground.

The bombers dropped slowly out of the half darkness to settle along flare paths with their landing lights on to warn others to stay away.

Fifth Big U. S. Raid of Month.

The American blow at northwest Germany was the fifth major United States operation of the month, daylight weather in December having proved better for flying than the night hours in which the British formations attack. The R. A. F. prior to today had made only two raids this month.

THIEF PREVENTS COYOTE HUNT.

Clarence E. Styles of 940 Lakeside place reported to the police last night that a thief spoiled his projected coyote hunting trip in North Dakota, when he stole a suitcase containing his rifle, cartridges, and a camera while he was buying a ticket in the North Western railroad station.

LOSS OF 17 SHIPS AT BARI LAID TO TACTICS OF R.A.F.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Lack of adequate aerial defenses, especially fighter planes, around the supply port of Bari, Italy, was revealed today to have cost the allies 17 cargo ships and 1,000 casualties two weeks ago. Five of the ships were American.

The anchored vessels were blown up by a handful of German bombers which made a low level attack on the Adriatic harbor at dawn Dec. 2. Among the approximately 1,000 persons killed or injured were 37 American naval men.

If there were any losses to the 30 odd enemy planes which attacked the group of 30 ships they could not be determined here. Information on the defeat, including details released by Secretary of War Stimson, dealt only with allied losses.

Protection Up to British.

This gave rise to the unconfirmed assumption that the raiders probably escaped scot free after catching such defenses as Bari boasted by surprise.

Aerial tacticians familiar with American operations in the southwest Pacific and Europe said there is no way to guard completely against low level raids against which defenses have not been alerted.

However, one of the harbor's weaknesses was its lack of fighter plane protection and it is doubtful whether any fighter squadrons were in the air over the vital area that morning. Britain's royal air force is responsible in that sector, which is a supply area for the 8th army, and is understood to operate on the principle that fighter strength should be concentrated in the fighting zone rather than devoted to guarding rear areas.

Heavy Raids on Allied Ports.

This principle generally has been successful because of weakening German air power in the Italian battle zone, which made such raids unlikely to succeed.

Bari was a different story, however, and Stimson said:

"While we have definite air superiority in southern Italy and in most of the Mediterranean, the Germans have appreciably increased their air strength in this area. Sharp fighter resistance has been encountered at times, and some heavy bomber attacks have been made on allied ports and shipping."

While no one undertook to regard the Bari raid as anything less than an outstanding success for German aviation, Stimson said that "most of the cargo had been discharged prior to the attack, and the loss of supplies was not great."

Biggest Loss in a Harbor.

As far as announced reports go, Bari was the greatest single loss of merchant shipping the allies have suffered within a protected harbor.

Details of the Bari raid were slow getting to the public. A German war report Dec. 5 claimed the sinking of four commercial vessels and hits on nine other freighters and a "medium warship." The Germans said they lost two planes on the raid.

Stimson said the Bari bombing had been announced by Gen. Eisenhower on Dec. 4. However, the Eisenhower war bulletin of that date conveyed little information, simply saying: "On the evening of Dec. 2, enemy aircraft attacked the Bari region and damage was done. There were a number of casualties."

Tribune War Correspondent Is Home

On Vacation

Seymour Korman, Tribune foreign correspondent, returned to Chicago yesterday for a three week vacation after 16 months in England, Tunisia, Sicily, and Italy.

Next to the sight of his wife, Mary, and his 21 month old daughter, Joan, whom he had not seen since infancy, the thing that delighted him most was the spectacle of a lighted city. As he sped north along Michigan avenue from Central station to the Tribune Tower he exclaimed over the beauty of the street lights and the gleaming store windows.

"You don't know what this means to me," he said, "after all those blacked out towns." When he was asked how Chicago looked to him, he replied, "Gorgeous."

TWO WOMEN DIE OF BURNS.

WAR ENTERING CRUCIAL STAGE, SAYS GEN. 'IKE'

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 16 (AP).—Gen. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief, in his first message to his troops since returning from the military conferences at Cairo, told them today that "the war is now entering into its crucial phase." The message follows:

"The last year has been a very hard one for us, but we have obtained very good results. The war is now entering into its crucial phase. I ask each soldier to do his duty to his utmost."

U. S. RAIDS TEAR UP NAZI LINES TO FORCES IN ITALY

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Dec. 16 (AP).—America's powerful new striking arm—the 15th strategic air force—tangled the slender railroad thread linking Germany and the 10th Nazi army in Italy with an "accurate and concentrated" attack yesterday on rail junctions in Austria and the Brenner pass.

More than 300 bombers and fighters hit railroad yards at the famous ski resort of Innsbruck in the Austrian Tyrol, 1,000 miles from targets they had attacked 24 hours previously at Athens, Greece.

Gain on Two Fronts.

Canadians and Indians of the 8th army, struggling forward from their bridgehead across the Moro river near the Adriatic coast, chopped the road between Ortona and Orsogna in three places and reached a good position to bring heavy pressure on the blazing port of Ortona, which the Nazis apparently had fired in anticipation of its evacuation.

The American and British 5th army pushed ahead in rough terrain and captured an important hill in the Castel San Vincenzo area six miles south of Alfedena.

Flying Fortresses made the raid on Innsbruck, 60 miles from Munich, laying strings of bombs across the key junction in the Italian-Austrian rail system leading into Germany.

Eighty miles south of Innsbruck at the Italian end of Brenner Pass, other Fortresses smashed the rail yards at Bolzano, while Liberators bombed a vital rail viaduct over the Avisio river near Trento, 20 miles south of Bolzano.

No Bombers Lost.

Not one bomber or escorting Lightning fighter was lost.

American Warhawks strafed the landing field near Zara, Jugo-Slavia, destroying seven aircraft on the ground, and American Mitchells bombed an airfield at Mostar. R. A. F. bombers hit oil tanks on the Gulf of Kotor, southeast of Dubrovnik, and a troop encampment on Saseno, an island off Valone on the Albanian coast.

Four allied craft were missing from these operations and attacks along the front and on an airfield at Pontecorvo, near Italy's west coast 18 miles above Gaeta. Five German planes were shot down.

[Germany yesterday reported fighting for a height north of Mignano, on the 5th army front, which had been lost by the Nazis.]

First Italian Success.

AT ITALIAN HDQ. NEAR MIGNANO, Italy Dec. 16 (AP).—Italian troops today won their first success over the Germans in World War II in a joint attack with American forces on a mountain which formed a barrier to the allies moving into the Liri valley south of Cassino.

The Americans, who had fought their way across Mount Maggiore, attacked at dawn on the western and southwestern slopes and the Italians attacked at 9:30 a. m. from the southern slopes. The objective of the Italians was a hill on the eastern end of a hog back ridge sitting alongside the main road to Rome. The Italians reached their objective at 11:30 a. m.

People All Say They're in Love . . . with Our Windows

We've eavesdropped and heard your friendly remarks, and listened to your chuckles as you enjoyed our Christmas window of 1943. We've seen you stop and read every word about the Christmases of 1665, 1776, 1812, 1860, 1900, and 1914. But when we receive friendly letters from busy, busy people, we indulge in a bit of Christmasy pride.

One gracious lady wrote us, "If anyone asked me what one thing gave the most people pleasure this December, my answer would be your windows on State Street." And a busy executive overwhelmed us with his letter, saying, "I can candidly say your windows are the most beautiful I have seen in years. They have the real spirit of Christmas, so gay, so unusual."

Yes, people are in love with our windows. If you haven't seen them, please do, for they tell the story of Christmas through the years. You have until Christmas Day to enjoy them. Plan to come down soon, and bring the children.

TRIBUNE WRITER TELLS HOW U. S. INVADED ARAWE

Goes Ashore with Yanks in Dawn Attack.

into them. Finally we were picked up."

Men Remain Calm.

Some one asked Hughes whether there was much excitement during the brief carnage. He said the men behaved with exceeding calmness.

"I heard some shouting when it first began," he said. "I heard one corporal begging one of his men to shoot him. He got his wish finally. He drowned, altho we tried to hold his head out of the water.

"Anybody who got out of that, boy, God was on his side."

Pvt. Charles E. Bell, 24 years old, of Arkansas, also had memories of that terrible 20 minutes.

"Our boat was about to go under, so we had to leave. One boy sank once and I caught hold of him and tried to get his pack off. He went to fighting me. His gas mask container was over the pack and I never could get his pack off. When he started down again I grabbed him by the hair, but he pulled me under twice, so finally I had to let him drown and swim to another boat. Fourteen of us hung on the side with four men who couldn't swim and a wounded man on the inside. We were finally picked up."

Illinoisans in Battle.

Corp. Joe Veroni of Rockford, Ill., said one man in his boat got a hole thru his helmet but was not wounded. Another Illinoisan, Capt. Harold Halter, of Vienna, Ill., a press relations officer, also accompanied the unlucky rubber flotilla. Another witness said he saw one boat blown ten feet into the air and that the Jap shore guns kept firing until they were silenced by our naval gunfire.

While this miniature battle was burning itself out—its beginning and end marked by fiery tracers splitting the darkness—the incoming force circled in Higgins boats or began getting their alligators, buffaloes, or ducks, into position to head for the beach when the naval bombardment ended. Alligators are unarmored amphibious tanks; buffalos are armored amphibious tanks, and ducks are amphibious trucks.

Leaves Ship Before Dawn.

I left the transport a couple of hours before dawn, scrambling down the rope nets into a bobbing Higgins boat as did the other correspondents and the troops. We circled aimlessly a couple of miles off shore, uneasily sure the Japs could hear the noise of our engines and see the shapes of the accompanying destroyers.

The first intimation they knew of our presence, however, was tracer fire which began at 5:20 a. m. when the Japs opened up on the rubber boats. There was nothing we could do but sit, waiting our appointed time to move in. The sky became brighter at about 6 a. m. Fifteen minutes later the destroyers began shelling, the guns belching flame and then vari-colored tracer shells arching slowly, sometimes hitting the water and ricocheting high over the trees to stop against a 200 foot cliff which runs the length of the peninsula.

Explosive shells, meanwhile, crunched into the beach and the hillside, searching up and down the peninsula for the Japs.

Pall of Smoke Rises.

From where we cruised slowly off Pilelo Island we could see a smoke pall growing above the coconut plantation along the top of the peninsula. The glare from the destroyer guns, perhaps a mile away, was strong enough that it was reflected from the side of our landing craft.

Finally the bombardment ended and seven Mitchell medium bombers in rapid succession darted low along the peninsula, their guns spitting. Something near the beach about midway along the length of the peninsula interested them. They returned again and again and concentrated there. A small naval vessel also fired on the same spot, while an amphibious truck sent scores of shells to explode in the same vicinity.

At last the preliminaries were over and the alligators and buffaloes began moving into the channel between Pilelo Island and Cape Merkus which is the seaward tip of the peninsula. The Higgins boats fell in behind and we paraded slowly thru the channel to the harbor. The first troops reached the main landing point at the jetty at about 7:30 a. m. without opposition. An hour and a half later the Higgins boat in which I rode with Myron Davis, a photographer of 5632 Kimbark avenue, Chicago, and troops was approaching the beach when some one said: "Boy, those planes are really high."

One suddenly peeled off and began streaking down toward the sea in an almost vertical dive. The next moment the rest followed. Then the anti-aircraft guns of the destroyers and the machine guns of the small landing craft ashore began hammering all at once as the Jap planes pulled out of their dives, their bombs continuing toward the harbor to plunge at terrific speed.

The planes skimmed low over the harbor, strafing as they came. The bombs struck the water sending huge geysers into the air. Davis and I still stood in the Higgins boat which now was within 10 feet of shore with its ramp down. We were the only two left on board, with the exception of two lads behind our tiny .30 caliber machine guns, who still were sending bullets at the oncoming planes.

Four or five came straight at us, but veered to each side and then turned down the beach, strafing the coconut trees among which most of our troops were sheltered. Somehow the shore line itself seemed to be a neutral zone.

Raid Lasts Four Minutes.

I saw one enemy plane smoking badly as it fled to sea and another tipped frantically from side to side in an effort to avoid the anti-aircraft fire which seemed to be pouring into his fuselage.

The raid seemed long, but it actually lasted perhaps four minutes. When the Japs had gone, the harbor seemed the same except for a small Higgins boat that had been driven on the reef and a slightly larger landing craft that was damaged but in shallow water. The men ashore, most of whom were having their first taste of strafing, took shelter behind coconut trees or in bomb craters, souvenirs of yesterday's raid by our planes.

Writer Wades Ashore.

Davis and I jumped in and waded ashore in knee deep water. We found the medics directed by Capt. Bruce Canfield of Rockford, Ill., already tending the wounded survivors of the pre-dawn landing attempt. The strafing attack caused surprisingly little damage and exceedingly few casualties.

There was little evidence of Jap occupation in strength. The ruins of a two story shack held packing boxes and a few utensils lay about. In a dugout behind the house was a burning ration pile. I was told that a second house farther down the beach also had Jap equipment.

Our troops were already digging foxholes in expectation of a second attack. Buffaloes and alligators were pushing down along the peninsula. Brig. Gen. Julian W. Cunningham of San Antonio, Tex., was conferring with officers. By 10 a. m. we were told our troops were two miles down the peninsula beyond the landing point and had killed only four Japs in that advance.

Men who landed on Pelelo Island, also using rubber boats, killed a handful of Japs and captured a radio station. They used high explosives to wipe out seven enemy soldiers who retreated into a cave there.

Leaves Scene of Action.

Tom Shafer, Acme News Picture photographer of Chicago, who also was on the mission, and I were not among the correspondents whose assignments permitted remaining ashore. We pulled out aboard a naval craft which had accounted for one of the two Jap planes shot down.

As we left late in the afternoon carrying a number of wounded, most of them survivors of the rubber boat debacle, we could see a couple of our small craft, which were nosing along the shore of the peninsula, suddenly exchange shots with the shore. Then there were explosions at a distant point as our artillery, which had been rushed into position, began registering.

Among those aboard the small ship which took us from New Britain were Seaman 1st Class Johnny Schoneheit, 19, of Indianapolis, Ind., a former Chicagoan, and Pharmacist's Mate 1st Class Vernon Ingrum, 19, of Newman, Ill., who has three brothers in the navy and two others in the army.

The successful New Britain landing means a tightening of the pincers to squeeze the Japs from Rabaul, the important base they have held since January, 1942. The right claw of the pincers rests at Augusta Bay on Bougainville Island. The left now jumps from New Guinea to New Britain itself.

Chicagoland Yanks at Arawe

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OFF ARAWE, New Britain, Dec. 15 [Delayed].—Yanks from coast to coast are aboard this ship preparing to participate in the first American landing on Japanese held New Britain Island.

Our ship is the only Australian unit taking part in the actual landing and the members of her crew are proud of the honor of being aboard the first Australian transport to be used in such an American operation. Aside from her this is an All-American show.

Some of the American soldiers are obviously not ruffled by the approach of their first combat. In the comparative coolness of the decks they have been cleaning their guns, sleeping, reading, or playing cards.

Gen. Krueger, Invasion Chief, Joined Army as Private in '98

Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger, who led the American 6th army's assault on Arawe, New Britain Island, on Wednesday, is a soldier's soldier who has concentrated his life on the army.

A few months before the United States entered World War II., when the nation was arguing over the justice of keeping draftees in the army beyond the year of service for which they were inducted, he refused to express an opinion, saying simply that he was "not a statesman, but a professional soldier."

Warns Troops from Plane.

During army maneuvers in Louisiana in 1941, when he saw his troops, thru holding tightly to the highways, were creating traffic jams and dangerously exposing themselves to strafing, he deserted headquarters to fly in a plane above his soldiers and warn them thru a megaphone to "break it up" and seek cover.

During other army maneuvers, after drilling in the Arizona desert heat with his men all day, he sacrificed his opportunity to sleep in order to roam thru the exhausted encampment at night and test his sentries.

"Some sentries failed to challenge me," he reported the next day. "They didn't know me from Adam's off ox. Any one could have pinned a few stars on his shoulders and done the same as I did."

Born in Flatow, Germany, in 1881, Krueger came to the United States with his parents as a child. He was educated in the public schools of Cincinnati, O.

Joined Army in 1898.

The general has come up in the army the hard way. At the beginning of the Spanish-American war in 1898, he enlisted as a private. In that war he saw service in Cuba and subsequently was sent to the Philippines during the insurrection there and to the Mexican border in 1916. In 1917-'18 he was with the American expeditionary force in France and moved up steadily in the ranks until he became chief of staff of the AEF's tiny tank corps in 1918.

He was sent to Australia last February to take command of the 6th army.

BULLETS, BOMBS AND SHARK PERIL INVASION WRITER

Hurled Into Sea as Japs Trap First Troops.

BY ROBERT EUNSON.

WITH THE AMERICAN 6TH ARMY AT ARAWE, New Britain, Dec. 16 (AP).—We were 35 yards from shore when the Japanese opened up.

There was a jabbering in Japanese and then red tracer bullets popped at our rubber boat sfrom each side — thousands of firecrakers coming our way in streams.

Corp. Homer C. Jenest, Wrentham, Mass., crouched in the prow of our boat, tommy gun in his hands. When the Japanese started firing, he emptied his gun and then jumped overboard.

A Jap cannon, 37 mm., opened up from the bank and pumped eight shots at us. The shells were white and they slammed into one boat, blowing it 15 feet into the air. I ducked under our boat and held my breath.

Others did the same.

When I couldn't hold my breath any longer, I came up and gasped for air, realizing my glasses and helmet were gone.

Wounded in Boat.

We called to Corp. Roy C. Jackson, Dallas, who swung his boat our way.

When we combined our two loads, there were 17 altogether. We put the wounded men in the boat and the rest of us swam alongside.

A little doctor named Wickard swam up to our boat and gave morphine to the wounded men. He was a little slight man, with blond hair and a boyish face. He kept swimming from boat to boat, caring for wounded men.

A destroyer came in close and lobbed several shells overhead right into Japanese gun positions behind us. They socked into the hillside and we all cheered like mad.

Like Fourth of July.

Then the naval bombardment started.

It was like the biggest Fourth of July you ever saw. The ships began firing behind Pilelo Island and water and earth trembled as their shells crashed all along the peninsula.

We took advantage of this spell to swim and push a raft farther and farther out.

Now naked, I could swim better and Jackson was the kind of leader you wanted to work for. He worked his way around the boat, plugging up bullet holes with wooden screws.

Somebody spotted a shark, but it never bothered us.

Finally, after three hours in the water, a small ship came our way. Jackson said, "That's the most beautiful sight I ever saw in my life."

Captain an Illinoisan.

They threw us a line and we pulled our boat alongside.

The captain, Harold Halter of Vienna, Ill., came up. He is the press relations officer at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters and he had gone in with us. He told me the names of several of his good friends who were dead.

The roar of dive bombers filled the air and we all hit the deck. After a while our anti-aircraft fire in the harbor chased the Japanese planes away.

Somebody said there were over 20 of the enemy planes.

At noon, I set foot on New Britain soil, the last correspondent to arrive. I had counted on being first.

Father Forsythe, our chaplain, is here now. He's going down on the beach to bury the wounded who died tonight.

Getting News of a Raid on Rabaul

9 More Ice Skating Rinks Opened by Park District

Ice skating rinks were opened yesterday in nine more parks, George J. Ehmann, landscape maintenance supervisor of the Chicago park district, announced. Thirty-six were opened previously. On the south side, new rinks are in Calumet park, Hardin square, and Madden park; on the southwest side, at Cornell square, and on the north side, in Brands, Chase, Hamlin, Paul Revere, and Wells parks. None of the park lagoons is open for skating yet, Ehmann said.

YANK ANALYZES ARAWE: CHEESE VS. MOUSE AFFAIR

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OFF ARAWE, New Britain, Dec. 16 [Delayed].—The story of the American attacks on Arawe has many sidelights. For instance, there is my favorite military analyst, a private from California, who has been thinking about the mission and has reached the following conclusion:

"The way I have it figured, we are the cheese in a gigantic mouse trap. And sometimes the mouse gets the cheese before they get the mouse."

It was a thought that had not occured to us. We are trying to forget it.

BRITISH SCHOOL BILL PROPOSES GREAT REFORMS

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—A measure described by Richard A. Butler, president of the board of education, as the most far-reaching educational reform in Britain's history, was introduced in commons today with quick approval almost certain.

The government sponsored measure provides for raising the age at which children may leave school from 14 to 15, complete reorganization of the elementary school system, heavier penalties for nonattendance—including jail terms for offending parents—and registration and inspection of all private schools.

INVASION DAWN THUNDERS DEATH ON ARAWE JAPS

BY DEAN SCHEDLER.

IN A LIBERATOR OVER NEW BRITAIN, Dec. 15—[Delayed] (AP).—We let down thru the overcast just a short distance from the New Britain coast line to await additional light when a gunner called over the interphone, "Tracers from shore to water off to left. Also large flashes from water directly ahead."

The battle for New Britain was on.

Riding in the command plane which was to observe the operations, I hurried from the floor to see red tracers streaming back and forth between the Japanese shore positions at Arawe and our naval screening force.

Scores of Craft Await Turn.

At 6:20 a. m. the haze let thru sufficient light to permit us to fly over the small group of islands surrounding Arawe. Our destroyers intensified their shelling.

About 1,000 feet below us, scores of small landing craft circled and maneuvered, awaiting their turn to move toward the shore while a destroyer hovered close by. The big ship looked like a mother duck nestling her brood under her wing. A few minutes before 7 a. m. the naval fire lifted and small landing craft started churning the water toward the beach.

Our command plane, piloted by Capt. Jack Kelly of Tucson, Ariz., stayed over the landing area for two hours. A few miles back Mitchell medium bombers circled, awaiting a call for any target of opportunity on shore. Above the clouds altho unseen by the invasion troops, Lightning and Thunderbolt fighter planes hovered ready to intercept enemy planes.

At 7:10 a. m. the Mitchells came in low over the water, strafing the plantation and bombing.

On New Britain's Soil.

Lt. Col. Earl Field of Coffeyville, Kas., liaison officer from the 5th air force who spent months with the staffs planning the invasion, turned to grab my arm and point to a small jetty where the first alligator [amphibious tank] was slowly crawling to shore. It was exactly 7:24 and American troops were on the Japanese soil of New Britain.

At the foot of the peninsula we saw several rubber boats which were used by the first wave of assault troops. Altho we were speeding fast, I could see one man slumped in a raft and others containing bundles of equipment.

Cut deep into the jungle were paths from which the Japanese gunners had a clear range of fire against our craft. This was the only opposed landing observed from the air.

Just off the jetty was a small frame building which was the only structure not leveled. On one of our sweeps we saw a man running toward the interior, dressed in either white underwear or the uniform of Japanese marines.

Sees Later Landings.

The second element of our troops landed at 7:36 a. m. and deployed behind the first party. Landing groups continued to move onto the beach at about 10 minute intervals.

Meanwhile, the protective screen of destroyers slowly maneuvered offshore.

Our observers, Lt. Col. Field and Lt. Col. Paul Weyrauch of Marfa, Tex., ground liaison officer, climbed onto the flight deck after two hours of circling and gave the pilot instructions to proceed to an island base north of New Guinea where Gen. MacArthur and Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the American 6th army, were waiting.

CHINESE FIGHT FOR 3 JAP STRONGHOLDS IN ENTRAPMENT MOVES

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 16 (AP).—Chinese troops battling to wipe out all Japanese in the rice bowl region south of the Lin river now are engaged in fierce struggles on the outskirts of Lihsien, Ansiang, and Nanhsien, the high command announced today.

If successful in recapturing these strongholds on the north side of Tungting lake, the Chinese would need to close a gap of only 40 miles to complete the encirclement of all remnants of the enemy forces retreating from Changteh, the high command said.

American "sky dragons" under Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault as well as China's own air force were coöperating in almost continuous bombing and strafing activities against the invaders in that area, as well as against the bases from which they were being supplied.

U. S. to Ease Canadian Entry Rules After Jan. 1

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 16 (AP).—Native born Canadian citizens will not require border crossing cards for temporary visits to the United States after Jan. 1, it was reported here today.

HOW DESTROYER SHELLED JAPS IN ARAWE INVASION

Plasters Target 20 Min.; Weathers Air Attack.

BY WILLIAM F. BONI.

ABOARD U. S. DESTROYER RETURNING FROM ARAWE, New Britain, Dec. 15 [Delayed]—(AP).—This trim warship at the moment is cutting a mean furrow on the homeward run from New Britain after contributing the heaviest share of the dawn bombardment which preceded this morning's landings of American troops at Arawe.

That it was a successful bombardment we learned a comparatively short time after the cease fire order had been given. For from units of the main landing force which swarmed upon the beach came word that they had been able to go ashore unopposed.

In the passage between a little island off the shore and the mainland amphibious craft carrying army troops could be seen poking their noses toward shore thru a haze.

Leads Bombardment Group.

Our ship was in the lead of the bombardment group. If anything, ours was the more difficult assignment since between the ships and the shore target area stood the small island with a 200 foot ridge, meaning we had to do most of our firing "blind."

On the bridge, our skipper — a commander [name not given] from Mayfield, Ky., who was a 1930 graduate of Annapolis—had the ship on its course at a predetermined speed. From the director control, our gunner officer, Lt [j. g.] Brian [Moose] McCauley, had the crews ready and was computing range elevation and other figures for automatic fire.

Exactly on schedule, there was a rocketing blast and the first salvo let loose. For 20 minutes we plastered the target. Our gun crews were working so smoothly in the opening minutes that the gunnery officer had to slow them down progressively until finally, in order not to expend more than the assigned number of rounds, he was calling for guns to fire by twos and at the end, singly on command.

Warships Unscathed.

The destroyers didn't draw a single burst of enemy fire tho at times during the two-hour patrolling along the beach we were within 1,500 yards of the shore.

One of our warships let go two salvos against a Japanese machine gun position which before dawn had fired heavily on a special landing party. Two of these parties had been assigned to attack strategic points. After those two salvos, nothing further was heard from the machine guns.

At approximately 8:30 o'clock we turned away from the beach, put the speed up to 25 knots and started for home in formation. Behind us, still close inshore, was another destroyer from which Rear Adm. Daniel Barbey, commander of the 7th amphibious force, had directed the bombardment.

Weather Jap Air Attack.

The only planes we had seen were our own—first a B-24 which, as an observer, began by circling wide and high, finally almost hedge-hopping over the coconut plantation where our troops went ashore. Then came a formation of B-25s which circled once and then peeled off for two bombing-strafing runs. Last came three flights of P-38 fighters which stayed relatively high.

But we were no more than 20 minutes on our homeward course when the destroyer with Admiral Barbey aboard flashed word that she was being divebombed by at least a dozen Japanese planes. The attack was timed so neatly it seemed almost as if they must have been hiding behind the nearest ridge waiting the signal that we had shoved off.

Seconds later the sky was spotted with black ack-ack bursts. We saw smoke rising from the water, indicating that at least one raider was downed. Then came word from the destroyer that she had got thru without a hit.

Discharged Sailor Killed in Plunge of 86 Floors

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—A former gunner's mate in the navy today horrified hundreds of Christmas shoppers in the midtown district as he plunged to death from the 86th floor parapet of the Empire State building. His body landed between two parked automobiles. Papers tentatively indentified him as William Lloyd Rambo of New York. He carried a medical discharge issued March 11.

CURB DEMANDED ON U.S. DELEGATE IN UNRRA VOTING

House Group Warned of Expanding Cost.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 [Special].—Vigorous opposition to a house resolution under which congress is asked to appropriate funds for the American phase of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration was voiced today by Rep. Frederick C. Smith [Rep. O.].

Smith, appearing before the house foreign affairs committee, characterized the measure as "the first step in the erection of a super-state" which would have power to regulate and to change the legislation enacted by congress.

He warned that the resolution fails to provide a check on the ultimate amount of money that may be appropriated, predicting it may well reach a total of 5 or 20 billion dollars.

Smith said his major misgiving concerning the phrasing of the legislation was that the definition of a member of the central council, the voting unit of UNRRA, left dubious the amount of power vested in the American representative. He charged that the resolution, as worded, would allow the American delegate to commit this nation to contracts without proper supervision by the house or the senate.

Acheson Denies Charge.

Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state, who had just finished his own testimony on the UNRRA agreement, asked leave to explain that the definition of a central council member, as set forth in the resolution, showed it to be a government or a properly constituted authority and not the individual representing that government or authority.

He said the document states that the constitutional bodies of each nation will have supervision over all actions of the UNRRA.

Dr. Smith differed with this view. "This is the pattern," he insisted. "If this resolution is passed with this language unaltered, the same pattern will be used to put thru congress the associated and united nations rehabilitation fund and the 10 billion dollar International Reconstruction bank."

He said he favored restriction of UNRRA duties to distribution of food, clothing, and machines.

Abandon Plan, He Urges.

Dr. Smith further advocated abandoning the plan of operation outlined in the resolution, arguing that this country should function alone in the project, permitting other countries to participate if they wish, as was done after World War I.

"We set up a relief administration in Belgium then," he reminded the representatives.

"The job was done, and it was done well."

5,323 STUDENTS IN 15 SUBURBAN SCHOOLS WORK

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, reported yesterday that 5,323 students in 15 suburban high schools hold part time jobs 10 to 30 hours a week. This number, he said, is approximately 18 per cent of the enrollment of the 21 high schools under his supervision. Figures expected from the other schools soon will raise the percentage in relation to total enrollment, he said.

Other authoritative sources have reported 74 per cent of high school students 16 years old and over in the Chicago area have some type of part time work or take responsibility at home because both parents work.

Puffer's figures for the 15 schools showed 2,650 pupils working in stores, 1,245 in factories, 1,003 in domestic work, 170 having newspaper routes, and 255 working in recreational centers. Last summer, Puffer reported, 1,118 boys worked on farms and 4,725 boys and girls had industrial jobs.

RETIRED FARMER DIES.

NEW BRITAIN HAS HIGH RANGE AND LIVE VOLCANOES

New Britain, largest island of the Bismarck archipelago, was seized by Japan on Jan. 20, 1942, when its forces closed in on Rabaul. This town, built by Germans, is on the northeast end of the crescent shaped island, which is 330 miles long and 56 miles wide at the widest point. New Britain with an area of 13,000 square miles is slightly larger than the state of Vermont.

The island, 5 degrees south of the equator, is tropical in character, has several active volcanoes and the coast lines have many sharp coral reefs. The Whiteman range, with peaks up to 6,000 feet in height, is the spine of the island topography. Bougainville, in the Solomons group, is 150 miles to the eastward.

Good Harbor at Rabaul.

Excellent harborage at Rabaul attracted the Japanese and altho raided frequently by allied flyers, Rabaul is regarded as a key base for the Jap naval forces. The harbor, crater of an extinct volcano, has been overwhelmed by eruptions, the last on May 28, 1937.

Arawe [pronounced Ah-raw'-vay], where United States forces landed, is 250 miles overland from Rabaul, altho less than 60 miles from the north shoreline of the island. By air line Arawe is 800 miles from the Jap naval base of Truk.

Arawe harbor lies between Cape Merkus and the islands of Pilelo, Arawe, and Agusak. There are three entrances to the harbor. Cape Merkus is fringed by a drying reef which extends 300 yards southwestward. Pilelo is fringed by a narrow reef except for a short distance. Arawe and Agusak Islands, westward of the cape, also are surrounded by reefs.

The position of New Britain to the north of the eastern peninsula of New Guinea is unique, as New Ireland, another crescent shaped and narrow island, laps New Britain to the northeastward.

Mandated in 1919.

New Britain and New Ireland, in German hands from 1884 to 1914, was then occupied by Australian troops and was mandated to the commonwealth of Australia by the League of Nations in 1919.

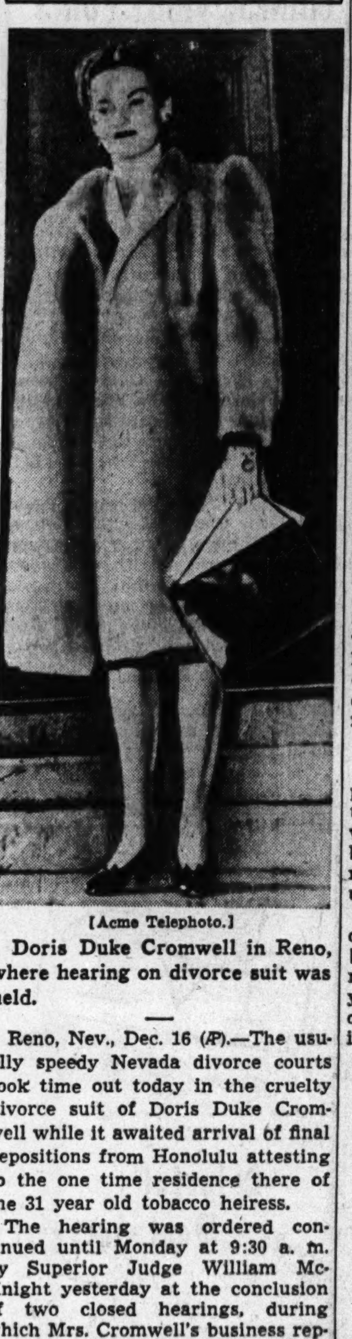
The island is within the 100 inch annual rainfall zone of the South Pacific, is malarial and has been inhabited by Melanesians known to practice cannibalism.

There are 200 small islands in the Bismarck archipelago, many of them mere dots rising from the sea. In the curious overlap of New Britain and New Ireland east of Rabaul, the 20 mile wide St. George's channel separates the islands for about 40 miles of the shoreline of each island.

Police Hunt 2 Who Raped and Robbed War Worker

Warren avenue police yesterday sought two Negroes who Wednesday night forced a woman war worker, 47 years old, into their automobile at Jackson and Leavitt streets, raped her, and took her purse containing $2. The woman told police the Negroes struck her on the head. They put her out of the car at Polk and Paulina streets.

Presses Divorce Suit



[Acme Telephoto.]

Doris Duke Cromwell in Reno, where hearing on divorce suit was held.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 16 (AP).—The usually speedy Nevada divorce courts took time out today in the cruelty divorce suit of Doris Duke Cromwell while it awaited arrival of final depositions from Honolulu attesting to the one time residence there of the 31 year old tobacco heiress.

The hearing was ordered continued until Monday at 9:30 a. m. by Superior Judge William McKnight yesterday at the conclusion of two closed hearings, during which Mrs. Cromwell's business representative, W. L. Baldwin, testified.

Cromwell has obtained a New Jersey Chancery court permanent injunction barring Mrs. Cromwell from filing a Reno divorce action.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] today introduced a bill for mustering out pay which would provide a maximum of $700 and a minimum of $250 to honorably discharged members of the army, navy, or marine corps.

The bill is identical to a measure introduced in the house by Rep. William Lemke [R., N. D.], and now under consideration by the house military affairs committee. Under the proposal a person who has served more than nine months would receive $700—broken down into a $100 payment on discharge, and $50 a month for 12 months. Smallest benefit would be to one who has been in the service for less than three months when he is discharged. He or she would receive $100 on discharge and $50 a month for three months.

Outpay Administration.

The Nye and Lemke bills plan provide substantially larger awards than an administration proposal which was reported out yesterday by the senate military affairs committee. The schedule of payments under this plan are:

One hundred dollars as mustering out pay to every discharged veteran [provided that the veteran had not received pay in excess of $5,000 a year], and to continue on the basis of the pay of a private in the army in this manner:

[a] For an additional three months to a veteran who has served less than three months;

[b] For an additional six months to one who has served between three and six months;

[c] For an additional nine months to one who has served between six and nine months, and,

[d] For an additional 12 months to one who has served nine months or more.

Rewrite Barkley's Bill.

The administration bill, introduced by Sen. Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader of the senate, was rewritten in committee. It had called for a flat $300 grant to discharged veterans. As rewritten it differentiates between awards for service overseas and domestic service. The payments, to be made in three equal instalments one month apart, would be as follows:

For persons who have served outside the continental limits of the United States after Dec. 6, 1941:

A. For 18 months or more, $500.
B. For 12 to 18 months, $400.
C. Less than 12 months, $300.

For persons who have served within the continental limits of the United States after Dec. 6, 1941:

A. For 12 months or more, $300.
B. Less than 12 months, $200.

Payments of the mustering out sums under the Barkley-administration plan would be limited to those lower than a colonel in rank, and would not be made to those who receive retirement pay or who are discharged at their own request for occupational reasons.

May Has One, Too.

On the house side, in addition to the Lemke bill, several measures are under consideration. Among them is one by Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, which calls for the flat $300 award as originally planned by the administration. Another, by Rep. Overton Brooks [D., La.], would combine bonus and adjusted compensation payments to allow for a flat grant of $100 on discharge, an additional $100 for service on the firing line, $100 for each wound up to $400, a dollar a day for each day of domestic service, or $1.25 for each day of foreign service.

It is estimated the maximum award for domestic service under this plan would be $1,000, and for foreign service [with wounds] $1,900.

Yanks Raise Flags and Return to Ships.

[This is the sixth and last article in a series by Warrant Officer John F. Leopold, marine combat cameraman on Tarawa. In it he tells of raising the American flag and burying the dead on the island.]

BY WARRANT OFFICER
JOHN F. LEOPOLD.
As Told to MARCIA WINN.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

We raised the American and British flags simultaneously at Tarawa, while living Japs still were on the island, fighting.

Our scout platoons still were patroling that battered little coral atoll. The blasts of TNT with which they were trying to dynamite some Japs out of a large, unscathed bombproof punctuated the flag ceremony. They didn't succeed in flushing out the Japs. They had to seal all entrances and entomb the Japs alive.

The relief battalions had arrived and the assault troops were preparing to leave the island, but they wouldn't go until our flag went up.

We had to send out to a ship for our flag. Then no one could find a British flag. The ceremony was delayed for hours until the British resident commissioner, who had directed the island's affairs until the Japs moved in after Pearl Harbor, and who had gone back in with our marines, found one.

Even Had Music.

It was about 1:30 in the afternoon. Patrols and everything else were going. Every once in a while you'd hear rifle shots or a blast of dynamite or the spit of a machine gun. Then you'd know our boys were closing in on another nest of Japs.

All the staff officers that were left were there, weary and dirty. Brig. Gen. Thomas E. Bourke, one of the handsomest men I've ever seen, was tired, beaten, worn down. Every one was. The assault troops, who were lined up ready to leave, were there, a battered, sad bunch, ragged, filthy, bandaged, and red eyed from fatigue.

We even had music. One of our camera crew, Pvt. William Kelliher, had a Jap bugle. He ran all over the island with it, thinking more of it than of his camera, but he wasn't playing it. Pvt. Jimmy Williams of Birmingham, Ala., was the official bugler that day. He had been on the Hornet when it went down, and held onto a box five hours before he was rescued, but here he was a gunner on a tank. He brought his bugle along for luck.

Wears Jap Uniform.

The way it turned out, it was funny. He was wearing a battered garrison cap he had on when the Hornet was sunk, and with it he was wearing a Jap naval uniform he had picked up in a dugout. His clothes were dirty and torn to shreds, and this at least was clean, so he had put it on. Many of the boys were running around in Jap uniforms. Some of them almost got killed.

So there we were, the flag about to go up and Jimmy in his American cap and the Jap uniform.

Gen. Holland [Howling] M. Smith, who commanded the landing forces, took one look at him.

Beautiful Ceremony.

The flags were run up on stripped coconut palms, side by side. Our communicators had gone up with their spikes and put the halyards up. Every one stood at attention. It was beautiful. Those broken down troops and the way they stood up, proud and defiant, when the American flag went up and rippled in the wind. One boy's right arm was in a sling. He saluted with it.

Then the assault troops turned to leave. It wasn't a long line—about a third as many as had fought their way in. They marched off in precision, two by two, down to the end of the pier to get into Higgins boats and go to the transports.

Most of those guys had lost their best friends. They were limping and grim and in rags. Their lips were covered with sunburn ointment that stood out like a band of white adhesive tape. They had their rifles, and some had their canteens. It was all they came ashore with, and all they went off with.

Twins Meet Each Other.

There was nothing gay about it, except one boy who had on a suit of Jap blues and turned to grin. They had done their job. Now they could rest. The hardest time, when the pressure was off and they would start to think, was before them.

A couple of twins were in the line. They hadn't met in four years until they ran into each other on the beach. One was with one battalion, one with another. "To hell with my outfit," said one. "I'm going with yours." He did.

A colonel stood at the edge of the water thanking them and telling them good-by. In all my years with the marines I've never seen anything like that. He's a tough officer, hard as nails, one of those fellows that will do anything for you if you're in there pitching, but one that you always snap to attention for when you see him. He expects you to.

But not this time. He stood there and called each man by name. It was his old outfit. He had trained them, but he was at Tarawa as a staff officer. Those men saluted him, but he didn't even return their salutes. As they passed, he smiled, patted each on the back, and would say something like, "Fine job, son." Most of them were so tired they couldn't even smile back. They would just nod.

The Dead Are Buried.

Those are the finest bunch of guys we have. You'll hear more from them. I promise you that.

The dead were everywhere. I toured the island with Gen. Holland Smith and Gen. Julian Smith. On the ground in one spot they counted 105 dead marines in 20 yards. There were tears in their eyes when they saw marines floating in the water as far as they could see.

Chaplains Francis Kelly of Philadelphia and Norman Darling of Largo, Fla., who came in with the first assault waves, had gone around removing dog tags and papers. Then the dead were carried to the center of the island on ponchos, stretchers, and makeshift litters.

There were hundreds of them, and fighting was still going on 50 yards away.

Bulldozers scooped out long, shallow graves. As many as 25 or 30 were put in a common grave, and Protestant and Catholic services read over each. An easterly wind was blowing, shifting the fine coral sand like snow, and before it was over san had whirled in and covered their faces. Then the bulldozers went back to work and filled the graves. After that little wooden crosses were set up.

The bulldozers were working all over the island, cleaning up the debris piled everywhere. They were doing it under sniper fire. They leveled off the shell craters that pocked the cement air strip, filling them with sand, and late that day our first two planes landed.

Bodies 10 Miles Out.

One, accustomed to landing on a carrier, came in too sharply and turned a somersault, but no one was hurt. The other made a perfect three point landing.

You've never seen anything like the reception given those pilots. The marines picked them up and carried them to headquarters on their shoulders. The pilots said they had seen bodies floating as far as 10 miles out at sea. They had thought they were Japs. They were marines.

Later a seaplane, a PYB-2 came in. I went out on it the next day. My skipper [Capt. Louis Hayward, commanding the marine combat camera crew] said I was going out, because I was tired. He said he would stay and run the section, for me to run out the film we had taken.

Our first stop was a nearby base. I was so tired I had no idea what day it was. We landed about 7 p. m., and people came running out to meet us.

"We've been waiting the turkey on you," they yelled at me.

"What turkey?" I asked.

Sees American Girls.

"You know what day this is, don't you?" they asked.

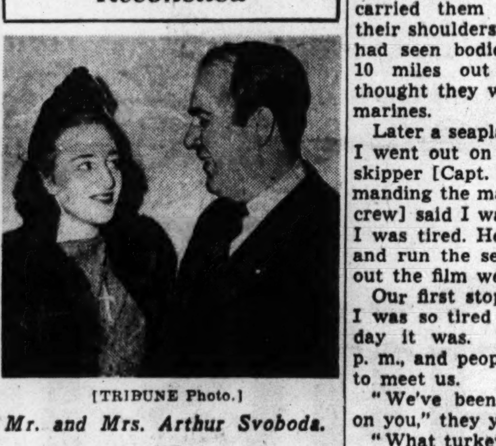
I said I didn't.

"It's Thanksgiving!" they said.

At the next stop I saw two army nurses, the first American girls I had seen in 14 months. We went on to Pearl Harbor and then on to the United States.

Far behind me at Tarawa, buried in the glaring white coral sand, were the best fighting men the United States ever had. The marines gave all they had to win Tarawa, but no one will ever take it away from the marines.

Reconciled



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Svoboda.

A husband should be pleased when his wife comes home tired because then she won't "gab" at him so much, Judge Robert J. Dunne said in Circuit court yesterday when he suggested that Gladys Svoboda, 25 years old, of 3712 South Austin boulevard, Cicero, make another try of her marriage with Arthur, 30, who is living at 3429 61st court, Cicero.

Thru her attorney, Harry X. Cole, Mrs. Svoboda said she desired to continue her career as a ballet dancer, but that her husband objected, hid her costumes and dancing shoes, and hit her.

"I don't mind her dancing, but she comes home from those classes tired," Svoboda said when questioned by his attorney, Arthur N. Thyfault.

That was when Judge Dunne observed that fatigue had its good points and suggested a reconciliation. Mrs. Svoboda said she would give her husband another chance and he agreed to let her resume her career. Meantime her suit for divorce will be held in abeyance and if the reconciliation is successful it will be withdrawn.

Morrison Expresses Hope for Europe Victory in '44

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison in a Christmas message today to the police services in England and Wales expressed hope for victory in Europe next year.

SHELL MANGLED YANK DIRECTED LEAP FROM FORT

Two Rivers, Wis., Dec. 16 (AP).—Sgt. Tyre C. Weaver, the wounded Flying Fortress gunner who was dropped out of his plane over enemy territory to save his life, made his own decision on the descent, Lt. Keith Kaske, the navigator who threw him out, revealed today in disclosing the complete story of the incident.

Lt. Keith Koske.

Lt. Koske, 28 years old, is on leave, visiting his wife and year old son, Mike, here. "I've been reluctant to talk about the action," he said, "but there are reports of the incident that should be corrected.

"I've read that Sgt. Weaver was dropped out over his 'pitiable protests.' That is not true. There were no pitiable protests. Weaver himself made the decision. I will never in all my life be able to understand how he was able to think, how he was able to make a decision. But he did."

Wounded by Shell.

Weaver was wounded by a German cannon shell that entered the Fortress and killed its co-pilot as the Fortress was coming in to bomb Hanover. The shell nearly tore Weaver's arm off, and he fell from his top turret position to the plane's passageway. He was dropped from the plane by Lt. Koske in the belief that the Germans might find him immediately and give him medical attention that would save his life.

Was Severely Injured.

Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, commanding general of the 8th air force, revealed recently that the Germans had found Weaver and that he had lived. Anderson commended Lt. Koske for saving the sergeant's life.

"I cannot understand why Weaver was conscious at all," Lt. Koske said. "A bone had been shattered in his arm and it was hanging by a muscle. It was spurting blood so fast I did not think he could live long enough for me to get a tourniquet on the arm.

"But I managed to get one on, over the shoulder, because there was not enough arm stump left to twist the cord.

"He did not speak—he could not speak—but was conscious all the time and his mind was clear. He was cool in the face of death. I have never seen such heroism. He understood everything. As I worked he pointed with his right hand to the escape hatch.

Makes Own Decision.

"He told me with that gesture that he wanted to be thrown out. So it was his decision. I do not know whether he hoped for a chance at life at the hands of the enemy or simply meant that he was dying, had only a little while to live, and wanted to get out of the way.

"I kept thinking, 'I must make sure his parachute opens. I went all over his harness, saw that it was OK. Then I put a 'bail out bottle' of oxygen in his harness, hooking it in front. But the bottle was a new type and I did not understand it. By gestures, Weaver showed me how to fix the opening. It seems incredible that he could have remained conscious, cool, and keen.

"Then I put the rip cords in his good hand. He pulled the cord a little, thinking that a start on the cord was needed because he probably would faint as soon as he hit the air.

"It was difficult to get him posed right for the drop, but I managed it and dropped him thru the hatch."

YANKS GIVE A SHORT LESSON IN GUNNERY AND GET A SURPRISE

New Orleans, La., Dec. 16 (AP).—Headquarters of the 8th naval district here told this story of a gun crew and a civilian:

The crew, headed by Ensign Leslie C. Becker, La Crosse, Wis., stood on the deck of an armed merchant ship in Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, watching a group of Guatemalan army gunners take pot shots at a small target 3,000 yards at sea. The healthiest place in the vicinity seemed to be the target.

Up came a civilian, obviously of some authority, and invited Becker's crew to try a shot or two.

They fired five shells, without benefit of range finding equipment. Three pierced the target. One was a near miss. Becker then gave a talk on gunnery to both civilian and Guatemalan gun crew.

NEW FOUNDLAND FREEDOM MOVE STIRS COMMONS

A Member Warns Some Want to Join U. S.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—While the "what we have we hold" principle regarding Newfoundland was approved in the house of commons today, two speakers, one a member of the parliamentary mission which recently made a good will investigation tour of the island, admitted there were Newfoundlanders who wanted to link up with the United States or Canada.

Charles Ammon, Laborite, who with other members of parliament recently visited Newfoundland, introduced a motion, which was approved, welcoming the government statement accepting Newfoundland's right to self-government as soon as practicable. He said there was no question regarding the colony's right to representative government, but there was a dispute over the appropriate time.

Enjoys Great Prosperity.

"Some people had ideas about linking up with Canada and a few about linking up with the United States," he said.

He admitted the island now enjoyed great prosperity, mostly due to the United States naval and air bases and military camps.

"Some of these people forget their past history in thinking that if they linked up with the United States this sort of thing is going to continue, but they are very few," Ammon said.

Debts Void Home Rule.

Newfoundland lost its representative government in 1931 after the country was unable to pay its debts. A. B. Baxter, Conservative, described the act suspending the constitution in 1933 as "a monstrous denial of democracy" and warned against the danger for the empire if financial solvency should be the test for the right to self-government.

James Maxton, leader of the Independent Labor party, moved an amendment which would give self-government to Newfoundland "forthwith." He pointed out that Newfoundland was not the only country that could not pay interest on its public debts—"Britain in 1931, with a Labor government, did exactly the same thing."

RENT RAISED $2; JUDGE GIVES $100 TO NEW TENANT

Loren Clark, 6126 Sangamon street, won a $100 judgment before Judge John A. Griffin in Municipal court yesterday against his landlady, Mrs. Anna C. Helm, 664 West 62d street, because she charged him $21 a month rent, whereas a former tenant paid only $19 a month for the same apartment.

The action was a civil suit, charging violation of the emergency price control act.

Thru her attorney, Edgar B. Elder, Mrs. Helm said that the previous tenant did his own decorating, whereas she spent $100 for decorating when Clark moved in.

PARKS TRAFFIC CRASHES IN '43 A THIRD FEWER

Automobile accidents on the 205 miles of Chicago park district boulevards decreased this year by approximately one-third as compared with last year, George T. Donoghue, general superintendent, reported yesterday. Up to Dec. 8 there were 4,836 accidents this year. There were 7,923 for the same period last year. Automobile fatalities increased from 55 to 57, while personal injuries dropped from 2,318 to 1,579. Pedestrian fatalities were reported at 47 for each year. Arrests on charges of driving while intoxicated declined from 116 to 97.

Liquor Container Labels Require Commission O. K.

The Illinois liquor control commission yesterday announced a new regulation requiring commission approval of all labels affixed to liquor containers sold in Illinois. The regulation is designed to prevent the sale of questionable products during the current liquor shortage, commission officials said.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Betty Carson, 2224 Emerson avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.]

THE QUESTION.

What was your worst kitchen accident?

WHERE ASKED.

The Pullman building, 210 South Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Stephanie Gorun, file clerk, 5014 South Seeley avenue—My hands were soapy when I picked up a heavy kettle of scalding water. The kettle slipped to the floor and the water struck me in the face in one big splash. The first degree burns were bad enough, but I couldn't see for three long months.

Dolores Cleo Salem, clerk, 2560 Argyle street—When I was rinsing out a few things in the machine I caught my hand in the wringer. My mother tried to release it but couldn't, so she put it in reverse. By that time my hand was pretty badly mashed. The next time I used the wringer I was much more careful.

Luella Carlson, secretary, 8137 Sangamon street — The first time I whipped up a chocolate cake with the electric egg beater I thought it was quite the thing. I removed the beater and I accidentally turned on the switch and in a flash the chocolate batter was spattered all over me, the walls, and the ceiling.

Mrs. P. L. Macanas, housewife, 1356 East 63d street—Frying chicken didn't seem like a dangerous job to me, but it proved pretty disastrous. I had dipped the chicken in a batter before frying it and then dropped it into the hot grease. A bubble formed and it popped, spattering the hot grease all over my face.

Helen Marshal, secretary, 3416 Jackson boulevard—After I had lit the oven I thought I smelled gas. I checked the flame and noticed it had gone out. Without giving the accumulated gas a chance to escape, I lit a match to relight it. What followed couldn't be called an explosion, but it was close enough so it never happened again.

Mrs. Richard Neher, office worker, 6128 South Maplewood avenue—I'm usually pretty careful when I'm frying food in deep fat, because I know it can burn deeper than most anything else. I accidentally pulled the whole thing off the stove when it caught on the holder. I had to wear bedroom slippers for weeks on account of my badly burned feet.

MAYOR WILL ASK MELLINGER O. K. FOR PLAN PLACE

Mayor Kelly said yesterday he will ask the city council at its next meeting Dec. 29 to confirm his appointment of Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, as head of the Chicago Plan commission. Mellinger will succeed George T. Horton, president of the Chicago Bridge and Iron works.

Horton, who is 70 years old, submitted his resignation last July and suggested that a younger man be given the post, but the mayor said he would not accept the resignation until he found a suitable successor.

Mellinger is a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Association of Commerce and was president of that body in 1941 and 1942. Currently he is president of the National Community and War fund in metropolitan Chicago. He lives at the Ambassador hotel.

CITY EMPLOYE DIES IN HOME.

Stanley Kotlarz, 68 years old, died yesterday in his home at 2436 North Lotus avenue of a heart ailment. He was employed as a laborer in the city yard in the 35th ward.

FINDS ENGLAND FEARS U. S. AS A BUSINESS RIVAL

The tariffs, production powers, and merchant ships of the United States cause England to fear this country as a formidable competitor in post-war foreign trade, William B. Benton, vice president of the University of Chicago, said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking union in the Blackstone hotel.

"It is my personal opinion," he said, "that the English are more worried about American policy than they are by any other aspect of the war affecting the future of Britain. Right now we are in much the stronger position, we hold the whip, but we have no consistent policy on many of the important questions that arise between our two countries, as far as I can see as I look from Chicago toward Washington."

Many Put Russ Amity First.

Many people in England, Benton said, would prefer to see the English-American union dissolve rather than risk the loss of an Anglo-Russian union, if the choice had to be made. The position England takes may be forced, he said, by American policy, or lack of it, in world trade after the war.

Benton toured England with Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"We were surprised by the strong economic trend to what we in the United States would call 'the left'," he said. "The Labor and the Conservative parties see eye to eye in an economy giving greater state control in business. Labor thinks it will be easier to take over business after it has been monopolized. The compromise between capital and labor, which permeates the whole British economy, is partly responsible for the obsolescence of the industrial machine.

Fear Lack of Leaders.

"One of the peculiar fears of the English is that they have a dearth of leadership. I was nonplussed when one man said to me, 'You Americans are so fortunate in having so many good leaders coming up in both parties.'

"I found no sign of any change in the British caste system. The tradition that the leaders must have the proper accent is a great handicap. An Englishman with the equivalent of a Brooklyn or Texas accent must be 50 or 500 per cent better to get along."

President Roosevelt is popular with all classes in England, and the people frequently said they were puzzled that there could be any possibility of his being defeated in an election, Benton said.

Print F. D. R. Schedule.

"I really never knew what the President does in a day," Benton said, "until I got to London, and found his daily appointments at the White House printed in a newspaper, just like bulletins from a royal court."

The well-to-do British are concerned about the scarcity of food, he said, but the masses are eating better than ever. Death rates have decreased 10 per cent, birth rates have gone up, British children are heavier and taller than they used to be, and in 1943, for the first time in British history, the infant mortality rate dropped to less than 50 in 1,000 births, Benton asserted.

HIGHLAND PARK SOLDIER KILLED IN MAKIN CLASH

Pvt. John Fealey, 38 years old, a brother of James F. Fealey, 6453 Ingleside avenue, has been killed in action on Makin Island in the Gilberts, scene of a bloody clash with the Japanese, the war department yesterday informed Miss Ellen Sweeney, 1873 Krenn avenue, Highland Park, in whose home he had roomed. Pvt. Fealey had been an assistant cashier for the Pullman company in the Chicago Union station for 18 years before he was inducted Nov. 10, 1942. His sister, Mrs. Katherine Moreau, Bear, Wis., also survives.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES.

SEEK TO CANCEL 1893 DIVORCE IN ESTATE BATTLE

Ask Share in $300,000 for Asylum Inmate.

A petition to vacate a divorce decree granted 50 years ago was filed in Superior court yesterday as part of a move to obtain a half share in the $300,000 estate left by Joseph Miron, a furniture dealer who died in Plainfield, N. J., in 1941.

The petition alleges that Miron thru fraud obtained a divorce here Dec. 2, 1893, from Bertha Miron, now 77 years old and an inmate of an insane asylum at Hartford, Conn. He subsequently remarried and his will, leaving his estate to children of the second marriage and friends, does not mention his first wife or Victor Miron, 51, of Plainfield, who is said to be a son of the first marriage.

Seek Widow's Share.

The suit was filed by Attorneys Abram E. Adelman and Irving Zimmerman, who represent Samuel C. Kone, conservator of the estate of Mrs. Miron. They said that if the divorce is set aside Mrs. Miron will inherit a widow's share. She has been in an asylum, except for one brief period, since 1890. Adelman said that in a similar case in Cook county a decree that had stood for 30 years was vacated.

Desertion Disputed.

The petition states that the Mirons were married in 1889 and that in 1890 Miron caused his wife to be committed to an asylum. She was released in June, 1891, and the son, Victor, allegedly was born the next February. In July, 1892, Mrs. Miron was recommitted to an institution and has been there since.

Miron came to Chicago, Sept. 18, 1893, and obtained the default divorce thru fraud, the petition alleges, in that he charged that his wife had deserted him and gone to live with her father in New Haven. At the time Mrs. Miron's father had not come to the United States from Russia.

STARK REALISM OF WAR SHOWN IN ARMY FILMS

Visual reports on the invasion of Sicily and south Pacific islands were given to 1,150 representatives of labor, industry, and government who were guests of the army yesterday at a special showing of three motion pictures in the Esquire theater.

"The War Department Reports" is a 45 minute account of army activities shown for the first time before a general staff conference in Louisville, Ky., two months ago. Until a few days ago the picture was considered confidential.

Show Rendova Attack.

Captured Japanese pictures included show the take-off of bombers from two carriers for the surprise bombing of Pearl Harbor. Other scenes from German newsreels released in neutral countries show the prison delivery of Benito Mussolini by German paratroopers and his flight to German territory to be greeted by Adolf Hitler.

"Film Communique No. 1," the first of a monthly series which the army will release, is a visual story of the attack on Rendova in the Southwest Pacific, establishment of a beachhead and landing of invasion troops and equipment followed by a Japanese bombing attack which killed many troops and destroyed part of their equipment.

Training Methods Displayed.

The third picture was a training film which tells how American troops are trained specially for the kind of warfare they will encounter in fighting Germans and Japanese. These films and a dozen others have been released by the army for showing to industrial and civic groups. Arrangements for showing them may be made with Capt. Hale Nelson, industrial services officer, 6th service command.

RAIL OFFICIALS LOOK FOR CRUSH IN COMING WEEK

Officials of railroads emanating from Chicago expect extraordinary heavy passenger traffic during the coming holiday week, they said yesterday.

All reported reservations nearly sold out, and war time rules forbid the addition of extra cars, even if any were available.

The Milwaukee road's officials noted evidence that the "mail early" campaign was successful, reporting that shipments of mail and express already are so heavy that the line has been running many trains carrying nothing but mail and express.

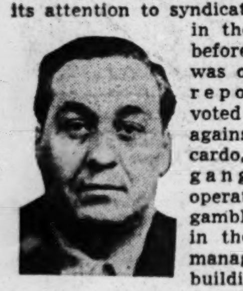
VOTE TO INDICT TONY ACCARDO IN LOOP GAMBLING

10 Others Accused; One a Building Manager.



Tony Accardo.

The grand jury yesterday turned its attention to syndicate gambling in the loop and, before the day was over, it was reported, had voted true bills against Tony Accardo, Capone gangster and operator of a gambling house in the loop, the manager of the building in which the place was located and nine other persons connected with the operation of the gambling place.

The action, it was said, was the first instance of a grand jury's charging a building manager with conspiracy in the operation of a handbook.

Reported named in the true bill with Accardo was E. W. Bareuther, manager, agent, and operator of the Ogden building at 192 North Clark street. Bareuther, investigators said, operates the building under a leasehold from a bondholders' committee.

Former Bodyguard for Capone.

Accardo, who was formerly bodyguard for Al Capone, is said to have operated handbooks on the third and fourth floors, under the name of Joe Batters. David Russell, owner of the cigar store on the first floor, was one of those named in the true bill.

Detectives from the Central police station appeared before the grand jury during the day along with Capt. Thomas Duffy, in command of the district, and told of a raid on the building Nov. 1. They described a nerve center found in a vacant room on the fourth floor. Wires from 25 telephones on the third and fourth floors had been connected to a switchbox in the room.

Witnesses said that gambling was conducted by telephone in the cigar store operated by Russell under the name of Drive Inn Smoke shop.

Warned Last February.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said that Bareuther had been summoned before the grand jury last February and warned against allowing handbooks in the place.

The others named in the true bills were said to have been employes of Accardo. They are listed as Joseph Mausby, cashier; Charles Johnson, Sam Miller, Harry Strauss, Sol Goodman, Milton Waldman, Abe Cohen, and Gerald McCann. The phones in the nerve center were reported to have been listed in the name of McCann.

Before turning its attention to loop gambling the grand jury, it was said, voted true bills against two handbook operators in the Town Hall district. Those named were Jack Katzen, alias Jack Katz, and Sam Miller. The two were said to have operated handbooks at 4143, 4350, and 4437 Broadway. Joseph and Irving Baron, brothers, indicted last week on charge of operating gambling places in that district, filed bonds of $2,500 each.

The civil service commission during the day overruled a motion to quash charges of neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer against Capt. Walter Healy, formerly in command of the Hyde Park district, and ordered his trial set for Jan. 10. The motion to quash was filed by his attorney, Michael Ryan.

AD CLUB NAMES STAGE ACTRESS AS PIN-UP GIRL

Miss Marilyn Sable of the cast of the play, "Kiss and Tell," was selected "Miss Advertising Pin-up Girl" yesterday in Hotel Sherman at the 40th annual Christmas party sponsored by the Chicago Federated Advertising club to benefit the Off-the-Street club. The benefiting organization will receive approximately $925 as proceeds from the dinner, which was attended by 887 persons.

More than 50 Chicago business firms donated prizes, ranging from a squirrel cape to war bonds and cleaning polish, which were awarded to guests at the party. Juvenile representatives of the Off-the-Street club presented a program of music, skits and dancing, while professional entertainers from the city's theaters, radio networks and night clubs were starred during the party.

Fred Kuechemmeister, boatswain's mate, second class, of Detroit, Mich., provided the afternoon's one solemn spot when he described his experiences on Guadalcanal. His simple appeal that the audience buy bonds to speed his buddies' return brought the entire gathering to its feet.

MULCAHY TO BE NAMED SHERIFF, DEMOCRATS SAY

Democrats yesterday were increasingly certain that Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago area director of the office of price administration, will be appointed sheriff of Cook county to succeed the late Peter B. Carey. The county board is expected to meet Tuesday to make the appointment.

Mayor Kelly refused to confirm the reports, but he did not deny them. He has indicated several times that he regards Mulcahy equal to difficult assignments. Formerly 8th ward alderman, Mulcahy later was president of the board of local improvements at $6,000 a year and an assistant corporation counsel at $10,000 a year.

It was reported yesterday that Mulcahy's OPA job will be taken by Paul A. H. Shults, new chief counsel.

Launches 30 Types

Fort Benning, Ga., Dec. 16 [Special].—An army officer and a foreman of the civilian armament workers here have been credited with the invention of a device which may be attached to the fast firing Garand semi-automatic rifle to enable it to launch anti-tank grenades.

The two are Col. Charles H. Coates, member of the infantry board, and Ray S. Miller. Their invention, which had been considered impossible because of the delicate automatic features of the rifle, fits over the barrel.

Grenades formerly could be launched only from the old Springfield rifle. Approximately 30 types of grenades and flares can be utilized with the attachment.

HEART ATTACK FATAL.

VOTE TO VITIATE OLD INFORMER'S FRAUD STATUTE

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Emasculation of an 80-year old statute, passed in Abraham Lincoln's administration to protect the public against government laxity in the prosecution of war frauds, was given senate approval today without a record vote.

The house must concur in the action, which indorsed an agreement reached on the legislation at a conference between the two houses.

Holds Floor for 6 Hours.

Langer said he had been promised the coöperation of other senators in a last-minute attempt to awake the senate to the dangers of the measure but they had failed him. He spoke for more than six hours, yielding the floor shortly after 3 p. m., more than 24 hours after he had obtained control of it yesterday.

The legislative history of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], is an unusual one, as narrated by Langer. As it slipped thru the house last March with a minimum of discussion, the bill abolished the law permitting a citizen to sue in the name of the government for damages when he had evidence of fraud, and to collect half the judgment rendered.

The department of justice had indorsed elimination of this law and was therefore in the position, Langer noted, of wishing to strip the public of one protection against war fraunds at a time when such frauds promise to prove gigantic in nature.

Called "Informer's Statute."

Van Nuys, in bringing the measure to the attention of the senate last September, referred to the existing law as "the informers' statute which is being used by racketeering lawyers."

"I think one reason for this proposed legislation," said Langer, "is that friends of Frank Hague, the New Jersey political boss, are concerned in one pending case and the brother-in-law of T. J. Pendergast [Kansas City politician] is involved in a Missouri case.

"When we find Hague of New Jersey, Kelly of Chicago, and Pendergast of Missouri all part and parcel of the administration, it is no time to deprive ourselves of the protection against government frauds afforded in the present law."

In the amended form approved by the senate, the statue is left on the books but so hedged about with restrictions, according to Langer, that the effect is to kill it.

Notice of the proposal suit and all information upon which it is based must first be given to the attorney general, who has 60 days to take over the prosecution if he wishes. If the United States wins the suit, not to exceed one-tenth of the proceeds may be awarded by the court to the citizen presenting the information. If the attorney general declines to prosecute and the citizens goes ahead at his own expense, he may receive not more than one-fourth of the final judgment.

OPA ANNOUNCES TRIAL PERIOD ON LIGHT NEWSPRINT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The office of price administration announced today that new light weights of newsprint may be priced by addition of extra production costs to ceilings for standard newsprint paper during a four month experimental period. The period extends from Dec. 1 thru March 31.

Experimental production of light weight paper has been approved by the war production board as a means of conserving supplies of wood fiber.

The OPA is permitting temporary determination of the differential thru negotiations between sellers and individual purchasers because lightweight newsprint has not generally been produced before and information as to average costs is not available. The differential must not exceed the estimated increased cost to the manufacturer, computed by customary accounting methods.

HARRY'S NEW ICE BOX.

Harry Hopkins is on his way home from a Mediterranean cruise. He should arrive in Washington about the time his new Georgetown residence, complete with a brand new refrigerator, is ready for occupancy.

Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, Ohio Republican, pointed this out to congress when he told that body how the Good Samaritan hospital of Sandusky, O., in his district, had pleaded in vain for a refrigerator like the one just moved into Ice Box Harry's new quarters.

The hospital was told, Rep. Weichel said, that it could go and buy an old fashioned ice chest, but nobody seems inclined to chop ice out of Lake Erie to keep the chest filled, so the hospital will have to do without. And the patients must suffer the consequences.

Rep. Weichel said he interceded with the war production board on behalf of the hospital and was told that refrigerators simply weren't being alloted to hospitals these days. WPB didn't explain how Ice Box Harry got his priorities, but apparently his family will have the luxury of mechanical refrigeration even if hospital patients suffer for it.

Harry is the New Deal Jeremiah who, in a series of magazine articles last winter, said that we were only half fighting the war "because some Americans believed that we could continue business, cocktail parties, and golf as usual. . . ." He also said that what we had to do was to get into the war with both hands and both feet, "with no pussyfooting, no special favors."

Harry accompanied the President to Cairo and Teheran, where it was most clearly demonstrated that if cocktail parties are out for ordinary Americans they are going to be bigger, and better, and noisier in the precincts of the New Deal court, wherever that court may be sitting. The boys sure had a good time, with the band doing request numbers for Harry, and Harry's boy, Bob, who is supposed to be a G. I. private with a rifle in his fists, shooting private movies for the old man.

American military planes flew big hampers of viands, wines, and hard liquor all the way from this country to Cairo for the New Dealers' banquets. About the same time—for it happened two weeks ago—the Germans put their airplanes to a different use, sinking, so it is said, 17 American and allied merchant ships in the supply port of Bari, Italy, in one of the most destructive raids of the war.

Americans may wonder if their military planes which were playing grocery and liquor truck to the Roosevelt party couldn't have helped to avert that catastrophe if they had been carrying bombs and guns instead. And the citizens may wonder, too, why, if we have planes to spare, more of them have not been sent to the Pacific theater, where Gen. MacArthur might have been able to use them against the Japanese?

Ice Box Harry is the symbol of the New Deal epoch in American history, a period rapidly drawing to a close. As the end nears, the principal characters in this macabre drama spin and gyrate in faster and wilder rhythm as the blood of their countrymen soaks deeper into the soil of foreign battlefields. Americans can be thankful that the Roman holiday is coming to an end and that the Republic will be restored next November.

NO RAILROAD STRIKE.

The most encouraging thing about the strike that the unions whose members run the country's trains have called, to begin on Dec. 30, is that no one expects it to take place. This includes the railroad operating workmen themselves and it also includes the leaders of their unions, who are both too shrewd and too patriotic to go thru with the strike at this time if any possible means of escaping it is available to them.

It is well that this is so, since the nation obviously cannot tolerate the paralysis of its transportation system while it is fighting a war like this one. There is no advantage to any one in bandying about the cry of treason, but it is a solemn and inescapable fact that, if the strike should occur, it would have to be suppressed by force. The claims of the unions for pay increases, which are certainly not without merit, have nothing to do with the matter. A railroad strike would be intolerable.

The railroad brotherhoods have often been referred to as the aristocrats of the American labor movement. Their presidents would not appear out of place around the directors' board of a bank and, in fact, would raise the caliber of most bank board deliberations. Their members are, to put it mildly, poor prospects for Mr. Browder. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is somewhat closer to the American Medical association than to the supposedly starving proletariat, except that it does a better economic job for its members than the A. M. A. does for its members. The average engineer probably has a higher income than the average physician. [And why not, on the basis that the doctor who makes a mistake kills only one man and the engineer who makes one may kill a score?]

Loyal tho the railroad workers are to their unions, it is not certain that a majority of them would follow a strike call at this time, and it is certain that their leaders will not go thru with the strike call unless they are virtually forced to it by further ineptitude and double dealing on the part of Mr. Roosevelt and his appointees.

Unfortunately, when Mr. Roosevelt should be the person to appeal to the unions on behalf of the American nation, he has already so prejudiced himself with them that he has destroyed his usefulness, as he did earlier in the coal strike. His record in dealing with more than a million nonoperating railroad employes is particularly bad, in that he actually broke his word after he had given it to their leaders and that, naturally, has also destroyed his influence with the operating unions.

The fantastic possibility actually exists that if an appeal to patriotism is necessary it might devolve upon Gen. Marshall to make it, on behalf of the tens of thousands of sons of railroad workers who are fighting in the army. This injection of the army into civilian affairs would be as objectionable to the defenders of free government in this country as it would be to the army itself, but Mr. Roosevelt has so conducted himself that it might be the only feasible way out.

THE AUTOMOBILE TOLL DECLINES AGAIN.

Coroner Brodie's statistics of automobile deaths in Cook county show another very considerable improvement this year. In 1941, the records show that 978 people were killed in automobile accidents. Last year the toll had been reduced by 33 per cent to 658. This year, on Dec. 15, the total was 469, and for the full year will probably approximate 490, a decline in the year of about 25 per cent. In two years the number of automobile fatalities has been cut in half.

Two important influences have been at work. One of them, the reduction in operating speed, has been present thru most of the two year period. The other, gasoline rationing, has been in force since Dec. 1, 1942, and can, therefore, have had its effect in restricting the use of automobiles only for a little more than a year.

Of the two influences, the reduction in speed seems to have been the more important in saving life, tho in the absence of a careful statistical analysis the judgment must be tentative. At any rate, it can be said with great certainty that the 35 mile speed limit, where it has been observed, has prevented many accidents and reduced the severity of a great many more. That being so, this community is on notice that if, after the war, it permits automobiles to be operated on our streets and highways at the pace which was common before the war, a lot of people are going to be killed needlessly.

The police can enforce a speed limit if public opinion will back them up. The question is whether motorists will be willing to take five or ten minutes longer to get where they're going if by doing so they can save the lives of several hundred of their fellow townsmen in a year. We have no doubt that all of the motorists, if asked, would say the sacrifice of time was a small price to pay for so large a gain, but the unanswered question is: Will they act accordingly?

The figures suggest another point: Probably the 1943 toll is getting close to the practical minimum in relation to the number of cars now in operation and the quality of the highways over which automobiles operate in this community. It is virtually certain that, once the restrictions on the manufacture of automobiles and the purchase of gasoline are lifted, both the number of cars and the extent of their use will increase rapidly, with a proportionate increase in the number of fatalities to be expected, even if the present speed limit remains in force.

It follows that if the toll is to be kept down the only way to do it is to build safer highways. That means to build express highways, free of pedestrians and cross-traffic. That, in turn, means elevated or depressed highways, and for ordinary purposes it means elevated highways, because they are generally easier and cheaper to construct and maintain.

RATTLING THE REA SKELETON.

A congressional committee investigating the rural electrification administration has made public a memorandum written by John A. Becker, former Wisconsin administrator of REA. This document quotes Robert B. Craig, former deputy administrator of REA, as the originator of a plan to form a giant coöperative of REA customers, selling and distributing all electrical appliances to them, and controling the customers' votes as well.

Craig is alleged to have told Becker that he intended to levy against all the members of this coöperative to build up a political fund of $100,000. He intended also to milk the manufacturers who made appliances for the coöperative. Craig planned to control 4 million votes and a cash fund to back them up so that "even the devil himself can't hurt us," Becker said.

Becker said that he wrote down this conversation and reported it because "the scheme looked very sinister, unscrupulous, and politically corrupt." He said that he tried to start an investigation and that it resulted in a general whitewash of the REA gang. Craig resigned his post last May.

The congressional committee is going to try to establish whether Becker's account is true, and is hunting Craig with a subpena.

Until a lot more evidence is offered the public will have no way of knowing whether this fantastic plot was actually promoted, but no one should be surprised if the charges prove up. The New Dealers have years of experience in just such business. They have been buying votes and getting them delivered thru pressure groups for years.

Harry Hopkins told the WPA workers how to vote and enough of them followed directions to keep Mr. Roosevelt and a gang of New Deal congressmen in power thruout the years before the war. Labor bosses and the big city political bosses of the Kelly, Hague, and Pendergast stamp corralled votes and dollars and delivered them for the New Deal according to the same general plan.

The REA scheme to control votes may be as sinister, unscrupulous, and politically corrupt as Becker said it was, but no one who has followed New Deal racketeering thruout the last 10 years can say that it is original.

STAR OF BETHLEHEM.

"There came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying . . . we have seen His star in the east, and are come to worship Him. . . . They departed; and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was."

This is the story according to St. Matthew.

* * *

The science of astronomy has not explained the mystery of the star, altho it has read many of the heavens' riddles. Here is an opinion by Donald H. Menzel, professor of astrophysics at Harvard university, published in the National Geographic magazine of last July:

"Was it, perhaps, a nova, or 'new star,' flashing out in temporary brilliance, a cosmic explosion? Was it a comet, or possibly a peculiar arrangement of bright planets? All have been suggested. The biblical story, however, indicates that it could not have been a true astronomical body. One may prefer to interpret the legend of the Star of Bethlehem in symbolic rather than scientific terms."

* * *

Yet the account in the gospel of St. Matthew need not be read with absolute literalism. "The star went before them" could easily mean that it seemed to move because they were moving in its direction. They had already seen this star when they were in the east, which may have been Persia; it was then in the west or northwest. Their journey must have been by the roundabout caravan routes of the Fertile Crescent; its last stages, one may assume, were from Damascus to Jerusalem, chief city of the region over which this star seemed to hang low.

* * *

Their route from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, led by the star, ran about due north. Very well; what first-degree star or planet would have been visible, low in the sky, to these wayfarers late in December 1,943 years ago? What star was always within their line of sight?

* * *

Astronomy can roll back the configurations of the heavens 1,943 years with comparative ease. The brightest star in the direct view of the Magi, riding camelback from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, will be a plausible Star of the Nativity. . . . Worked out on a modern star map, by rule of thumb, this star seems to be Deneb, in the constellation Cygnus, which appropriately contains an asterism called the Northern Cross.

A RONDEAU OF RATIONS.

It is not meet that man should sigh
For groceries that pass him by,
For manna strewn in pastures green,
For calory and vitameen,

That Homo Sapiens should fly
From mart to mart, yet be a guy
Content with bread and butterine—
It is not meet.

O, let him then arise and try
To seize his due of steak, and pie,
And bouillabaisse in hot tureen.
But this is what I really mean:
That whatsoever he may buy—
It is not meat. Commodore.

The Alleged Happiness of Larks.

So you say you are "happy as a lark," or "you are going on a lark." How could you go anywhere on a lark?

How does any one know that a lark is happy? Just because a lark sings is no indication of happiness. In opera, people often sing altho they are dying, and people often sing or whistle to keep up their spirits.

All right, so a lark is not necessarily happy, and he really has no right to be happy. He builds his nest on the ground, where you are almost sure to step on it, or if you miss it a horse or wagon might get it. Even if there were a tree 300 feet high near the spot where the lark built his nest, do you think he would fly up to the comparative security of the treetop to build his nest? Not he! He puts it right on the ground, regardless. Larks have been building their nests on the ground for thousands of years, and he is going to follow the lark tradition, no matter. He's in the groove.

And further, to make sure that you will step on his nest and the expectant eggs therein, they are colored the same as the ground so that you can not possibly see them. But if, by chance, you should miss the eggs, you have one last chance, for the young birds are also the same color as the ground, so you are almost sure to get them.

Well, no, that is not the last chance; there is yet another, for the lark instructs his youngsters to lie quite still, so you can not help but squash them. He could at least train them to flap their wings, or color them red, but not he.

So, a lark is not necessarily happy, and he should not be happy.

He should be ashamed of himself.

Roy Engel.

THE BOOK.

(Verses for Bible week.)

In the beginning was the Word of God!
Beyond the farthest reaches of man's mind
That Word has been; when in the final sod
The last man lies, eternity will find
That Word still standing, clear, omnipotent,
The ultimate and universal Power
Which made the earth, the sea, the firmament.
Illumined by the glory of the Word.
Lord God who made us all, give us the grace
To show forth in our lives what we have heard;
Teach us compassion, goodness; speak again

A USEFUL HEART REMEDY.

EVER since William Withering, the English physician-botanist, tried the effect of digitalis upon his dropsical patients we have recognized the inherent merits of the leaves of the foxglove. The beautiful bell-like flowers, with their delicate shadings, have made the plant a garden favorite.

When this remedy first came into use an excellent medicinal tea was made from the foliage. Later came tinctures and the powdered leaves.

The doughty old clinical warrior, Sir James McKenzie, who taught us more about heart maladies than all of his predecessors and contemporaries, knew how to prescribe this drug without fear. He believed that it was wiser to combat its toxic influence than it was to deprive the patient of its lifesaving properties.

But every now and then an individual with heart failure will fail to respond as we would wish. While slight improvement may be observed, the drug appears to be unable to take hold. Occasionally a victim just cannot tolerate it. Even small doses will be responsible for vomiting and other undesirable symptoms. Thus a heart sufferer may be obliged to remain in bed, as a comeback seems to be impossible due to the reaction to this standard preparation.

Fortunately, within the last few years, further study of the fractions of various types of digitalis has revealed a new and powerful portion, which is known as "lanatoside." It is derived from the lanata species and is not found in the purpurea, which is commonly utilized. It is a potent chemical, which can produce muscle damage if ingested in large quantities and over a long period of time. When used within the limits of safety, however, it may change an otherwise hopeless picture into one of substantial comfort.

Thus far a number of successful cases have been reported. One that came under my observation a few months ago is that of a 62 year old woman who entered the hospital early in August. Her blood pressure was high, she was short of breath, her pulse was rapid and irregular, and some fluid had accumulated in the legs and abdomen. Her family physician stated that she had had several attacks of palpitation.

Shortly after the first dose of digitalis she vomited and presented mild delirium. A week later she was given lanatoside in divided doses and, within 24 hours, stated that she felt better than she had at any time in the last two years. Two days thereafter the dose was reduced to one tablet in each 24 hours. Water within the tissues had disappeared, there was no fibrillation, and soon she was up and about doing her regular household chores.

Apparently we have in this particular portion a healing aid which can be employed by mouth and which may restore normal function to the heart muscle. Strangely enough, an actual drop in blood pressure may be observed. This latter phenomenon may be associated with the lack of apprehension, which likewise disappears. At this writing the patient is comfortable physically and mentally and is quite her former self.

SHOULDER DISCOMFORT.

Mrs. L. writes: I have an odd sensation just back of my left shoulder, near the neck. Is this neuritis or arthritis?

REPLY.

Could be either. An X-ray will disclose bony changes if they have occurred. The removal of foci of infection and a well balanced diet should banish neuritis.

SEEK CAUSE.

Mrs. D. B. writes: I am 27 years old and have high blood pressure. Isn't this unusual?

REPLY.

Quite. Now is the time to find the cause. Careful study should be made of the sympathetic [autonomic] nervous system, as well as the circulation. The kidneys likewise may demand investigation. The condition is far from hopeless.

REMODELING.

C. B. writes: If plastic surgery has been performed on a nose, will it feel perfectly normal afterward?

REPLY.

Increased sensitivity may be observed for a time. If the circulation has been reëstablished fully, however, this symptom will disappear.

HARSH TREATMENT.

Mrs. R. writes: Is it harmful to use depilatories on the face?

REPLY.

O. K. if mild. You will have to keep it up, however. Chemicals will not destroy the hair follicles. Preparations strong enough to do this will injure the skin.

No More Mickey.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 16.—On the casual, conversational side Canada has two acute war time shortages. One is woolen sox. The other is liquor. The latter is a topic of feverish conversation wherever one goes. Liquor is rationed here, 24 pints of beer and 40 ounces of the hot stuff per month per person. Rationing is rigidly observed, and to get the ounces issued in your name you have to present proof of your identity. This has produced many curious characters in the queues now haunting liquor stores and breweries at all times.

Old men barely able to hobble and dear old ladies who probably have never tasted anything stronger than the lemon in their tea in the eight decades of their existence now line up, ration book in hand. Theirs is a mission of kindness. They are out to purchase liquor for their children unto the third generation. Liquor comes in two sizes, a 27 ounce bottle and a 13 ounce bottle. The latter is known as a Mickey Mouse, and the two compose one's liquor rations for the month.

The great tragedy in local alcoholic groups this month, ordinarily a month of wet festivity, is that the dominion of Canada seems to have run out of Mickey Mice. This leaves half the populace holding 13 ounce ration coupons and is a source of extreme conversational protest. The only way to get around it is to double up with a friend, or try the black market, which flourishes as profligately here as in the United States.

In certain quarters it is more flourishing. If you know the right backstreet denizens, you can buy automobile tires, unused, at pre-war prices. You can make good use of them, too, for altho gasoline is limited to 120 gallons per year per car, fountains of plenty seem to be working diligently in back alleys. "Why," a cab driver said pleasantly, "I know at least six men who brag of having driven 12,000 miles this year. You can't do that on 120 gallons."

The hotels are a curious compound of luxury, courtesy, and quaintness. The waiters wear exquisite tail coats and gay weskits, and bow from the hips when they take your order, but they never dream of giving you a glass of water.

The registration card requests several bits of information of which few, if any, American hotels take printed cognizance. After the line for your name are lines where you may register your valet, chauffeur, and maids—not by name, by number.

The telephone at the Chateau Laurier here in Ottawa, a great pile of stone that outwardly and inwardly resembles a baronial hall, has a tender little reminder in red type affixed to the mouthpiece. It says: "Telephone home tonight." On the top of the telephone table is an official entreaty from the management saying, "Because circuits are heavily burdened with war and government calls, guests are urged not to make telephone calls."

Ottawa is every bit as crowded as its fellow capital, Washington. A visitor cannot quite understand this, as it hardly seems possible that any one would come of his own volition to a place as cold as this [today, 30 below].

Perhaps it all may be summed up in the tale told us today by a fellow plane traveler. One day his sister's best friend called her. "O, Marge," she said desperately, "something terrible has just happened." Marge cluck-clucked and asked what. "Our house has just been sold over our heads." Marge, also a renter, cluck-clucked genuinely at this. "But," her best friend said hesitantly, "you don't know all yet. We—we've just bought your house." Marge was properly incensed at this perfidy, but held herself in check until her friend called the next day.

"Marge," the friend then said, "you know Bert has never been inside your house. He wants to come over and see what he bought." Marge quietly said she'd kick him out if he did, so Bert got on the phone and started to reason. Marge told him fluently and unflinchingly what she thought of him. He listened mutely until she was thru. "Houses are houses," he then said flatly, and hung up.

PLANT MANAGER'S COMPLAINT.

Elmhurst, Ill., Dec. 10.—I am plant manager of an organization employing several hundred people. Industry and business have had to bear the brunt of all criticism and blame for any grievance which labor might have.

Now we have the large government established war industries using the established industries of the community as training schools for the purpose of training skilled labor to be drawn off at will and with government approval. These established industries are as able and as willing to pay the competitive wage rates as are the larger more recently established war plants, in most cases, but were unable to prophesy the trend as of Sept. 15, 1942, when their wage schedules were arbitrarily frozen by government decree.

Now these schedules are 25 to 80 per cent under the schedules set up in competition. The point not to be overlooked is that when an employe asks if he can get an increase in an established industry comparable to that offered for the same work by the competitor, he has to be denied the increase no matter how badly he may be needed or how badly the employer would like to honor the request. Consequently he leaves for the greener pastures with a feeling of contempt not for the government but for his employer who has to refuse the request. WHO CARES.

PVT. HOPKINS' PRIVATE MOVIES.

Fort Meade, S. D., Dec. 11.—Concerning the story that Pvt. Robert Hopkins, son of Harry Hopkins, was permitted to take movie films of the Cairo conference, permit me to state that my brother, an army officer, who was overseas nearly two years, including many months on Guadalcanal, and who was just permitted to return to take up pilot training, had taken some films while on his tour of duty overseas. However, upon his return here his films, his diary, and, as I now recall, also his camera were seized by authorities at Honolulu. They stated pictures were not supposed to be taken. Is the rule different in the European theater? If not, how does Hopkins propose to return the pictures to the States? Of course, he might have a drag. A FORMER DEMOCRAT.

VETO ON FOREIGN WPA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 5.—You are doing a grand job and we of the northwest admire and respect your guts, for that's what it takes to stand up for the United States these days—ahead of foreign countries; others place the United States at the end of the list of countries to be considered and looked out for. What we really need is a champion for the cause of the United States to represent the people here and abroad, or we are sunk.

The voters here at home turned down many a WPA job when it meant more and more local taxes, so why shouldn't they be given a voice in the expenditures on our foreign WPAs that are not directed toward winning the war?

SMART DUCKS.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—At two minutes before sunrise, before shooting is allowed, the ducks rise from the cornfields, fly out of gun shot to the open water, sit with the swells all day. And at two minutes after sunset, after shooting is not allowed, they rise from the open water and return to the cornfields.

The owner of the swampland, who used to get $10 per day per blind, gets nothing now as the duck hunters are disgusted and stay at home. Because that part of his land is unproductive and receives no revenue, he is unable to pay his taxes and loses his land.

When feeding was allowed the farmers sold millions of bushels of corn for duck feeding. Now, no feeding, no sale of corn, no profit, no tax.

Why cannot we be allowed to feed, use live decoys, limit the number of ducks for each person, secure revenue for the farmer, food for ourselves and others, and save points for all? J. T.

POST-WAR PLANS FOR ITALY.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 7.—The united nations have been fighting a long and hard war. We, as well as our allies, are sacrificing the lives of our men so that we may again live a peaceful life.

In 1933, Italy entered undefended Ethiopia and her aviators straffed and machine gunned the unarmed population. Again, in 1939, Mussolini's blackshirts displayed their cowardliness against Greece. However, the Greeks were a little tougher than Mussolini expected and in three months of fighting he called Hitler for assistance against this "powerful" Hellenic foe composed of a minute army of unequipped men.

Now, we hear talk of Italian relief and "give Italy another chance." Italy would not give us another chance. The post-war status of Italy should be similar to Germany's.

PVT. ULYSSES ARGRANAS.

FALA AND FUNERALS.

Onarga, Ill., Dec. 14.—A recent contributor to "The Voice of the People" expressed surprise that Fala did not accompany Mr. Roosevelt on his Cairo trip. The caption indicated that the little dog's limousine may have broken down. Is it not more probable that Fala was attending the military funeral accorded the dog of James Roosevelt?

The boys who fall in the deep jungle fighting have no funerals—military or otherwise—nor did those seen floating in the sea 10 miles from shore, after a recent battle in the Gilbert Islands.

NBC TELEVISION BRINGS TEHERAN CONFERENCE TO THOUSANDS

3 HIGH ABOVE THE ATLANTIC, the plane races against time across thousands of miles of open ocean. Then—America below! And swooping to earth it is met by special messengers who rush the films to NBC Television Studios in New York City.

4 READY FOR ACTION. All is speed here in the television studios as films are made ready—the final step before RCA television equipment in the NBC studios will send them out to waiting audiences.

SCHENECTADY
NEW YORK

5 SEEN IN 4 STATES AT THE SAME TIME. As scenes of the Teheran Conference streamed out to people in Metropolitan New York, New Jersey and Connecticut from the television tower atop the Empire State Building, they also went by relay to Philadelphia. NBC Television programs also are regularly rebroadcast from Schenectady, thus forming "network" television as it will some day span whole continents and circle the globe.

6 TO THE SMITHS AT HOME. What the Smiths and the Joneses and thousands of others saw was more than just a telecast of a major news event. They were also seeing a demonstration of what television will some day bring even faster, and to many more people, when television comes into its full flowering after the war.

TELEVISION NETWORK DEMONSTRATES in thousands of homes HOW MILLIONS WILL SEE WORLD EVENTS!

YES, it happened in four states—Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania! From comfortable armchairs, right at home people in those four states simultaneously witnessed the stirring scenes of the Teheran Conference. They saw the world's greatest statesmen, the President of the United States, the Prime Minister of England and the Russian Premier, parade before their eyes—a few hours after the films' official release. This was television in action today!

How it was done

n far-off Iran, newsreels captured the exciting scenes as fast ; they happened. With the cooperation of the U. S. Army Air Corps, a big four-motored plane sped the films to America—to NBC's television studios, where the pictures were put on the air via the NBC television transmitter on top of the Empire State Building, for television set owners in the states of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. These same pictures, via the air waves, were picked up for re-broadcast by the Philco television transmitter in Philadelphia, for the audience in that area.

Here was one of the most forceful demonstrations yet of what television will mean to all of us in the years ahead. But there will be this difference. Then you will not have to wait a day, or even a minute to see great events from your armchair as they occur. Events in far-off places, first in America, and some day around the world, will be seen in your home not an hour or a minute later but while they are happening.

When this war is won, the Radio Corporation of America will be in the forefront of those working to give you this "instantaneous" television picture of world events. Right now the day is being postponed because of the war. But all of us here at home can help speed its coming by staying on our job, by buying War Bonds, by giving "our best" in whatever way we work for the war.

A GIRL IN ANKLE SOCKS GOES ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Death Asked; Mother to Face Court Later.

BY CARL WIEGMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Burlington, Ky., Dec. 16.—Joan Kiger, 16 years old, a slender school girl wearing sweater, skirt, and ankle length socks, went on trial for her life here today in the Boone county Circuit court on a charge of murdering her brother, Jerry, 6, last Aug. 17.

Joan and her mother, Mrs. Jennie Kiger, 49, came to court together to answer indictments charging both with slaying Jerry and his father, Carl Kiger, 49, vice mayor and political boss of Covington, Ky.

Atty. Sawyer A. Smith, one of the leading Criminal court lawyers of Kentucky, who is defending the pair, moved for separate trials, and when the motion was granted by Judge Ward Yager the state announced it would proceed first against Joan on the charge of slaying her brother.

Mother Uses Crutches.

Mrs. Kiger supported herself on crutches as she came to court because she was wounded in the hip by one of the bullets from the 15 shots fired at her husband and son. The shooting occurred in the Kigers' summer home, Rosegate, near the town of Devon. State's Atty. Raymond L. Vincent has announced he would ask the death penalty for both defendants.

Smith began his fight to save Joan by filing a motion to quash evidence of policemen who questioned the girl after the killings. He charged they plied her with questions almost continuously for 16 hours, searched her body, and every thread of her clothing, and refused to let her see relatives and friends.

Charges Rights Violated.

He said this treatment amounted to giving the girl the third degree and was in violation of her legal rights. Hence, he said, the evidence obtained from Joan in the form of a written statement should be stricken. He filed Joan's affidavit setting forth details of the alleged mistreatment.

Prosecuting Attorney Vincent replied with affidavits from three policemen denying the girl was coerced or threatened and asserting she made her statement voluntarily.

Judge Yager denied the defense motion to quash the police testimony, explaining he believed the move was premature and that the issue could be decided later, when the witnesses in question are called to the stand.

She Chews Gum.

At the end of the day's session seven jurors, most of them farmers, had been selected. Five prospective jurors were excused because they said they had scruples against the death penalty and four were excused because they said they had formed an opinion about the case. The trial will be resumed at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

A small room behind the judge's bench has been set aside for newspaper reporters and telegraph operators. In the room are stored the two beds and mattresses on which Kiger and his son were shot to death. The head board of one bed shows three bullet marks.

CHARGES BIOFF LIED AT TRIAL TO GET OUT OF JAIL

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—The defense at the trial of seven men, six of them Chicagoans, charged with conspiring to extort money from motion picture company heads summed up today with an assertion that "this case took on the aspect of a prosecution wherein two unholy scoundrels tried to use this court to walk out [of prison] over the broken bones of the defendants."

James Murray, chief of defense counsel, told the jury Willie Bioff and George E. Browne, convicted labor racketeers, testified falsely in an effort to obtain clemency in connection with prison sentences they received in 1941 for extortion.

Browne, former president of the AFL International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, was sentenced to eight years, and Bioff, his former personal representative, to 10 years.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social service of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. H. A. inquires: "My husband is serving overseas, and we are expecting a baby next month. He has asked that I cable him at the time of the birth of the child. However, I have been informed by Western Union that my husband's A. P. O. number is not open for cablegrams. Can you tell me how he can be notified?"

ANSWER: Consult the Home Service division of the American Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue. That agency will forward messages concerning the birth of children to men overseas in cases where regular means of communication are not available.

Mrs. J. C. writes: "My family allowance checks have been $48 a month. My husband, who is a sergeant in the army, also provides an allowance for his previous wife. Can you tell me how this money is divided? What proportion of my allowance does the government pay, and how much is deducted from my husband's salary?"

ANSWER: It is difficult to answer your question without knowing the details of the court order for the support of your husband's previous wife. Previously, family allowances for the present wife and former wife divorced were apportioned between them, with the present wife receiving the larger family allowance. However, under recent rulings, the present wife will receive the full amount of the family allowance for a lawful wife, regardless of any other dependents the soldier may have. The former wife's allowance will be determined by the circumstances of her individual case.

Mrs. P. K. writes: "The war department has advised me that my husband, who is a private, is missing in action. I have had no further information, and almost a month has elapsed. Can you tell me how I can learn whether he is a prisoner of war?"

ANSWER: Just as soon as the war department has further information concerning your husband you will be informed. When, and if it is ascertained that he is a prisoner of war, you will be notified and provided with information on sending letters and packages to him. However, you must remember that information concerning prisoners of war generally takes at least several months to obtain.

Mrs. T. W. writes: "My son is in the merchant marine and has not been home since last March. We have made partial payment of his 1942 income tax but have not paid instalments recently due, because we were informed that men in the service did not have to pay such taxes if they were out of the country. I would like to be sure if that statement is true, since I would not like a fine to accumulate."

ANSWER: The local office of the department of internal revenue has advised me that up to date, men of the merchant marine are not given the same postponement of tax payment as men in the military and naval service overseas. They have the same status as civilians. I would suggest that you contact the department of internal revenue, 219 South Clark street, for further information on your specific problem.

2 WHO QUIT WAR JOBS FOR CRIME ARE SENTENCED

Two men, one of them an ex-convict, who gave up well paying war plant jobs in Detroit, Mich., and embarked on a robbery career in Chicago, were sent to the penitentiary yesterday by Chief Justice Benjamin P. Epsein in Criminal court.

Frank Cruder, 38 years old, an ex-convict, who quit a $375 month job, was sentenced to serve not less than seven years nor more than 15 years for robbery. His companion, Guido Di Pompo, 21, who was earning $80 a week when he turned to crime, was sentenced to a two to four year term. Both pleaded guilty.

On Nov. 12 the men got $206 and war bonds and stamps in the holdup of the Cass hotel, 640 North Wabash avenue. On Oct. 31 they got $560 in the robbery of the Grand theater, and on Nov. 26 they obtained $45 in the holdup of a shoe store at 50 South Clark street. Cruder was seized Nov. 27 as he attempted to rob the cashier of McVicker's theater. He named Di Pompo.

ADMITS KILLING CHICAGO DRIVER ON HITCH HIKE

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 16 [Special].—Earl Hoelscher, 22 years old, of Claremore, Okla., who claims to have been a marine on Guadalcanal, today signed a confession admitting that he killed and robbed Jack Scheine, 39, a Chicago herb salesman, the night of Nov. 19 near Fort Wayne, Ind. Scheine lived at 1310 Jackson boulevard.

Scheine, it was learned after the body was found in a ditch, shot thru the head, was on his way east to bid farewell to a son leaving for military service abroad. It also was known he had picked up a hitchhiker in a marine uniform the night before his body was found.

Captured in Gun Fight.

Hoelscher was captured here Saturday after being shot in a gun battle with two Des Moines detectives who had trailed him from the scene of a taxicab holdup. He confessed three such stickups and a cafe robbery. Hoelscher had emptied his pistol and had reloaded before he was brought down.

Part of a marine uniform was found in a ditch near Scheine's body in Indiana. It was stained with blood and was sent here. Hoelscher confessed after it was shown to him.

Hoelscher told the Des Moines police Scheine had picked him up in Chicago and that, after driving thru Fort Wayne, the two became tired and took a nap alongside the highway. He woke before Scheine, he said, and decided to kill his host and take his money.

Callous Story of Death.

He said he took his gun, placed it near Scheine's head, and fired. Then he took his victim's pocketbook and the $33 in it and drove on. A short distance away he tossed the body into a ditch, he said, adding he didn't know whether Scheine was dead then or not.

He drove back to Fort Wayne, abandoned Scheine's auto, and took a train to Des Moines, where two nights after his arrival he robbed the first cab driver.

Hoelscher was seriously wounded in his capture here and was held under guard in a local hospital after he had threatened never to be taken back to Indiana alive.

TWO MEN, WOMAN NAMED BY 4 IN $7,200 CON GAMES

Two men and a woman were held by state's attorney's police yesterday after they had been identified by four persons for allegedly swindling them of $7,200 in various confidence games ranging from the sale of narcotics and diamonds to the sale of land.

They are Mrs. Helen Novicki, 60 years old, who would not give police her address; Barney Dubay, 55, of 2050 Potomac avenue, an ex-convict, and Alexander Rzeuski, 39, of 220 Hamilton avenue. Lt. Tom Kelly of the state's attorney's police said he believed they may have obtained $50,000 in fraudulent transactions.

Kelly said they were wanted in Minneapolis, Minn., Jersey City, N. J., and Milwaukee, Wis., on similar charges of confidence game. He said they interested their victims, usually of foreign descent, in mysterious sales of articles at low prices.

Father Departs; Wife Kills Self

Open Notes Today

Marquette police last night sought Charles Schryer, whose wife, Lillian, 45, was found dead Wednesday in the kitchen of her home at 1911 Washburne avenue, with gas pouring from the open burners of the gas stove.

Notes which she left addressed to her husband and three sons in the army and navy will be opened at the inquest at 11 a. m. today in the county morgue. Four younger children are being cared for by relatives.

AGED MOTHER'S PLIGHT TOUCHES HEARTS OF MANY

Gifts of money, and letters and cards expressing sympathy with Mrs. Maggie Ardueser, 83 years old, whose two married daughters both refused to take her into their homes, have been received from a dozen states since THE TRIBUNE printed a story of her plight, Municipal Judge Frank Donoghue reported yesterday.

"Tragedy kept me from enjoying the company of my mother during her old age," a Cedar Rapids [Ia.] woman wrote. "May my little mite of cheerfulness help you to know that you are remembered."

A $20 check was received from a soldier stationed in a Mississippi army camp and one for $10 came from a man in Texas. The checks will be returned, Judge Donoghue said, inasmuch as Mrs. Ardueser is not in need. She is staying at Oak Park infirmary, county institution for the aged. Payment of $33 monthly for her care there is being made by her two daughters, Mrs. Lavine Toerpe, 1808 Taft avenue, Berkeley, and Mrs. Isabelle Bolten, 2517 Kimball avenue.

STIMSON HINTS AIR PRIORITY CANDIDATE BAN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Secretary Henry L. Stimson indicated today that political candidates, including presidential nominees, would have to conduct their campaigns without benefit of priorities for air transportation.

"Air travel priorities are issued to expedite the duties of those engaged in the war effort," he told a news conference. "I know of no intention at present to enlarge the field."

ARMY DEMANDS CITIZEN'S EXILE FROM THE EAST

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 16 (AP).—The army today asked the United States District court for an order to exclude Karl Scherzberg, 56 years old, a German-born naturalized citizen, from the eastern military area on the allegation he is dangerous to national security. Judge J. Cullen Ganey, presiding, took no action immediately.

Scherzberg resisted the motion, insisting that he was loyal, altho he testified he was glad the Germans "chased the British out of France" and that he sent packages to German war prisoners in Canada last Christmas. Before Pearl Harbor, he said, he wanted Germany to win the war, but has changed his views.

THERE'S A Right WAY for planning travel in wartime

A little extra care, a little extra foresight will make your travel plans work out better for you—and for wartime transportation! Your Greyhound agent can give you some valuable tips.

Get advance information ••• don't go by guesswork

Arrange your schedules and get your tickets well ahead of time to avoid delay and disappointment.

By-guess-and-by-gosh traveling causes unnecessary inconvenience and may mean missed connections.

Travel in mid-week ••• not on crowded week-ends

When possible, plan to leave and return on mid-week days when more seats are usually available.

Arrive at Terminal early ••• avoid last-minute confusion

You can help wartime travel by being early—allowing time to arrange baggage and other details.

Delay in returning to your bus at lunch and rest stops slows up service needlessly.

Travel light today ••• be sure to mark baggage

Take along less baggage—to save space and avoid unnecessary handling.

Put a tag or sticker with your name and home address outside or inside each bag.

U. of C. Colony Club Arranges 3 Gala Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE young women who will be participating in the traditional Christmas parties planned by the University Colony club will not be suffering from a shortage of dancing partners. Altho practically every young man over 18 who is a member of the group is in service, the University of Chicago campus has many young officers and cadets in army training courses who will take their places at the parties.

The three largest gatherings on the club's calendar are the annual dinner-dance of the high school group at 7 p. m. next Tuesday at the Windermere East; the annual Christmas ball for college age members and young marrieds Christmas night at the Shoreland hotel, also a dinner-dance, and a family roller skating party, to which children from 6th grade on up as well as their parents are invited, Dec. 27 at White City. Mrs. Thomas C. Mullins is chairman of the high school party.

Mrs. Rollin T. Chamberlin, who is president of the club, has three debutante daughters, the Misses Frances, Isabel, and Louise, who will be going to the Christmas ball. Service men stationed on the campus have been invited to this party. Among the many punch parties planned to precede this dance is one in the home of Mrs. Roderick McPherson to which the service men will go, along with the young women who will be taking them to the ball.

Among the young men who will be missing from the party is Lt. [j. g.] John Palmer, once reported missing in action and later as a German prisoner of war, whose wife is the former Carolyn Wheeler. Capt. Ambrose Richardson Jr. and his brother-in-law, Capt. Frank Peters, both of the army air forces, have been overseas for 16 months. Lt. Thomas Stouffer is in England, and Lt. William Thomas and Robert Gilbert, a doctor in the navy, are in the Pacific area.

Mrs. George Simpson is in charge of the family party. Other club officers are Mrs. William K. Mather, Mrs. Elmer Donahue, Mrs. Willis Van Pelt, Mrs. William Randall, and Mrs. William H. Spencer. The 7th and 8th grades Christmas dance will be held tomorrow in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gregory, and the 9th grade party will be held in the home of the Ronnoc Connors.

Engagement News.

Mrs. Earl A. White of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Dorothea Johnston, to Gerard G. Galassi of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Galassi of Cambridge, Mass. Miss White was graduated from Wellesley college. Her fiance, a graduate of Harvard and of its law school, is stationed in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Swift Wright of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Peggy Jean, to Corp. Donald Parker Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Waters of Glencoe. Miss Wright was graduated from the New Trier High school and, after completing a business course, is engaged in Red Cross work in Chicago. Corp. Waters was graduated from the Western Military academy and is stationed at Camp Ellis, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell C. Shepard of Montclair, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Lt. Arthur C. MacNeille of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. MacNeille of St. Charles. Miss Shepard is a provisional member of the Montclair Junior league. Lt. MacNeille is stationed in Detroit, where the wedding will take place Jan. 8.

Here and There.

Col. and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner will have a newcomer in their family to help them celebrate Christmas this year. The second child of their daughter, Mrs. William Curtis Taylor, was born Wednesday in Michael Reese hospital. While Lt. Taylor is at sea his wife and son, William Jr., and the baby, who has been named Mary Blair for her mother and great-grandmother, will be staying with the Gardners in Lake Forest.

Mrs. Frederick Rolland Carson will have the nicest Christmas present imaginable, for Ensign Carson has landed in this country after overseas duty with the navy and will be home for the holiday. It will be his first meeting with his new daughter, who has been named Camille Rolland for her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Pirie Carson.

The Calvin Littlefields will have their only son, Corp. Goodrich Littlefield, with them thru the Christ-

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

Twenty-six graduates of the home economics department of the University of Illinois are serving as medical department dietitians, planning and supervising the preparation of food for patients in army hospitals, the war department has revealed.

Nine of this group are serving overseas, and many of them under conditions that have taxed their ingenuity. Returning soldiers have recounted tales of meals planned by these women without equipment and sometimes before the arrival of supply trains.

Illinois has supplied a sizable portion of the medical department's dietitians. Among them is 1st Lt. Katherine E. Manchester, formerly of New Berlin and Springfield, Ill. Head of the medical department's dietitians, she was one of the first civilian dietitians to go into the army medical department thru civil service.

Capt. Margaret R. Stewart, Illinois WAC recruiting officer, announced yesterday that women recruited now for the WAC will not be called to active duty until after the holidays. An adequate recruiting staff will be on duty at the WAC offices, 175 West Jackson boulevard, daily, Capt. Stewart said.

Many of the 1,200 students in the Jones Commercial Evening school, 607 Plymouth court, are "women in war work" during the daylight hours and the experience of one of them is worth repeating. She is Miss Mabel S. Hansen, 3253 North Kostner avenue, who as a result of tinkering with her typewriter is to become an adding machine repair man—or woman—work that only men have done before.

Miss Hansen long had wanted to take her typewriter apart to see what made it "tick," but she never quite dared. One day, in response to an advertisment by a typewriter firm for girls with mechanical ability to train to rebuild and repair typewriters, she and six others arrived in the company's classroom. In front of each student was placed a typewriter on which she had to figure out repairs by looking at a book. A trained man was there to lend a helping hand when things became too difficult.

After a four month course Miss Hansen joined another firm, which is sending her to Hartford, Conn., Jan. 1 for a complete course in adding machine care.

Mothers, sisters, and husbands of members of St. Francis Xavier council, Knights of Columbus, will join council members tomorrow in contributing 50 pints of blood to the Red Cross for plasma for soldiers at the front. John Blase Meccia, past grand knight of the council, said this constituted the council's gift to service men.

From the Women's International Bowling congress comes the good news that members in Chicago have raised $3,000 since Oct. 15 to go toward purchasing ambulance airplanes.

The Navy Wives club of Lake Forest will be guests of the Highland Park service wives group at luncheon at 1 p. m. today at the Highland Park U. S. O. club.

Pvt. Elizabeth J. Rees of the WAC, who enlisted seven weeks ago, has been assigned as a filing clerk in the library at Fort Custer, Mich. A graduate of the University of Illinois, she was assistant librarian at Harrison and Bowen High schools and librarian at the Chicago vocational school before enlisting in the WAC.

Army Designs Battle Uniform for Its Nurses

"Uniforms have been our most difficult problem," says Capt. Esther R. McCafferty of Wilmington, Del., acting director of the United States army nurses corps in Britain.

The need is a new field uniform with plenty of pockets—big ones—in which the nurse can carry a spare shirt, change of underwear, tooth brush, and powder puff, in addition to helmet, gas mask, and other vital military equipment.

Such a uniform is being developed for the nurses who will go with the first hospital units after the allies establish beach heads. Experience learned in the African invasion is being utilized, and Lt. Col. Bernice Wilbur of Boston, director of army nurses in that theater, advocates more practical field dress.

The field uniform of khaki whipcord, is a slack number modeled after the British battle dress with a jacket that gives much freedom of arm movement. "It has enough pockets for a nurse to carry all she needs for several days, if she has to move rapidly," says Capt. McCafferty.

White uniforms for duty are to be replaced by brown and white striped seersucker frocks that launder easily and don't have to be ironed.

The traditional American nurses' street dress has been blue. "There is nothing more attractive than blue," says Capt. McCafferty, "but blue suits must be kept cleaned and well pressed—and cleaning in war time Britain is difficult."

Nurses arriving from the United States are wearing the new street uniform of olive drab, very similar to that of the WACs. As rapidly as possible the quartermaster corps is outfitting nurses already in this theater. But the small girls, those wearing sizes 12 and 14, must wait until more ships get in.

NORCROSS
GREETING CARDS

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Secretarial Secrets.

A man, successful in business, died a few weeks ago. His secretary who had been with him for about 10 years suddenly found herself right in the middle.

From all sides she was subjected to a barrage of questions from relatives—brothers, the mother, even the wife—about her employer's financial and business affairs.

As he had stipulated especially that he wished his secretary to remain in her present position until the estate was probated, her role was difficult. Each one who came to her had eloquent reasons for wanting to know certain things. Surely, the wife complained bitterly, she was entitled to any information when she had helped him build up his business!

The girl, considerably disturbed, telephoned this desk. She wanted guidance, but in her heart she knew what she should do. She knew:

That the word "secretary" means "one entrusted with secrets."

That she must safeguard her employer's interests from prying eyes, even tho they may be the eyes of a mother or wife or brother.

That no one has the right to ask a secretary to reveal information.

That if a man sees fit to keep his own counsel, it is his problem and his decision. If it doesn't meet with family approval, then it becomes a matter of personal relationships which do not affect the secretary's loyalty to the one from whom she has earned her living.

Recent Music Is Well Played in Orchestra Hall

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange conducting; Milton Preves, violist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Dec. 16, 1943, and scheduled for repetition this afternoon. The program:

"In Modo Giocosa," an overture..Helfer
"The Dancer Dead," pagan epitaph..............................Wald
Theme and Variations for Solo Viola and Orchestra..........Shulman
[First Chicago performance.]
Symphony, "Harold in Italy"...Berlioz
[Viola obbligato by Mr. Preves.]

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

People who object to hackneyed programs could have found nothing to cavil at last night when Hans Lange and the Chicago Symphony orchestra embarked on a concert made up of three compositions heard for the first time at Orchestra hall subscription concerts, and a revival of Berlioz' narrative symphony in the Byronic manner, "Harold in Italy." But people who object to dull concerts might have been able to build up a case. As a program, it was more provocative on paper than in performance.

Most interesting of the new works was Alan Shulman's Theme and Variations for Solo Viola and Orchestra, with Milton Preves as soloist. Now in the maritime service and here on leave to hear the first Chicago performance of his music, Mr. Shulman in pre-war days was a cellist and an industrious arranger of radio scores. He has an instinct for effective use of instruments and his variations on a pleasant theme are crisp, clear, and diverting, with a finale built from a brass chorale, a cadenza for the solo instrument, and a quiet aftermath that muses itself into silence. When Mr. Shulman finds something important to say in music, he has the vocabulary to make it count. Last night he shared numerous bows with Mr. Preves and Mr. Lange, who had given him the most persuasive kind of performance.

Walter Helfer's "In Modo Giocosa," previously played here by the Civic orchestra, is basically an attractive score, but much of its potential brilliance is obscured by thick orchestration that makes it lumber where it means to sparkle. It is worth weeding out. The evening's other contemporary composer, Max Wald, was on hand to take bows for "The Dancer Dead," the so-called pagan epitaph introduced here several years ago by the Illinois Symphony under the direction of Rudolph Ganz. It remains a capable piece of work with some evocative passages, but often written in an exaggerated, highly sentimental style.

The Berlioz score, not played on the regular programs in 24 seasons, rests on the laurels of "Symphonie Fantastique." Because of that fabulous score, Paganini commissioned it because he wanted to play his viola, and he is said to have paid 20,000 francs for it after it was rewritten. The first draft he declined because it had too many rests for the viola. "I must play all the time," he declared, which no doubt explains the reiterated passages that kept Mr. Preves so busy last night.

However, tho "Harold in Italy" has little to say, no one who handled orchestra like Berlioz could be entirely dull. The "melancholy dreamer" he made of the viola sings a gentle theme, the end of the first movement and the finale stir memories of the "Fantastique," and the serenade has a crystal clarity that meant a master hand at work. The performance was solicitude itself.

Nifty Neckties Can Be Had for His Christmas

BY REA SEEGER.

It's been a couple of years since men have sniffed derisively over gift ties bestowed by the women. For super ties are now available that are positively proof against anything but hearty approval, even of the most exacting gentleman on your list. These pluperfect cravats are, 'tis true, designed and fashioned by a woman, but what an understanding wizard. The finest, and this year what is probably the last of the all-silks, plus distinctive block printed designs, make them super-dupers; proof against any man's disdain.

These cravats are made to delight all shopping women around holiday time. They are frankly expensive but worth every cent. The colors are optional, brilliant or subdued in a grand selection. Every design or print is distinctive—one with ivy leaves, another with masks and wand and bells of the court jester, again a design of chessmen on a squared-off background, another of fish, others with aquatic leaves and sea horses, another design of faces, and ties with the colored signs of the zodiac to proclaim the wearer's birthday.

One of the designs caricatures Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin, another has all the musical instruments from flute to bass fiddle, and some sensational affairs have designs of feminine figures sans slacks or chiffon veils. While many of the last mentioned sound a bit bizarre, there are plenty of handsome designs of controled wit and interest. The colors are especially rich and effective. These Countess Mara cravats are sensational; every man who sees them wants one.

Miss Vestal's Wedding Set for Christmas

Christmas is the day set for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Millet Vestal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Vestal of Granville avenue, and Lt. Walter Doniat Braun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Braun of Shorewood, Wis. The ceremony will take place at noon in the Royal Praesidio chapel at Monterey, Cal., and Lt. Braun and his bride will live in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Miss Vestal, a niece of the late Gen. Lawrence V. Regan, has been working for her master's degree in the school of social work at Loyola university, having been graduated from Mundelein college. Lt. Braun, a nephew of Miss Joanna and Miss Thecla Doniat and of Henry Doniat of Chicago, was graduated from Marquette university and left his studies at its law school to enter the army. He is stationed at Fort Ord, Cal.

Within four days Capt. Ralph E. Johnson and his fiancée, Miss Jean Spence, arrived from Tampa, Fla., made sudden plans to be married, went thru with the ceremony in the Hinsdale home of his brother and sister-in-law, the junior Lawrence E. Johnsons, and departed for the south. Altho the wedding was hastily arranged, the bride was able to wear a wedding dress, the gown in which her new sister-in-law, Mrs. Dederich Lunde Jr., was married.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Spence, were unable to arrive from Tampa in time for the ceremony Tuesday, but Capt. Johnson's other sister, Mrs. Pat Imes, came from her home in Louisville, Ky. Mr. Johnson was his son's best man. Capt. Johnson, a graduate of Dartmouth and former student at Northwestern university's law school, has taken his bride back to Tampa.

Announcement is made of the marriage yesterday of Miss Viola W. Raymond, daughter of Alfred L. Raymond of Owosso, Mich., and Paul D. Newey of Detroit, formerly of Chicago. The ceremony took place in the Assyrian Congregational church, with the bridegroom's father, the Rev. Paul S. Newey, officiating. A dinner followed at the Belmont hotel. The bride attended Michigan State college and is a graduate of the nursing school of Grace hospital in Detroit. Mr. Newey was graduated from the John Marshall Law school and attended Central college and Northwestern university.

The marriage of Miss Mina Fox, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Fox of New York City, to Pvt. Robert L. Chappelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Chappelle of Muncie, Ind., will take place at noon today.

Jewish Feast of Lights Will Start Tuesday

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The eight day feast of lights will be observed beginning Tuesday night at sundown in all Jewish communities. Known also as Chanukah, the period recalls the victory of Jewish ideals over the idolatry of the Syrian Greeks under the Hitler of his day, Antiochus Epiphanes, who was defeated by Judas Maccabeus in 165 B. C.

Beginning on the 25th day of the Jewish month Kislev, the ceremonials recall the rededication of the temple in Jerusalem. Home festivities include the daily lighting of one of the eight candles in the Chanukah lamp and the spinning of a toplike toy by the children with its four Hebrew letters—the initials of Hebrew words meaning "A great miracle happened there."

The miracle refers both to the astonishing victory of Judas and to the cruse of oil in the temple with sufficient oil for only one day of the rededication instead of the necessary eight. The cruse was miraculously replenished.

Zionists of Chicago will hold their Chanukah festival Sunday, Dec. 26, in the Morrison hotel, with Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York, president of the Zionist organization of America, delivering the principal address. An objective of the occasion will be a demand for the abrogation of the British white paper which seeks termination of Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Nathan D. Kaplan, president of the Chicago Zionist organization, announced that the festival has special significance this year in view of the white paper. He said many persons are misled by recent statements of the British colonial secretary before parliament purporting to show a moderation of the paper's severity.

"The fact is that the announcement merely proclaimed an extension of time for the admittance of some 31,000 refugees who still are entitled to enter Palestine notwithstanding the white paper but who have been prevented from doing so by war conditions," he said.

The Chicago division of the nonsectarian emergency committee to save the Jewish people of Europe, has launched a campaign to obtain a million signers to a petition addressed to President Roosevelt and congress for the establishment of an intergovernmental agency for the protection of European Jews. The local campaign is headed by Irving Taitel, with similar drives in all other cities of the country.

Allen B. Gellman, Chicago manufacturer, has been named chairman of the patron's dinner of the Hebrew Theological college to be held Jan. 9 in the Hotel Sherman. The dinner will commemorate the 22d anniversary of the founding of the college.

Army Restores Injured Flyers to Useful Lives

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 13.—Casualties of the army air forces are being reclaimed. Thru rehabilitation men are being returned to service who might once have been forgotten.

One of the first of the great rehabilitation centers is housed in the Army Air Forces Regional Station hospital, the former Miami Biltmore hotel, in Coral Gables. In this cool cream colored building, set in palms and bougainvillea and surrounded by a world famous golf course and swimming pools, war-torn lives and bodies are being put together again.

Take Sgt. Johnny Jones. Johnny, an aerial gunner, was wounded by anti-aircraft fire in North Africa. His legs were badly shot up and he can never again attain flying status.

Johnny is treated in an overseas hospital and then flown to Miami. From here he is sent to a general hospital for further medical and surgical care. Soon he is returned and assigned for rehabilitation.

In the rehabilitation wards, Johnny is reëxamined, with an emphasis on his possible disability. His case is comparatively simple. His legs need strengthening, so a graduated series of exercises to compensate and reëducate the affected parts is worked out.

As his strength returns, Johnny is allowed to do more and more. One day he is permitted to play two holes of golf. Within a few weeks he is playing nine holes, and a little later, 18. Soon he starts to swim again and to play baseball. He is almost well.

A personnel officer has advised that the air forces need gunnery instructors and simultaneously with his medical treatment, Johnny is learning to teach gunnery. He is supplied with text books and other publications. He learns teaching methods from instructors and practices on training devices and on a skeet range.

When his legs are well and his training complete, Johnny is assigned to a field as an instructor. He has been "salvaged" by and for his service.

The case of Johnny's pilot friend, Capt. Brown, is more complicated. Capt. Brown suffered a broken back in a crash in Sicily. He is paralyzed from the waist down and may never walk again.

Capt. Brown had no desire to live when he was returned to Miami. He believed his future was dead. Thru long, quiet talks with a physician, he has gained new hope. The chaplain is helping him and so are the Red Cross workers stationed in the hospital.

From the first, Capt. Brown is being taught to care for himself. By grasping the bars over his bed he can turn himself over. He is learning to dress himself.

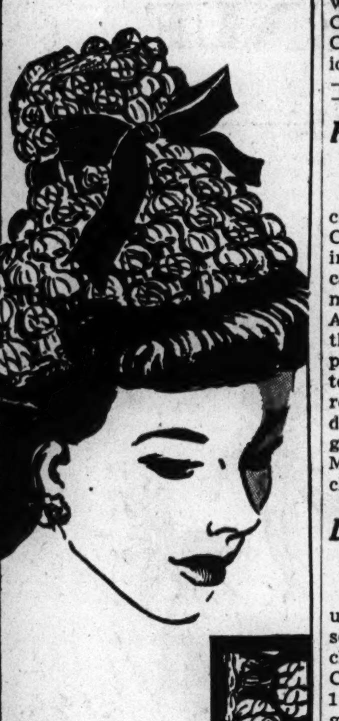
Soon he will be fitted with double leg braces and given a pair of crutches. Slowly he will learn to walk. A few steps will stretch into hundreds.

Then, one day, he will be sent to the traffic shop. There he will learn to go up and down bus steps. He will step down off a curb, cross a model street, and mount the curb on the other side. In time he will be able to make the crossing in the period it takes a traffic light to change.

Altho Capt. Brown never will fly again, he does not spend his days in bed doing handicraft. He was a good navigator once. Now he is learning to teach navigation.

Rehabilitation still is a new job for the air forces. Only two such centers are now in operation, the one in Coral Gables and the other in the former Pauling Boys' school in White Plains, N. Y. Six others are being planned, one of which will be in the Chicago area.

Crocheted Hat



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This crocheted hat is a quick and easy trick for every needleworker. Made of a popcorn stitch, it is done in the popular fashion with high crown which is trimmed with velvet ribbon and a tailored bow at the front.

Religious News Notes

In a spirit of deep humility, a tender compassion for all the sufferings in all the world, and a fervent thanksgiving for the knowledge there will come a better day, 'we approach this Christmastide. — Dr. Frederick Stamm, in First Congregational church Christmas announcements.

"His Christmas," which means the service man's, will be first on the list of Nativity observances at Edison Park Lutheran church, Avondale and Oliphant avenues. After depicting the fighting man's Christmas Sunday afternoon and night, together with candlelight processionals, the congregation will look forward to the midnight Christmas eve service and Julatta early Christmas morning. . . . Dates for the Northern Baptist convention sessions have been set for May 23 to 26 at Atlantic City, N. J. . . . Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, head of the 6th service command, has awarded certificates to 300 churches in the area acknowledging patriotic services in releasing pastors for service as chaplains. The certificates are signed by the chief of chaplains and awarded on request to him from the chaplains. . . . Dr. Harold Ruopp of Central church, Orchestra hall, announces the Christmas services Sunday morning will follow, by request, last year's pattern as based on the Nativity story in Scripture and song, including the Hallelujah chorus. . . . Bishop H. Lester Smith of the Methodist area of Cincinnati, O., has been elected president of the church's council of bishops, succeeding Bishop W. W. Peele of Richmond, Va.

The Harbor of Peace creche, on Michigan avenue at Congress plaza, has been completed by the Chicago Building Trades council, 130 North Wells street. It will be fitted with the traditional figures, and landscaped by the Chicago federation of labor unions in time for its dedication at 4:30 p. m. Sunday. The crib is 75 feet long, 35 feet high, and 25 feet deep. . . . Dr. John W. Harms, executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, has announced the naming of Jan. 16 as Federation Sunday by the federation trustees. . . . The day will launch a campaign for $88,315 for 1944 budgets. . . . The quarter of a century ministry of Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle at First Methodist church, Evanston, will be celebrated by the congregation with a campaign to erase the church's indebtedness of $66,000. The church, pulpit, and congregation are among the most eminent in American Methodism. . . . Mrs. Robert Peterson again will direct the Holy Nativity pageant Sunday night in the sanctuary of Fourth Presbyterian church. The pageant, with its pantomime, strolling carolers, and children's chorales, attracts throngs. . . . A library in the name of the Norman Rubin memorial will be dedicated Sunday night at Humboldt Boulevard temple, 1908 Humboldt boulevard, by Rabbi Morris A. Gutstein, with Dr. Leo L. Honor delivering the address. The library memorializes a late pupil of the synagogue's Hebrew school.

Zionists night will be observed tonight in coöperation with the Chicago division, Zionist organization, by the Men's club of Anshe Sholom, Independence boulevard and Polk street. . . . Dr. G. A. Papperman has announced his resignation as pastor of Irving Park Presbyterian church, 4045 North Keeler avenue, to take effect Jan. 1. A farewell reception for him and his family will be given next Wednesday. . . . The Rev. Dr. William Dunphy, head of Canterbury house, Northwestern university, has become associate rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. . . . Lutheran Unity note: Fifty-five Missouri synod pastors, 47 United Lutheran pastors, 12 Augustana, eight American Lutheran, and two Norwegian recently united in a pledge at a Lutheran clergy mass meeting in New York to avoid "everything which hinders union." . . . "The Shepherd Who Did Not Go" is the title of tonight's pageant at University Church of the Disciples, 5655 University avenue, directed by Mrs. B. Fred Wise. . . . Dr. William P. Merrill, former Chicago minister, will preach on "Seven Bells of Christmas" Sunday night at the Chicago Sunday Evening club service, Orchestra hall.

COUNTY SCHOOLS ASKED TO CLOSE TO CHECK COLDS

Begin Holiday Today, Health Chief Urges.

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health director, yesterday advised half of the suburban and rural schools to begin their Christmas vacation this evening instead of next Wednesday to help check the rapidly spreading epidemic of severe colds. Dr. Piszczek explained that, altho each school board will make its own decision, he expected that all of them will follow his recommendation.

The remainder of the 194 school boards in Cook county had planned originally to close for the holidays this afternoon.

Pneumonia Increasing.

Dr. Piszczek said he based his decision on nurses' reports that one-third of the pupils in county schools were absent. He said closing the schools would cut down contacts among children and adolescents when the widespread upper respiratory ailment—believed to be the grippe, influenza, or some undetermined infection—appeared to be increasing in this part of the country.

Dr. Piszczek disclosed that pneumonia, too, is increasing in prevalence in the county. From Sunday thru Wednesday, he said, 26 pneumonia cases and 5 deaths from it were reported. More than double the normal figures for late autumn and early winter.

During the 24 hours up to yesterday morning seven new cases of pneumonia and two deaths were reported, he added. Dr. Piszczek declared that lately he had received reports of more cases of earaches and complications resulting in a general body weakness which lingers four or five days.

No New Paralysis Cases.

No new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in the county. In Chicago during the 24 hours ending yesterday morning, 39 cases of pneumonia and 14 deaths were reported.

The office of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, announced that the number of pneumonia cases in Chicago is not unusual for this time of year.

Wine with the meal
helps make the Holidays

OVER THESE HOLIDAYS especially, enjoy wine with dinner. For wine brings to table a kindly good cheer. These days, that's helpful.

You'll still find many excellent California wines at your dealer's. See him today for your holiday supply. Wine Advisory Board, San Francisco, California.

Sweet Potatoes Make a Plain or Fancy Dish

BY MARY MEADE.

Numerous varieties of sweet potatoes were in existence when colonists first settled this country, but you may find only a few varieties on the market now. The very moist sweet potato, sometimes called yam, is the most popular. The true yam, however, is a different plant entirely, and its use as a food is somewhat limited.

Most persons consider sweet potatoes a traditional accessory to the holiday feast, and they're seldom eaten like good old "spuds." True, they're delicious candied and glazed or mashed with a fluffy marshmallow topping, but don't overlook the fact that they're good just baked, or browned along with the Sunday roast.

Baked Sweet Potatoes.

Select smooth, medium sized potatoes, clean thoroly, grease slightly, and place on rack in hot oven [450 to 500 degrees]. Bake until tender, 30 to 40 minutes. To test when done squeeze the potato rather than pierce with a fork. When done break the skin to prevent sogginess and serve at once.

Browned Sweet Potatoes.

Wash and pare potatoes and cut in halves lengthwise. Place in pan in which meat is roasting. Bake about 50 to 60 minutes or until tender and lightly browned, basting with drippings in pan or turning occasionally to brown all sides. [Potatoes may be brushed with fat first, if desired, to prevent crustiness.] Serve on platter with roast.

Sherried Sweet Potatoes.
[Serves six].

6 medium sized sweet potatoes
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup sherry
2 tablespoons margarine

Wash potatoes and boil until tender; drain, peel, and cut into halves lengthwise. Bring sugar and sherry to a boil; dip potatoes into sirup and place in greased baking pan; dot with margarine and add remaining sirup. Bake in hot oven [400 degrees] for 20 minutes, basting occasionally with sirup. [One-fourth cup sweet cider may be substituted for sherry.]

Sweet Potatoes with Cranberries.
[Serves six].

6 large sweet potatoes
1½ cups canned or cooked, strained cranberry sauce
3 tablespoons margarine
⅓ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Boil sweet potatoes until tender; peel and cut in halves lengthwise; scoop out halves slightly. Place six halves in greased baking dish, fill center with cranberry sauce, and top with remaining halves. Melt margarine; add sugar, salt, and nuts; spread over potatoes. Bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] for 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned.

Sweet Potato-Nut Loaf.
[Serves six.]

3 cups mashed sweet potatoes
⅔ cup chopped nutmeats
3 tablespoons margarine
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten

Mash potatoes while hot; add ⅓ cup nutmeats, margarine, seasonings, half of crumbs, and beaten egg. Mix thoroly. Pack into greased loaf pan or casserole and sprinkle with remaining crumbs and nutmeats. Bake ½ hour in moderate oven [350 degrees].

Apple-Sausage-Sweet Potato. Casserole.
[Serves six].

3 medium sized sweet potatoes
1 pound link sausages
1 large apple, sliced
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup sausage drippings
¼ cup boiling water
Buttered crumbs

Boil potatoes until tender. Pare and cut in half lengthwise. Line the bottom of well greased baking dish with potatoes. Fry sausages until browned. Place sausages over potatoes and put sliced or chopped apple on top. Sprinkle with brown sugar and pour drippings and water over. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake at 375 degrees for about 40 minutes or until potatoes are tender.

Turn in waste fats for points and pennies.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Barbecued Fish.
[Serves six to eight.]

1 3 to 4 pound red snapper, whitefish or bass
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon fat
2 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 cup catsup
½ cup water
Salt and pepper

Clean fish and place in greased shallow pan. Brown onion in fat; add brown sugar, vinegar, lemon juice, salt, Worcestershire sauce, catsup and water. Simmer 5 minutes. Sprinkle fish with salt and pepper and pour sauce over it. Bake in a hot [425 degrees] oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 and continue baking 35 to 45 minutes longer.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

PROSPECTIVE DUEL.

Dunn backed away, slowly, stiff legged, his feet wide apart. He moved across the sidewalk and passed into the store.

"Why did you do that?" Brock demanded of Reynolds. "He might of killed me while you were holding my hand."

The stock detective glared at him. "Why should I get outa town?"

"Because I say so." The stony eyes of Reynolds drilled into the man steadily. "You take orders. I give them. If and when we want trouble started, we'll give the word. Get going."

Brock hung in the wind a moment, his face dark with anger, the sense of outraged pride strong in him. But in the looks of these men who employed him to do their dirty work he found no encouragement. He thrust the revolver back in its holster, turned on his heel, and clumped back in the direction from which he and his companions had come.

"Exit Mr. Brock," drawled Neal, "who objects to being reminded of Thorne and Norwood."

"They got what they asked for," Cross retorted brutally. "As Dagwell did. You'll live longer if you keep that fixed in yore mind, MacGowan."

"Sounds a little like a threat," Neal said.

"Call it a warning. It's a showdown."

"With Mr. Cross being the lord of the high justice?" Neal's smile was a scornful challenge.

He let his eyes drift coolly from one to another, brushed past Manson, and walked up the street without once looking back. Neal gravitated to the postoffice to send off a money order. While he was writing the application a hand fell on his shoulder and a voice cried gaily, "Run down at last, you old son of a' gun."

The owner of the hand and voice was Pete Driskill, a cowboy he had not seen in five years.

Neal looked at his watch. "We'd better be hitting the trail if we expect to get to the ranch for supper," he suggested.

Outside the store they met Dr. Seneca. He glanced at Driskill and made a motion of his hand to draw MacGowan away.

"Say anything you like before Pete. You know Driskill, don't you, doctor?"

"I mended a busted leg for him once, but I didn't recognize him at first. Heard about the trouble between Allan Dunn and that fellow Brock?" he asked.

"Yes, I was present. Brock has left town, hasn't he?"

"No. He's here drinking. He sent word to Dunn that he would shoot on sight unless he took back what he said."

"Where is he?"

"In the Yellowstone. Dunn was down at the Babcock corral a little while ago."

"I've got to stop this if I can." Neal thought fast. Cross probably would not lift a finger. Reynolds was the best man to handle Brock.

Seneca offered to carry a message to Reynolds.

"Tell him I'll try to call off Dunn if he will work on Brock," Neal said. "We haven't much time left. They will both be on the street before dark."

Driskill walked down toward the corral with MacGowan. They met Dunn coming up town. He and Driskill shook hands. But Neal noticed that his eyes strayed past Pete and searched the street warily.

"Meet you at the Round Up for a drink in half an hour or so," Dunn promised. "I've got to see a man first."

"We know who that man is, Allan," Neal said. "I'll be glad to try to fix it up."

Dunn shook his head. "Nothing I can do about it. It's his choice, not mine. He sent word for me to be ready."

"Will you wait in the Round Up a few minutes while I talk with him? Maybe he'll take back his message."

Neal left the two men in the Round Up and hurried to the Yellowstone. On the way he met Seneca with the news that Reynolds had departed for the ranch.

"That's bad," Neal said. "I don't believe I can do much with Brock. He never liked me."

He found Brock at the bar with two or three cronies.

"May I have a word with you?" MacGowan asked.

"Sure. Right here. Spit it out."

"I mean alone."

Brock's face was flushed with drink but he was not intoxicated. "No. I don't want to have a thing to do with you. If you've got anything to say, unbutton yore lip right where you're at."

Neal knew he had to speak here or not at all.

"About you and Dunn. I've just been with him. I think he would call this quits if you'd meet him half way."

"He sent you here to crawl for him, did he?"

"No, Brock. I'm on my own. If you and he meet on the street tonight, one or both of you will be buried tomorrow. Let me tell him that you'll withdraw what you have said if he will do the same."

In moments of decision when passions are involved there is sometimes present a fool who can with a word undo the influence of the wise. There was one in the room now.

He said: "Better take back what you said, Brock. Dunn is a tough customer."

Neal saw instantly that whatever chance he might have had of moving Brock was gone. "He never saw the hour he could get me. Tell him, MacGowan, that at 6 o'clock I'll walk down Trail's End to meet him."

"You bet I am. If he's scared he'd better fork a bronc and ride outa town. He's got just 15 minutes."

Neal walked back to the Round Up. Dunn and Driskill were sitting at a small table.

"You didn't get anywhere," he said.

MacGowan shook his head. "No. He told me he would be coming down the street looking for you inside of 15 minutes. There is still time to leave town, Allan."

"Tell him that." The eyes of the man from the Gap were bleak.

Few Chocolate Squares Make Ice Cream Sauce

A few squares of your precious unsweetened chocolate will make a generous amount of ice cream sauce. Cut 4 squares of chocolate into small pieces and combine with 1 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup water. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and store in covered jar in refrigerator. It's enough sauce for 12 to 14 servings.

Nuremberg Cookies Tasty Yule Treat; Contain No Butter

Crisp little cookies are an important addition to the Yuletide party table and these spicy nuggets are favorites. Fortunately, they contain no butter or shortening.

Nuremberg Cookies.

2 eggs, separated
½ cup confectioners' sugar
¾ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Fold in the sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add the well beaten egg yolks, and the flour which has been sifted with salt and spices. Fold in the grated rind and nutmeats. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until light brown, 10 to 15 minutes.

Ground Beef Toastwiches Will Be Satisfying Snacks

These ground beef toastwiches are satisfying snacks at the late evening party. To serve four, mix ½ pound ground beef, ½ cup milk, 1 tablespoon minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Toast 4 slices of bread on one side and spread the other side with butter and prepared mustard. Spread with meat mixture and dot with a little bacon fat. Broil for 5 to 7 minutes and serve immediately.

Skins of Link Sausages Should Not Be Pierced

The skins of link sausage should not be pierced either before or during cooking, for the skin tends to hold in the flavor and juices of the meat. An unbroken skin gives a better looking product, too. Use kitchen tongs or a spoon to turn the sausage during cooking, to prevent breaking the skins.

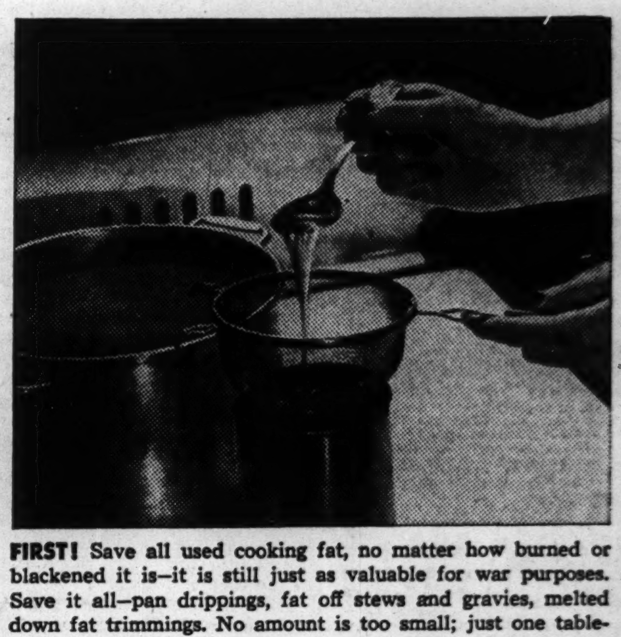
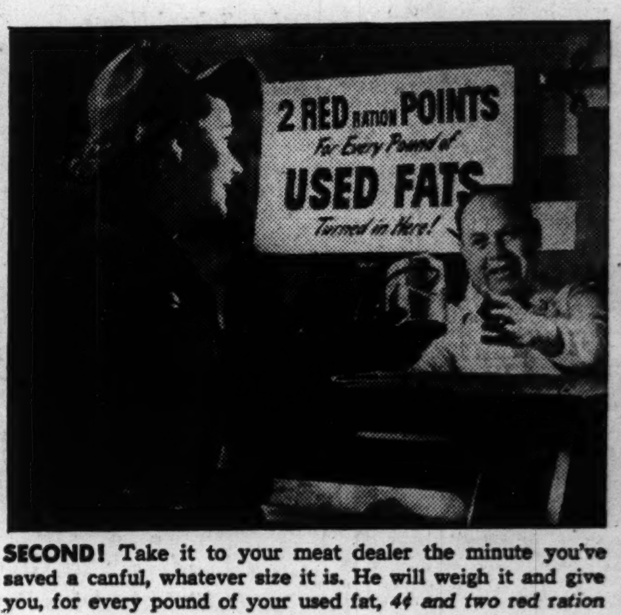
How and Where to Get Your FREE RED POINTS for Used Cooking Fats

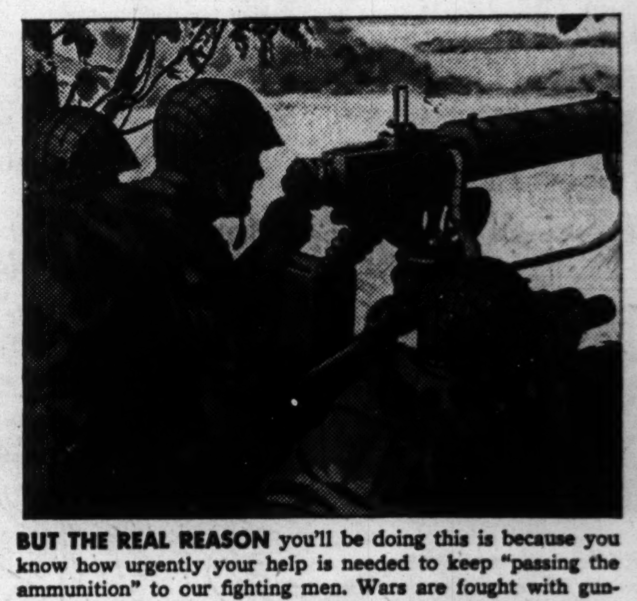


FIRST! Save all used cooking fat, no matter how burned or blackened it is—it is still just as valuable for war purposes. Save it all—pan drippings, fat off stews and gravies, melted down fat trimmings. No amount is too small; just one tablespoonful makes 5 machine gun bullets or 73 smallpox vaccines for our fighting men. Save it in any kind of clean tin can, but please, not glass!



2 RED RATION POINTS For Every Pound of USED FATS Turned in Here!

SECOND! Take it to your meat dealer the minute you've saved a canful, whatever size it is. He will weigh it and give you, for every pound of your used fat, 4¢ and two red ration points which you can use any time, anywhere, for the purchase of meat, butter or any other product requiring red stamps.



BUT THE REAL REASON you'll be doing this is because you know how urgently your help is needed to keep "passing the ammunition" to our fighting men. Wars are fought with gunpowder; men are saved by medicine. For both, glycerine from fat is essential. Start saving your used cooking fats today. Put an old can on the back of the stove and keep it there to hold every drop. When the can's full, turn it in!

U. of C. Colony Club Arranges 3 Gala Parties

mas holidays. Corp. Littlefield is stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn.

About 130 boys and girls who attend the North Shore Country Day school and New Trier High school will gather in the village of the Indian Hill club for dancing tonight. Their hostesses will be Sally Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Muscoe Burnett Jr.; Patti Carolan, daughter of the George Carolans; Genie Ann Gerard, daughter of the James Gerards, and Nancy Northrup, daughter of the Louis Northrups.

On the Calendar.

Alumnae of the Roycemore school will be coming back to the school Dec. 26 for a tea which the Roycemore association is giving from 4 to 7 p. m. Officers of the association and members of the senior class will serve as hostesses in the school gymnasium. On the committee for the party are Mrs. Thomas S. McKeown, Mrs. W. Porter Sullivan, Mrs. Harry P. Galbraith, Miss Virginia Russell, and Mrs. Lawrence Denman. Mrs. Rockwood S. Edwards is president of the association.

Students at the school, which closes today, have a full calendar for the holidays. On Monday Miss Nancy Brown and Miss Betty Reid will give a tea in the latter's home in Evanston. Miss Joan Burgess will be hostess at tea Thursday in Hubbard Woods. Another open house is planned for Dec. 26 by Miss India Parkhill, and on the following day a similar party will be given by Miss Eloise Hughes. Miss Sally Snyder, a member of the junior class, will be hostess at tea the 28th, and Miss Janis Hays will hold open house New Year's day. Miss Margaret Jo Laird, Miss Jeannette Kempf, and Miss Jane Peterson will be taking some of their classmates to the Pump room for luncheon and on to the theater Feb. 5.

Other School News.

The Francis W. Parker school's extensive holiday program will run thru Dec. 28, when the varsity basketball team will play the alumni at 7:30 p. m., with an informal dance following. The last gathering before school is closed for the holidays will be the Christmas vesper service today. Mrs. John A. Holabird, Mrs. Edward McDougal, Mrs. William Pattison, and Mrs. Edwin Eisendrath will give a party for the high school in the new elementary school, tomorrow night.

The Girls' and Boys' Latin schools and the North Shore Country Day all are closing today, with appropriate ceremonies. The Ferry Hall school is holding its annual Christmas dinner tomorrow, followed by a performance of "What Men Live By." The Harris school's vacation runs from next Wednesday until Jan. 5.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 16.—Pat O'Brien's first independent picture for Columbia release will be "Pile Buck" by John and Ward Hawkins. It's a thriller with shipyards as background. There's love, intrigue, spies, everything. He's borrowed Carole Landis to play opposite him, and his old time running mate, Chester Morris, does his brother. Pat's combined names of his two kids for name of his company. It's Terneen. . . . When I read "Pile Buck," I wondered why somebody hadn't grabbed it. Pat O'Brien already had. . . . Jean Arthur, who's quietly visiting hospitals back east, is staying on over the holidays to do more instead of coming home for Christmas. . . . Vera Ralston gets "Lady from Lisbon" as her next. Following that, "Gay Blades"—an ice operetta which will put her back on skates. She's had a twirl in New York without skates. . . . Remember the red headed boy without teeth in Hal Roach's comedies back in 1925? Well, he's Lt. L. R. Largey, one of the outstanding heroes of Tarawa.

Carole Landis.

Chester Morris.

Jean Arthur.

Harsh Words.

Hollywood women's press club again is in a dither about our most uncoöperative stars and star-esses. Fellows it's voting on are Errol Flynn, Charles Boyer, and Bing Crosby. And the gals, Joan Fontaine, Greer Garson, and Ginger Rogers. The most coöperative are Ann Sheridan, Lucille Ball, and Carole Landis; among the men, Humphrey Bogart, Bob Hope, and George Murphy. I asked about Garbo, Judy Garland, Deanna Durbin, Mickey Rooney, and Spencer Tracy. They replied, "We don't consider them one way or another." . . . One good thing came out of the Addison Randall-Barbara Bennett-Morton Downey row in a New York night club. It rendered Barbara speechless—first time I've ever known that to happen.

Going Up Fast.

Tom Drake, in four months, has done all right. He played second lead to Van Johnson in "Two Sisters and a Sailor," and is now opposite Judy Garland in "Meet Me in St. Louis." That's one laid at the turn of the century. Judy, in the stiff, striped dresses of the period, looks like something that stepped right down off the wall. Poor Mary Astor, in a wired collar and all, was in the kitchen over a hot cook stove helping prepare family dinner, with Marjorie Main as cook, sassy as the girls of today—in fact, sassier. Marjorie was putting one over on mother so Judy could sneak out and do as she liked.

Around Town.

Ran into Cary Grant, who tells me he doesn't know when he'll begin his next, but Leo McCarey is working on it. Cary was bundled to the throat, and when I asked why, he said. "I'm the only one on our set who hasn't yet caught flu. I'm trying to button out the germs." . . . Richard Carlsons will have a different Christmas. Four years ago we all spent it together at Tucca Loma. This year he's Lt. Richard Carlson of the navy, and his wife and son, Hank, are back east with him. He goes on active duty Jan. 1. . . . Mary McDonald testing for part next to Linda Darnell in "The Moon is Their Mistress." . . . Bob Preston blew in town for 48 hours' liberty. He's off again to Florida where he'll spend Christmas.

Nicely Put, Eddie.

I liked Eddie Cantor's speech to Joan Davis when he crowned her as the radio comedienne of the year. Said he, "You, too, Joan, are a soldier. It's true we comics can't build tanks, planes, and ships. But if hitting the funny bone can help, you can count on the Joan Davises to do their part. Comedy isn't just a sugar-coated bromide. Laughter is an oxygen tank for free breathing democracy. It takes courage to laugh in the face of adversity. So I award you this crown as queen of comedy. On you it looks good. You'll wear it well as you go about making us laugh away frustration and bitterness. For in your hands every quip is a whip that will help rout General Calamity and Major Catastrophe."

Loyola Confers Its Degrees on 153 Tomorrow

At the December graduation exercises of Loyola university, to be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the Madonna Della Strada chapel on the lake shore campus, 153 graduates from 20 different states will receive degrees from the Rev. Joseph M. Egan, president. A high mass and a commencement address by the Rev. William J. Millor, assistant professor of classical languages, will precede the awarding of degrees.

Commissions will be conferred on 54 young doctors who have completed medical studies under the army specialized training and navy V-12 programs. Capt. Edwin P. Rogers and Ensign William F. Smith, officers in charge at the university, will administer the oaths of office. Lt. Col. Clarence P. Evers and Capt. B. B. Wygant, commanding officers of the army training and V-12 programs in Chicago professional schools, will attend.

The 61 members of the first graduating class of Northwestern university's technological institute gathered yesterday in the faculty lounge at the institute and placed a wreath beneath the portrait of Walter P. Murphy, the institute's founder, on the first anniversary of his death. Mr. Murphy, whose gifts to the institute totaled $31,735,000, died Dec. 16, 1942.

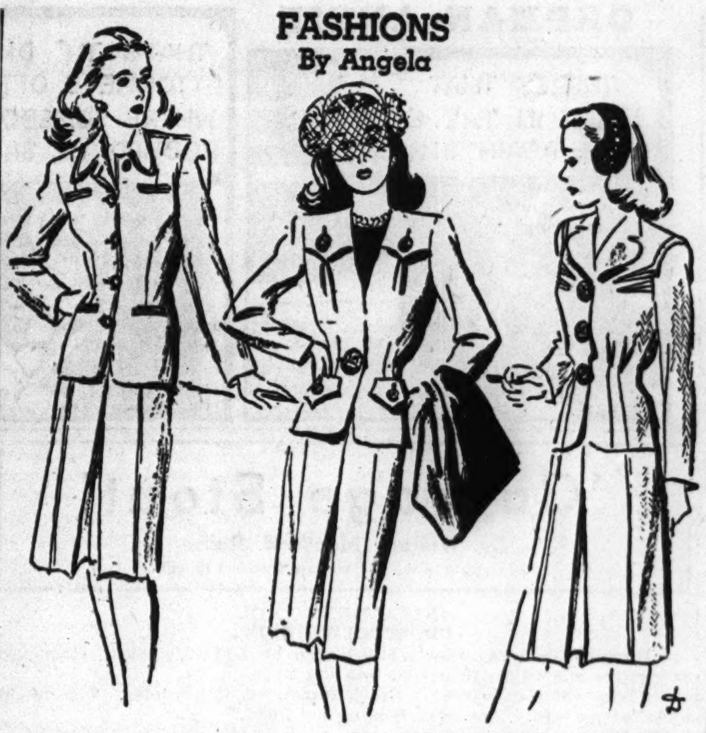
The first class, which enrolled in the fall of 1939, ordinarily would have graduated next June. Because of war time acceleration of studies, however, they will receive their diplomas at commencement exercises tomorrow afternoon in Scott hall. In all, degrees will be awarded to 434 graduates from the nine schools of the university.

◆

The awarding of degrees at the convocation today at the University of Chicago will be marked for the first time with the induction of 42 of the graduates into the medical corps of the army and navy. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university, will confer the 220 bachelor, professional, and advanced scholastic degrees.

FASHIONS

By Angela



A brand new array of spring suits—100 per cent wool—have arrived in town. They are a delightful group of delicate pastels which will prove to be stunning traveling costumes for those lucky enough to be trekking southward. Gold, powder blue, aqua, lime, and red is the color range, the styles are both tailored and dressmaker, and the price is reasonable.

The smoothly tailored outfit [left] is selected for those who prefer their suits unadorned. It has a slightly fitted jacket with four slit pockets and a five button closing. A box plait in the front and back of the skirt is flanked by welded seams. The greatest boast of this slim skirt is its zipper fastening.

The popular single button closing of the dressmaker suit [center] has a host of followers. The interesting detail of the shoulder yoke with the decorative silver buttons is repeated in the design of the pockets. A tiny plait running into the yoke button is another example of clever workmanship. The straight skirt has an inverted plait front and back.

Another dressmaker classic with slightly fitted lines [right] has a three button closing accented with decorative plastic buttons simulating tortoise shell. Slit, slanting darts create an unusual yoke effect. The double fold of the top one is carried over the shoulder to form a broad and flattering shoulder line. The high rounded lapels and brief collar are other attractive features of the jacket. The skirt is smartly tailored with welded seams and inverted plaits.

All the suits are available in sizes 10 to 18.

Thru the Looking Glass

These are the difficult days for the woman—and the man—with excruciatingly dry skin. It reddens and it itches and causes more frayed nerves than strangers to the trouble can possibly appreciate.

As we've said many times before, there really isn't a single cure because there isn't a single cause. A whole family of factors contribute to the trouble and they've got to be cleared up one by one before complete comfort is reëstablished.

One important step of the treatment is moisture in the air of rooms where you work and live. Dry heat plays the very dickens with thin, dry skin. It's simple to keep water on radiators, even in offices, and the sufferers should see that this is done.

The second factor on which to check is the quality of the soap used. It should be bland as butter and the best bet for the one with skin thin as paper is what is known as "super fatted," a soap that has the lowest possible content of drying agents.

It's also important, with the skin prone to winter itch, to rinse and dry well after bathing. And it has always seemed to us better to bathe at night than just before going out in the morning. The skin seemes to recuperate better.

Another advantage of bathing at night is that you can lather skin balm on then. Using a good balm is important and now there are plenty of them on the market, inexpensive and efficient. Use a balm or lotion of some sort in the morning, too, before dressing, to oil the skin slightly.

Bath itch is easy to overcome nowadays if you really work at treating it. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Devout Books for Children Listed Today

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A mother whose little girl is 5 years old and who, because her husband has been stationed here and there, has lived a nomadic life, is concerned about her little girl's religious training. The mother wants to know whether I can suggest any simple books to help her in answering the child's questions.

In looking over current religious books for children one day I found only one that filled her requirement. Before buying it I think any mother should read it thru, to see whether its answers are in harmony with her own ideas. It is called "Tell Me About God" and is brief and "homey" in its style and illustrations. The author is Mary Alice Jones, director of children's work for the International Council of Religious Education. The publisher is Rand-McNally, New York City, and the price $2.

Another book which I had not seen before is called "Three Prayers," a large volume attractively illustrated by Pelagie Doane. Only a few lines of each prayer appear on a page, the first being the Lord's Prayer. The publisher is Grossett & Dunlap; the price $2.

A third and different sort of book for older children, especially those with musical taste, is "The Story of a Song" [the song being "Silent Night"], by Hertha Paull, illustrated by Fritz Kredel. This book, the size of a novel and resembling one in format, is published by Alfred Knopf and is priced at $2. Did you know that this Christmas song with its peaceful beauty will be 125 years old this season?

Matrix Club's Party.

The Matrix club's annual Christmas party is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Normandie house. Mrs. William Donahey is in charge of arrangements.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

When the bidding has disclosed that the opponents obviously have freakish distribution, the opening lead of a trump is often effective. For example:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH.
♠ K Q 8 6 4 3
♥ 6
♦ Q 6 4
♣ A Q 5

WEST.
♠ 10 5
♥ A Q 8 2
♦ 7 3
♣ K 9 8 3 2

EAST.
♥ K J 5
♦ 2

SOUTH.
♥ 10 9 7 4 3
♦ A K J 10 9 8 5
♣ 6

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	2 spades	3 hearts
Double	Pass	3 spades	Double
4 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

There were several peculiar features to this bidding, notably North's questionable and unnecessary jump bid on the first round, and East's persistent doubling. His double of spades was premature, and his double of six diamonds was simply unfounded.

West, after much fumbling, led the spade ten. The queen and ace covered, and declarer ruffed. The heart ten was returned. East won and shifted to a trump. The queen was put up, the spade king was cashed for a heart discard, and another spade was ruffed high by declarer. Two heart ruffs, each followed by spade ruffs with high trumps, established dummy's sixth spade. Declarer only had to draw West's remaining trump, lead a club to the ace and discard his last heart.

On the face of things it would appear that all this merely enabled declarer to avoid the club finesse, which would have succeeded in any event, so why the fuss? Actually, however, this is an illusion. A trump lead by West, with another trump lead when he gets in with a heart, not only cuts out one heart ruff, but reduces dummy's entries to the point where the spade suit cannot be established. Declarer can ruff only one heart, discard only one each on the spade king and the club ace [after he takes the club finesse], hence winds up losing two heart tricks, and his redoubled slam contract.

A 'Honeychile' of 15 Worried —Lacks Dates

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

What makes one little Annie the chief "honeychile" with fellows, the queen of the May, while another sad Susie with the same urge for dates, the same yen for men sits at home night after night working cross-word puzzles and brooding over the good times she's missing? How come some neat characters make off with all the fellows and all the fun while others hang on the sidelines like dismal droops wondering when the show is going to begin for them? What goes with the smoothness?

One 15 year old, worried about the man power shortage in her life, breezes out her troubles in a letter this way:

"Just what does a boy look for in a girl? Does she have to be pretty? All the girls I know have boys calling, asking for dates—but not me. I don't want to seem conceited but I think I can compare favorably with most of the girls in our crowd. I'm not pretty but I dress well and am very neat. I'm not outstanding in my studies but am a little better than average. I never had much to do with boys because I'm rather bashful. What do boys really look for—must a girl be pretty?"

If any one tries to con you into believing that popularity will be hot on your heels just because you wear cute clothes or comb your hair a certain way—tell them to tell you another while that one's still warm! Boys like their little pigeons neat and clean—but with a few important additions. They don't like little miss muffets who just sit back on their tuffets doing nothing but waiting for a boy to come along. They like girls who have something to offer in the way of intelligent companionship. They like their girls solid—but not between the ears! If she happens to be pretty besides—well, so much the better.

Fifteen is a little young to be concerned about a slack dating schedule—time enough to worry about fellows a couple of years from now. Probably more boys would ask the above letter writer for dates but they're afraid she might want to bring her paper dolls along!

G.O.P. SEES HOPE OF CONTROL IN HOUSE BY FALL

Expects to Win 4 of 5 Present Vacancies.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—House Republican leaders today foresaw a possibility of winning numerical control of that branch by filling vacancies between now and the next general election in November. They are confident they will be able to organize the new house in January, 1945.

Republicans already have won five out of the six special elections for the house held since the last regular elections in 1942. They now have 208 members and the Democrats 218.

Deaths and resignations have caused five more vacancies, making 11 in all since January. Republican leader Martin of Massachusetts said today his party has "a fighting chance" to win four of these five seats, formerly held by four Democrats and one Republican.

This would give the Republicans 212 and the Democrats 219. If the 1943 rate of deaths and resignations continues next year the Republicans believe they have a chance to come out in front before November.

Vacancies still to be filled are those caused by the resignation of Representatives Jack Nichols, 2d Oklahoma district, last July, and James P. McGranery, 2d Pennsylvania, in November, and by the deaths of Republican Rep. J. William Ditter, 17th Pennsylvania, and Democratic Representatives Henry B. Steagall, 3d Alabama, and Lawrence Lewis, 1st Colorado.

Calling of a special election to fill the Nichols vacancy has been held up pending settlement of a contest brought by Nichols' 1942 Republican opponent, E. O. Clark, who claims the seat. The only two elections so far set are those in Pennsylvania Jan. 18, to fill the Ditter and McGranery seats.

STRATTON LENDS AN EAR TO G.O.P. HARMONY PLEA

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Republican leaders last night were hopeful that a "perfect harmony" state ticket will result from State Treasurer William G. Stratton's promise to confer again with county chairmen after Christmas about their request that he drop out of the race for secretary of state.

County chairmen told Stratton yesterday that they will support him for Supreme court clerk if he will clear the tracks for Sen. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, choice of a majority of state leaders for secretary of state. The conference lasted two hours.

Aid to Filling Slate.

Should Stratton line up with the regulars the 1944 organization slate will be completed in a hurry. Places still open are for state treasurer, congressman at large, and Supreme court clerk, the last named a six year office paying $7,500 a year.

Already slated are Gov. Dwight H. Green, Richard J. Lyons for United State senator, Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder, and Benson for secretary of state. The present state officials are running for reëlection, except for Stratton, who under the law cannot succeed himself.

It was reported that Stratton argued that he should run for secretary of state—second most important patronage office—in view of his record including the fact that he topped the G. O. P. ticket in votes last year. He was reminded of his youth [29 years] and of the solid wall of organization indorsements of Sen. Benson confronting him.

Blow to Rival Slate.

Chairman John T. Dempsey of the Cook county central committee headed the delegation of 15 appointed Wednesday night by 92 of the 102 county chairmen meeting in Springfield. Dempsey will be back in Chicago today for a meeting of 80 ward and township committeemen at 3 p. m. to start the ball rolling on county, congressional, and national convention delegate candidacies.

News of Stratton's possible entrance into the harmony picture was seen as a blow to an opposition slate, the main promoters of which are Justus Johnson of Aurora, former G. O. P. state chairman, and State's Atty. Taylor Wilhelm of La Salle county. They have been holding conferences here to spur formation of an anti-administration ticket.

Judge Franklin J. Stransky of Savanna and State Sen. T. Mac Downing of Macomb, who had been mentioned for United States senator and governor on an insurgent slate, announced that they would not be candidates. Sen. Downing's statement came even while Johnson was reporting him a likely runner for senator. It was reported that plans are for Wilhelm to run for governor.

Deneen Watson, a lawyer who has been talking about running for governor, said that he was awaiting developments, but expects to be "in or out within a few days."

Reports were that Johnson and Wilhelm now are seeking to connect their political cart to Gen. Douglas MacArthur,

U.S. CHARGES 2 WITH PERJURY IN LIQUOR INQUIRY

Deputy United States marshals last night were seeking two liquor salesmen on warrants charging them with giving perjured testimony before the federal grand jury investigating an alleged liquor shortage and black market in the Chicago area.

The salesmen named in the warrants issued by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker are Sam Friedman, 3847 West 13th street, and Sidney Lawrence, 2914 Rosemont avenue, both employed by John Roesing & Co., liquor wholesalers at 2101 Wabash avenue.

Dummy Firm Figures in Case.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, and his assistant, Maurice J. Walsh, said the two salesmen are accused of giving perjured testimony before the grand jury involving the sale of liquor to dealers at retailers' prices thru the use of a dummy concern for billing purchases.

Friedman is accused in the perjury complaint of having testified before the grand jury that he sold 55 cases of liquor to a west side attorney whereas company records showed the liquor went to a west side dealer. He also is accused of telling the jury that he sold 140 cases of liquor to the Norco Products company, but records showed the liquor went to the Keystone Liquor company, 3055 Lawrence avenue.

Billed to One; Goes to Another.

Lawrence is accused of having told the jury that he never sold 65 cases of liquor to Sam's Super Service, a gas station at 3718 Lawrence avenue, and that he had not negotiated the sale with Rudolph Bassler, owner of the Wilton Liquor company, 1224 Wilson avenue. Woll said records showed that liquor was billed to the gas station but actually went to the liquor company.

Woll and his assistant, Walsh, said that the practice of selling liquor at higher pices to dealers resulted in increased prices to the public.

Plan 2 Million Dollar Trim on Navy Blouses

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The navy is going to cut from four to six inches from the uniform jumper or "middie blouse" of enlisted men and save an estimated 2 million dollars, officials said. The change will eliminate the "blouse effect" of the jumper and improve the appearance of the uniform.

Biddle Eliminates Himself from Race for Senate Seat

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. eliminated himself today as a possible Democratic candidate for the senate from Pennsylvania. He told reporters he was complimented by a suggestion that he be a candidate to oppose Sen. James J. Davis [R., Pa.], who is expected to be a candidate for reëlection next year, but intended to return to England as ambassador to governments in exile of six axis occupied nations.

BY FRANK NORRIS.

De La Salle High school, defending champion in the 10th annual St. George pre-season senior basketball tournament, eliminated St. Rita, 24 to 20, last night in Evanston to advance into the quarter-final round which will be played tomorrow. A crowd of 500 was in the stands to witness the opening of the tourney.

The defending champion, behind, 10 to 4, at the end of the first quarter, began to roll in the second period and then outplayed the Mustangs thruout the second half.

De La Salle won the contest with a closing fourth quarter rally which gained nine points while holding the Mustangs to four. Art Billie, John Kean, and Mike Carroll sparked this final rush. Billie led De La Salle with 11 points.

Foul Shot Ties Score.

With the champions trailing, 16 to 15, Regis Lisowski opened the scoring in the fourth period with a long, one handed shot from the left side of the court to put De La Salle ahead, 17 to 16. Don Benoit tied the score for St. Rita on Kean's foul and then sent the Mustangs ahead on another penalty on Kean.

Billie pushed in Kean's rebound only to have Ray Johns, St. Rita's leading scorer with 11 points, collect a basket to give the Mustangs a lead of 20 to 19. Carroll replaced Kean and hooked a one handed shot from the right. Lisowski made good on Brynes' foul and De La Salle took a lead of 22 to 20. Joe Schuch closed the scoring with a long shot which sent the score to 24 to 20 with 40 seconds left. The game ended with De La Salle stalling in St. Rita's end of the court.

St. Michael Wins, 56-42.

St. Michael, a free lance Catholic school, won a free scoring game from St. Patrick of the Catholic league, 56 to 42. Chuck O'Connor, a rugged forward, paced St. Michael with 23 points accumulated on 10 baskets and three foul shots. Tom Samp, St. Patrick's center, led the loser with nine baskets and one free throw for a total of 19.

St. Michael jumped into an early lead going ahead, 18 to 6, at the quarter, 33 to 17, at the half, and 48 to 32 at the end of the third quarter. St. Patrick outscored the winner, 10 to 8, in the final quarter.

Loyola academy of the Catholic league entered the quarter final round with a 35 to 8 victory over St. Gregory of the Parish High school league. St. Gregory was no match for the Ramblers who held the Parish leaguers to a point in the second half while increasing their half time margin of 15 to 7 by 20 points.

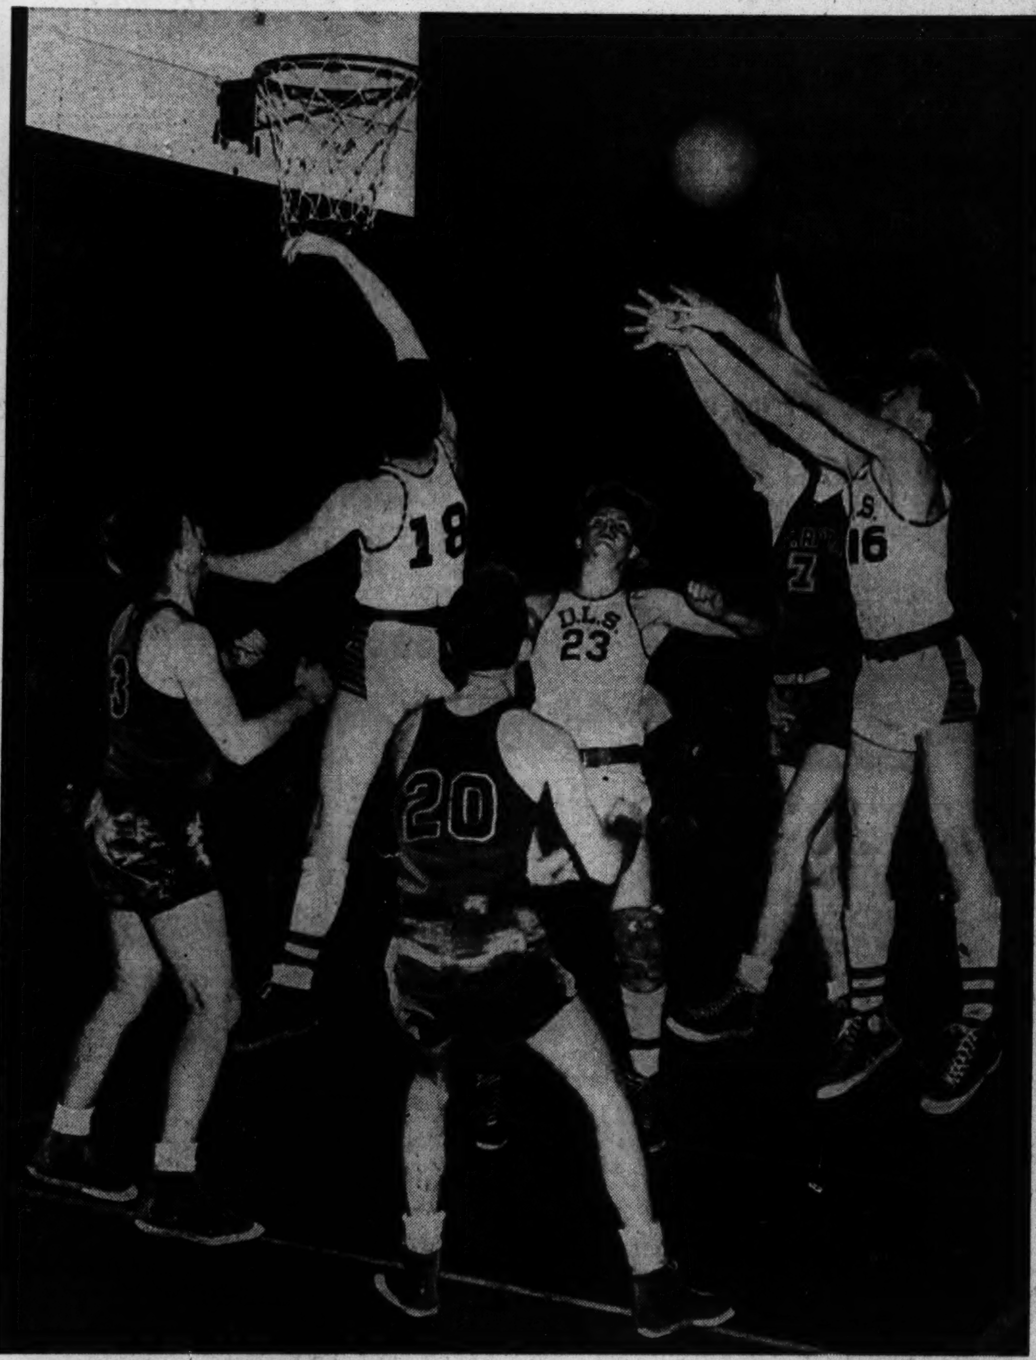
Detroit Gets National Clay Court Tournament

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP).—William F. Beyer, president of the Detroit Tennis club, announced today that the national clay court tournament would return to Detroit in 1944, probably in mid-June.

ON THE WAY TO AN UPSET



De La Salle players (in white uniforms) battle desperately for possession of the ball in scoring territory during last night's opening game of the St. George tournament. De La Salle, the defending champion, scored a surprise victory over St. Rita, 24 to 20. The De La Salle players are Roy Schuch (18), John Kean (23), and Don Griffin (16). The St. Rita boys, in dark uniforms, are Tom Byrnes (3), Roy Johns (20), and Robert Johnson (7). [TRIBUNE Photo.]

HAWKS PLAN TO KIDNAP WIEBE

Can't Get Star Defense Man to Report.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Another road defeat of the Blackhawks in Toronto Saturday night will just about loose a posse to go into the wilds of Alberta and round up Art Wiebe, the reticent bunmaker of Vermilion. Ordinarily kidnaping is a serious crime, but it is not believed that hockey analysts in Canada or Chicago would allow anything to happen to Manager Paul Thompson if he and a gang went to Vermilion, threw a flour sack over Wiebe's head, and dragged him away from his beloved bakery.

Owner Frederic McLaughlin, President Bill Tobin, and Thompson, all hockey fans as well as officials, have been delighted with the way the Hawks have played at home in rolling up a seven game winning streak in Chicago Stadium. But all admit they are downright distressed over the fact the team has won but twice this year away from home and not once since Nov. 13. Maj. McLaughlin and Tobin held a conference after the standard Hawk flop in Boston last Tuesday night, but could decide on nothing except that the bread, bun, meringue, and eclair business must be derned good in Vermilion, Alta.

Can't Leave His Cookies.

Wiebe, who was reputed to be one of the highest paid defense players in the National league, told the Hawk front office early in November that he thought he could join the team "in about two weeks." When the two weeks were up and no Arthur in view there was much

Vacation Over; Bears Drill on Offense for Title Game

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Bears, who are waiting almost one-third of a normal football season to participate in a championship game, pulled on their uniforms yesterday morning after a 72 hour vacation, the second one since they captured the western title on Nov. 28 by whipping the Cardinals.

The four week delay is occasioned by a later schedule in the east and Sunday's playoff contest in New York between the Giants and the Redskins. The Bears' season started on Sept. 26 when they tied the Packers in Green Bay, 21 to 21. It ended on Nov. 28, slightly more than two months later. Four weeks later to the day, Dec. 26, they will play Sunday's winner in Wrigley field for the National league title.

Today, and the three following days, the Bears are going to ignore the New York game in their preparations. They will work entirely on their own offense, which will be much the same no matter which eastern team they play. Only after their opponent is determined, will the western champions start planning their defense.

Know Redskin Style.

The co-coaches, Luke Johnsos and Hunk Anderson, have vetoed a previous plan to scout Sunday's game in New York. They decided their time will be better spent supervising Sunday's drill. Instead, Walter Halas, and perhaps Gene Ronzani, will chart the maneuvers of the Giants and Redskins.

"We're pretty familiar with the Redskins' style," said Johnsos, "and know fairly well what to expect from the Giants. One thing seems certain—both teams will have to show all their tricks in Sunday's game."

Steve Owens' new maneuvers have intrigued the Bears. The veteran New York coach has installed an offense which the Bears call the A formation. The line is unbalanced to the right, with the backs shifted to the left and one of them in motion. The full back gets the ball and does one of four things—hands it to the man in motion, or another back who is nearby, or spins and carries the ball, or fades back and passes. It was this play that sprung Bill Paschal loose for the 54 yard touchdown run which beat the Redskins two Sundays ago in the last 4 minutes. That's how close the Redskins were to the eastern title—240 seconds.

Nagurski to Practice.

The Giants also use a single wing back and an occasional flanker with a balanced line.

Bronko Nagurski will run thru this week's offensive practice at full back. He had only two days at the position before making his grand entrance against the Cardinals, yet the old fellow made 84 yards in 15 tries.

The Bears will put on their pads today and start doing some contact work. Sunday there may be a line scrimmage, and on Sunday afternoon the boys will have their ears pinned to the radio to learn whether it will be the Giants or the Redskins. If the game is tied at the finish, the game will be resumed with a kick-off after a 3 minute rest. They will continue playing until one team scores.

REDSKINS SET OUT

WOOD TAKES LEAD IN MIAMI OPEN WITH 68

Sam Byrd's 72 Puts Him in Tie for 8th.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP).—Craig Wood's putter could do no wrong today and the duration National Open golf champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., turned in a 68, two under par, to lead the first round of the $5,000 Miami Open tournament.

Wood's card showed eight one-putt holes and except for the 18th, where he missed an easy one, he was sinking them all day with startling accuracy.

Twice on the first nine the champion overshot into the trees but each time chipped to the green and sank his putts. On the second hole it was for a birdie 3.

Steve Warga Cards 69.

Only one stroke behind was Steve Warga Jr., the Miami pro turned defense worker, who carded 32—37—69.

Ens. Willie Turnesa, the former National Amateur winner, turned in a par 70, matching the score of another amateur, Earl Christiansen, the Miami detective. Each had 36—34.

Sammy Byrd of Detroit, pre-tournament favorite of his fellow professionals, had a 36—36 for 72, which gave him a tie for eighth place. Byrd was shooting against par, heeding the prediction that the player who could shave a few strokes over the 72 hole course would capture the $1,000 in war bonds that goes to the winner.

Gene Sarazen Away Back.

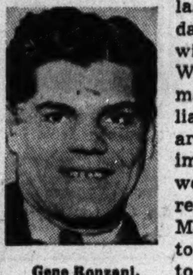
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Sugar bowl football game invariably has had a great forward passer as a gate attraction. . . . Sammy Baugh, Abe Mickal, Davey O'Brien, and Glenn Dobbs have had their turn in thrilling the fans. . . . There's another coming up this year in Eddie Prokop of Georgia Tech, who has been a sensation in the south. . . . The basketball lineup which won the Midwest conference championship for Lawrence college last winter is widely scattered these days. . . . Bob Morris is overseas with the army; Dick Miller and Warren Buesing are with separate marine units, and Phil Harvey, William Crossett, and James Fieweger are in the navy with commissions imminent. . . . Still champions, it would seem. . . . Five colleges are represented on Penn State's Navy-Marine basketball squad. . . . Operators of the Phillies are determined to have a winning ball club next year, which is why they did not declare a dividend on 1943 profits. . . . The cash will be used to buy players instead. . . . Gene Ronzani, who has been scouting the Redskins all season for the Bears, was one of those who expressed no surprise when the Giants whipped Washington twice to throw the eastern division race into a tie. . . . "The Giants are the most improved club in the league," says Gene. . . . Eddie Stanky of the Cubs is assistant manager of a tire company in Mobile, Ala. . . . Grover Alexander is working in a Cincinnati airplane plant. . . . Mention of Alex reminded Charley Grimm that he had seen Old Pete drop $2,500 in a clubhouse poker game and then go out and pitch as if he had nothing on his mind. . . . "Alex also won some big pots," added Grimm. . . . Bill Killefer adds his testimony to the case of the young Bill Cox, the ex-Philly: "Last summer before he sent me on a scouting trip, Cox called me in and informed me that I would have to take a salary cut," says Killefer. "I agreed to a $1,000 slash and when I returned to Philadelphia I found the old pay check had been reduced $2,500."



Gene Ronzani.

Grover Alexander.

Have you ever wondered why a big league baseball costs $1.50? . . . The answer is that no machine has yet been perfected for stitching the covers. . . . Working entirely by hand, the average artisan can produce only 42 baseballs a day. . . . Charley Hall, the old time minor league pitching star who died in California last week, turned in four no-hit games, two in the American association and two in the Pacific Coast league. . . . Bob O'Hara, a marine trainee who played guard at Princeton this fall, is attending his fourth university in four years. . . . He studied medicine at Georgetown, economics at American university, and law at Pennsylvania.

A Soldier Dreams.

Some day the sun will shine again,
Rifting the clouds apart,
Bringing a ray of hope again
Into my lonely heart.

Some day the lark will soar again
Into a sky of blue,
Some day a bow will bridge again
Heaven with promise anew.

Some day we'll dream our dreams again,
Knowing they may come true;
Some day my heart will be gay again
Some day . . . somewhere . . . with you.

NOVIKOFF BACK IN LANDIS' GOOD GRACES—ALMOST

Mr. Lou Novikoff, the Cubs' No. 1 bench warmer, is back in good standing with the office of Commissioner K. M. Landis, altho there is a little matter of a fine still to be determined.

Novikoff was one of numerous major leaguers who defied baseball rules by playing in exhibitions in California after the close of the 1943 season. When he refused to reply to a letter from Landis requesting details of his off-season activities, money earned, etc., he was placed on the ineligible list. His explanation, since received, resulted in an announcement yesterday that he had been reinstated but that a fine will be assessed at a later date.

DEPAUL TO SEEK 7TH STRAIGHT IN INDIANA GAME

Preview Guests

ELMER LAYDEN, commissioner of the National Football league; Sid Luckman, quarter back of the Chicago Bears, and Andy Kerr, football coach at Colgate university, will be guest speakers on Arch Ward's Sports Preview over W-G-N and the Mutual Network tonight. The program will be heard on W-G-N at 10:45 o'clock.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The basketball double header in the Stadium tomorrow night will help determine if Northwestern will be a contender for the Western conference championship and if De Paul may expect to better last year's record of 19 victories and five defeats. Twelve thousand are expected to see the Stadium program, in which Northwestern meets Notre Dame and De Paul plays Indiana.

The Wildcats currently are bracketed with Michigan and Purdue, the other quintets with Navy V-12 trainees, as Western conference title contenders. While Notre Dame's inexperienced squad is not as proficient as last year's, this rivalry is certain to furnish a definite idea on the possibilities ahead. For De Paul, the game with Indiana is the first major test of the season. This contest is second on tomorrow night's program.

Mikan Leads De Paul Attack.

Because of the individual performance of George Mikan, whose 6 feet 8 inches furnish a tremendous advantage, De Paul has not been pressed in six games. The Glenview navy quintet made the best showing against De Paul. In this game Mikan turned in his best performance to verify the assertion of Ray Meyer, Blue Demon coach, that Mikan plays only as hard as is necessary to win.

Mikan led De Paul in scoring last year with 242 points, an average of 10 a game. His average this season necessarily must be higher, if De Paul wins as many games, since the scoring of this Blue Demon quintet probably is not as well balanced. Dick Triptow, a reserve on last year's quintet, is the only other veteran. All other squad members are freshmen, a fact frequently overlooked because attention is focused on Mikan and Triptow.

Beats Concordia Twice.

De Paul's record now consists of two victories over Concordia college of River Forest, and victories over Navy pier, Glenview, Nebraska, and Chicago Teachers' college. Indiana university, regardless of dependence on freshmen, certainly is a more proficient team than any of De Paul's previous opponents. If the Hoosiers are defeated, Coach Meyer can logically expect to have a successful holiday trip when De Paul meets St. Joseph's in Philadelphia, Long Island university in Madison Square Garden, and Arkansas in Buffalo, N. Y.

Since Mikan has not been thoroly tested by a good defense, the same criticism is true of De Paul's freshmen regulars, Ed Kackan, Jack Dean, and Gene Stump. Dean is paired with Triptow at forward. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall and scores frequently on a pivot shot. Dean was captain of the St. Ignatius High school team last year.

Great Lakes Faces Purdue.

Kackan and Stump are the varsity guards. Each is 6 feet tall and Kackan, because he wears glasses, bears some resemblance to Mikan. Kackan was graduated from St. Philip High school. Stump led the St. Rita High school five last winter. This pair has replaced De Paul's veteran guards, Dick Starzyk and Tony Kelly, who supported Mikan last season with deep court scoring.

Great Lakes and Purdue, each undefeated, will share midwestern interest tomorrow night when they meet at the naval training station. The Bluejackets, conquerors of Illinois, are favorites because they are on their own floor. This game will be the 471st for Purdue under the direction of Ward Lambert. The Boilermakers have won 346 games for a victory percentage of .736.

HAYES, INDIANA TRACK COACH, DIES SUDDENLY

Developer of Stars Ill Only Few Hours.

E. C. [Billy] Hayes.

Builder of track champions and Indiana university's track coach since 1924, Hayes was taken to the hospital yesterday noon and members of the Indiana university football team were prepared to give their blood in a transfusion, but Hayes died before one could be given.

Hayes brought track championships and athletic glory to two schools, Indiana university and Mississippi State college, where he was track and basketball coach from 1912 to 1924. At the two schools Hayes developed nine men who won membership on American Olympics teams. He was one of the coaches of the 1936 American team.

Attended Albion College.

The veteran coach was born in 1884 near Madison, Ind., attended Albion [Mich.] college, graduating in 1910 after winning letters in football, basketball and track. He first coached at Jackson, Mich., high school where he also taught English and mathematics.

In 1912 he went to Mississippi state as head basketball and track coach, and from 1914 to 1917 was head football coach. His Mississippi State basketball teams won two southern championships as did his track team. Four of his Mississippi State athletes were members of the 1924 American Olympics team.

Teams Set Many Records.

When he came to Indiana track fortunes were at a low ebb, but in his 19 years as head coach his teams achieved these records:

Two Big Ten outdoor championships, three Big Ten indoor championships, eight Big Ten cross country titles, five times runner up in the outdoor track meet and three times runner up in the indoor meet, one National Collegiate A. A. championship, two national collegiate cross country championships, two National A. A. U. cross country titles.

Mr. Hayes is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mary Stuart Dilts, Bloomington; a sister, Mrs. Lola Turner, Cornell, Ill.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Yeates Lucas, Starkville, Miss., and a nephew, Maj. Yeates Lucas of the army air corps.

wiring and phoning, all of which brought a promise of appearance "by Dec. 1." You know how long ago Dec. 1 was—and Wiebe is still with his ginger cookies. So the Hawks have decided to stop corresponding with the guy—they're going up and grab him, satisfied he can't possibly be making as much dough manufacturing crullers as he could be doing a little skating for the Hawks a couple of evenings a week.

Play Leafs Saturday, Sunday.

The Hawks last night watched the Toronto Maple Leafs lose to the recently revamped Detroit Red Wings in Toronto, their first off the rink scouting opportunity of the year. After playing the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night, the Hawks and Leafs will hie to Chicago, where they will play each other Sunday in Chicago Stadium, the game being their third against each other in a span of eight nights. Up till now the Hawks have won twice from the Leafs. The Leafs beat the Hawks in the Chicago home opener, on Oct. 31.

PLACE 4 BEARS ON ALL-LEAGUE FIRST ELEVEN

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Four Chicago Bears won places on the All-League professional football team selected by the Associated Press and newspaper sports writers. The Chicagoans named are Sid Luckman, quarter back; Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, center; Danny Fortmann, guard, and Harry Clark, back.

In addition to these Bears the first team includes: Sammy Baugh, Washington Redskins, back; Don Hutson, Green Bay Packers, end; Tony Canadeo, Packers, back; Eddie Rucinski, Cardinals, end; Al Blozis, Giants, tackle; Bruiser Kinard, Dodgers, tackle, and Dick Farman, Redskins, guard.

Five named won All-League honors in 1942. They are Baugh, Hutson, Turner, Luckman, and Fortmann.

Lindblom Is Victim No. 86 for Marshall

The Marshall juniors, defending champions in the Chicago Public High School Basketball league, defeated Lindblom, 33 to 16, yesterday on the Marshall floor for their 86th consecutive victory.

In a free scoring contest, the Leo seniors won from South Shore, 59 to 46, at South Shore, Ted Dawson leading the winners with 18 points. The visitors also took the junior decision, 42 to 27. Lineups:

ANOTHER ILLINI BASKET STAR IS CALLED BY ARMY

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 16 [Special].—The saga of the vanishing Illini, begun last fall by the University of Illinois football team, is being carried on by the basketball squad. Coach Doug Mills learned today that his sophomore guard, Junior Kirk of Mount Vernon, Ill., is to be inducted into the army Dec. 28.

Elect Captains

Jack O'Leary and Robert Carroll, half backs, were elected co-captains of the Mount Carmel High school football team for next season at a banquet attended by 300 last night in the school gymnasium honoring the co-Catholic and city champions.

Circuit Judge John Wallace served as toastmaster. The team was presented the Catholic Order of Foresters' trophy for sharing the Catholic league title. Among the speakers were George Wilson and Sid Luckman of the Bears, Hugh DeVor, end coach at Notre Dame; Mike Hanley, back field coach at Marquette, and Guy Mackey, athletic director at Purdue.

Individual Pin Event Set for Grove Alleys

The Grove Recreation in Downers Grove will hold an individual bowling sweepstakes tomorrow and Sunday.

Giles Kingsley announces the tourney will be four games across eight alleys, with first money of $250 guaranteed. The entry fee is $7.50, with bowlers eligible to book entries for twice each day, but to cash only once in the major prize list.

Tomorrow's squads are scheduled for 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 p. m. and midnight. The same program will hold for Sunday except that another squad will go to the line at 1 p. m.

The Logan Square Buicks, who now have won 32 straight, including their last series, in which they compiled the nation's highest women's total of 2,936, will be protecting a one game lead tonight when they meet the Durkee's Margarines in the Playdium Ladies' All-Star league. The state champion Goranson's, holding second place, will battle the fourth place Double Cola girls. Other matches tonight:

John's Grill vs. Atlas Pragers; Simpson's Clothes vs. Pepsi Cola Girls; Playdium 30 Lanes vs. Bee Vacs; Lukko Radio vs. Ward-Mitchells; Marigold Arcade vs. Gus' Restaurant; Bowl Haven vs. Art J. Williams, and Kay Daumitts vs. Pabst Blue Ribbons.

The league leading Brownsons [Meister Brau] in the 12 team West Side Knights of Columbus league expect to increase their five game advantage in tonight's bowling at the Cascade Center, 3825 West Madison street, when they meet the St. Paul [Acme Furnace] quintet. The league will suspend activities until Jan. 7 after tonight. Other matches:

Charles Carroll vs. Hennepin-Shields; St. Patrick [Allegretti's grill] vs. Co-Council; Comdr. Barry vs. Hughes [J. H. McKeown]; Phil Sheridan [C. Kampp & Son] vs. Bishop Ketteler [Chevalier Beer], and Quigley vs. Feehan [Lemon Kings].

Leafs Beaten by Wings, 4-1; Lose Mel Hill

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 16 (AP).—Toronto missed a chance to go into second place in the National Hockey league tonight when the Maple Leafs dropped a 4 to 1 decision to the Detroit Red Wings.

Star of the game was 35 year old Normie Smith, making a comeback in the Wings' goal after five years' absence from hockey. Smith, called back by Manager Jack Adams after Jimmy Franks was beaten 5 to 1 by the Canadiens in Detroit last Sunday, robbed the Leafs time after time tonight. He made 37 saves to 20 by Benny Grant in the Toronto nets.

Two Goals for Carveth.

Except for Smith's great goal tending the game was dull and the crowd of 9,336 paid was apathetic. Joe Carveth shot two Detroit goals, Harold Jackson and Carl Liscombe one each. The lone Toronto score was by Bob Davidson in the first period after the Wings had taken a 2 to 0 lead.

In addition to Norm Smith, Adams presented three other new players from his Indianapolis farm, Nakina Smith, Red Kane, and Vic Lynn. Smith, former Sudbury player, is a veteran of minor league hockey. Kane played last year with the Stratford, Ont., Juniors and Lynn with the New York Rovers.

Diagnosed as Clean Break.

Hill's injury came when he broke away alone but lost his balance as he skated in on the Detroit goal and crashed into the boards at the end. It was diagnosed as a clean break just above the ankle. Lineups:

SMITTY

BOSS, I'VE GOT IMPORTANT NEWS
TODAY, WHEN I CAME BACK FROM DELIVERING SOME MAIL, I FOUND ALL THE GIRLS SITTING AROUND DOING NOTHING
THEY WEREN'T GETTING ANY WORK DONE LIKE YOU SAID--THEY JUST SAT THERE STARING AT NOTHING-
I ASKED THEM WHAT WAS THE MATTER AND I DIDN'T FIND OUT ANYTHING AND NEITHER AM I

SMILIN' JACK

SORRY TO LEARN YOU WERE WOUNDED, JACK
THE DOCTORS THINK I'LL WALK AGAIN SOMEDAY, BUT I'M SO BUSY ON A NEW JOB, I HAVEN'T TIME TO THINK ABOUT MY TROUBLES-- WORKING, WHILE YOU'RE SICK?
YES, I'M HELPING THE F.B.I. WITH A STRANGE CASE HERE AT THE HOSPITAL--
GOOD! SAY, TELL ME--WHAT'S THIS I HEAR ABOUT YOU FINDING THE CORAL PRINCESS AND THINKING SHE IS YOUR WIFE?
I MARRIED HER!
YOU DID? WHERE IS SHE?
SHE'S VERY UNHAPPY AND LONESOME--I'M AFRAID SHE'LL RUN AWAY AND TRY TO RETURN TO HER ISLANDS---

TERRY

OH-T-TAFFY-I MEAN, MISS TUCKER -I MEAN, LIEUTENANT, I MEAN ---
AS YOU WERE, TERRY... I JUST WANTED TO TELL YOU GRETT MURMUR WILL BE OKAY-IF OUR RED CROSS BLOOD BANK HOLDS OUT...
THAT WAS GOOD NEWS! -SINCE WE CAN'T SEE MISS MURMUR-I GUESS I'D BETTER HIT THE SACK... COMING, TERRY?
I'LL BE ALONG LATER, TOTE...
DID YOU GET IT, SING?
AH, SO, MIST' TERRY! IS HERE... WAS EASY! CAPTAIN MIDI NOT EVEN SUSPICIONS!

BLOCKS INQUIRY INTO OCD USE OF CITY EMPLOYES

Bowler Calls Request for Figures Senseless.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the city council finance committee and administration leader, last night blocked an effort by Ald. James B. Waller [43d] to learn how many city employes are being lent to the office of civilian defense and other agencies.

Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of street and electricity, was before the committee which is discussing the 1944 budget, when Waller asked if any of his men were on loan to the OCD.

"Why, yes," Johnson said, "but I haven't got the details with me."

Before Waller could question Johnson further Bowler cut in. He said each department has some employes to loan to the OCD.

Calls Inquiry Senseless.

"But I don't think there is any sense in making a mountain out of a molehill," he continued. "No department carries employes on its pay roll unless they are rendering service. The city clerk has the pay roll records, and they are open to you, Ald. Waller."

Waller agreed he could inspect the pay rolls but complained that they did not necessarily show where the employes worked and for whom. After the meeting he said he intended to dig into the matter.

As the committee met there were persistent rumors that Mayor Kelly and the council had decided to grant pay increases to the city's 28,000 employes, most of whom are still working at pre-war wages. Earlier Kelly said every effort was being made to raise money for pay increases, and Bowler was believed to have had a general increase in mind when he told Johnson that "we must slash expenses to the bone because we have something coming up that we don't want to announce now, but that is coming soon."

Hear Plea for Police.

The committee questioned Fire Commissioner Corrigan and Police Commissioner Allman about appropriations for their departments. Corrigan has asked for $749,700 in addition to the $9,201,250 recommended for his department so he can put on 300 extra men. He said crews are operating shorthanded and that a dangerous condition exists. His request was taken under advisement.

Firemen and policemen, whose basic pay was raised from $2,500 to $2,802 a year early in 1943, are the only city employes who have received increases since the war started. They and all other employes, except Municipal court deputy bailiffs and clerks, presumably will benefit from any increase granted.

Horan Proposes Bonus.

The pay scale of the deputy bailiffs and clerks is fixed by state statute and therefore cannot be changed by the council. Albert J. Horan, bailiff, said because of this he planned to discuss with Kelly a proposal that they be given a bonus by the city to compensate them as adequately as other employes.

Revenue for the pay increases is expected to come from the $968,000 the new and increased license fees are expected to bring in plus money in the "salvage" fund created by unexpended appropriations made for 1943. It is estimated the fund has more than two and a half million dollars.

The finance committee also heard H. Evert Kincaid, acting executive director of the Chicago plan commission, who assured the members that the commission had been diligent in keeping down expenses. City Controler Robert B. Upham recommended an appropriation of $133,590 for the commission, but some aldermen last week suggested only $90,000 be alloted.

DR. GRIMES, 79, LONG PASTOR IN MIDWEST, DEAD

The Rev. Walter Bruce Grimes, D. D., a retired Methodist minister, who held pastorates for 52 years before he retired in 1933, died yesterday in his home, 2123 Greenleaf avenue. He was 79 years old.

He came to Chicago from Indiana in 1912 and he served as pastor of the Fernwood, Vincent, and Gross Park churches in this city, and in Blue Island. In 1929 he became executive secretary of the Methodist City Missionary society in Indianapolis, serving until 1933.

Surviving are his widow, Ada; three sons, the Rev. Paul W., pastor of West Ridge Community church, one of eight his father helped to organize; Edward L., and John W., and two daughters, Ruth G. Ewing and Miriam Grimes. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP).—R. V. Gay of St. Johns, Mich., director of the Michigan state planning commission, today died of a heart attack.

APPROVE SLASH OF $440,000 IN 13 COUNTY UNITS

Judges of the Circuit court yesterday adopted a 1944 employment schedule for the 13 county fee offices that will bring about a saving of about $440,000 with approximately half the saving coming from cuts in the sheriff's pay roll, it is understood. Details of the report are expected today.

It is indicated that the present force of 155 highway deputies will be halved and that 8 of the 35 women bailiffs, also under the sheriff's office, will be eliminated. The elimination of these jobs with the consequent trimming of motor and gasoline expenditures will account for about half of the contemplated saving.

The other pay roll slashes will be spread thru the remaining 12 offices, but none will be hit so hard as the sheriff's department. It is expected the judges will protest, as they have in the past, against having to set the number of employes in fee offices. Illinois statutes, however, order that they set the number of employes but have no supervision over their pay. Each year they eliminate jobs only to have the county board outline a budget in which spending exceeds revenue.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chicago School Children Set Bond Purchase Mark

A total of $7,681,640.70 in war bonds and stamps was purchased by boys and girls in Chicago's 372 public schools between Jan. 1 and Dec. 1 of this year, the treasury department announced yesterday. Thru the pay roll allotment plan teachers and other high school employes purchased $4,778,000 in war bonds during the same period. December is expected to produce another $400,000 from this source, it was stated.

SENATE FINANCE GROUP APPROVES TAX BILL FOR '44

Votes 3% Levy on Income in Excess of $624.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The senate finance committee late today completed the writing of a bill that will add 2 billion 284 million dollars to the taxes the American public and its business enterprises must pay in 1944.

The finance committee bill adds approximately 144 million dollars in new taxes to the bill approved by the house Nov. 24. It lifts the total 1944 federal tax burden to more than 40 billion dollars.

More than half of the revenue in the new tax bill will be produced by higher federal excise taxes on amusements, travel, alcoholic beverages, cosmetics, furs, luggage, toilet articles, and other luxury items.

Knock Out Exemptions.

A 3 per cent tax on all incomes over $624 a year, regardless of the dependency or marital status of an individual, approved by the committee in lieu of the present 5 per cent victory tax, will hit hardest on the low income groups.

The new 3 per cent victory tax is designed to keep persons with low incomes on the tax rolls. A tax simplification program advocated by the treasury would have exempted 9 million persons in the low income groups from taxation. The treasury's program included outright repeal of the victory tax.

A senate vote on the bill probably will be postponed until after the Christmas recess, Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the finance committee, reported.

Act on Security Tax.

Delay in the vote depends on getting congressional approval of a resolution to freeze social security taxes at their present levels for 60 days. Under present law the current 1 per cent social security tax rates automatically double Jan. 1. A provision written into the bill would extend the present rates for another year.

The committee made several last minute changes in the tax measure. It voted to:

1. Exempt from taxation mustering out pay given discharged service men.

2. Change the excise tax on general admissions from the present 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof and the house approved rate of 2 cents of each 10 cents to 1 cent on each 5 cents or fraction thereof.

3. Reject Sen. George's proposal to reduce the period whisky may be held tax free in storage from eight to four years.

4. Reject a last minute proposal to exempt labor organizations and farm coöperatives from the bill's requirements that nonprofit organizations must file annual financial statements with the commissioner of internal revenue.

Repeal Earned Income Credit.

The committee also agreed to the repeal of the earned income credit, as voted in the house, and to leave present individual income tax rates unchanged. It also accepted a provision written into the house bill by the ways and means committee to prevent individuals from purchasing bankrupt businesses in an effort to evade payment of income taxes.

The committee added a new provision, referred to among its tax experts as the "Marshall Field amendment," to the bill. It is aimed at persons who acquire racing stables or other expensive money-losing hobbies to provide financial losses that will reduce their income tax liability.

The provision reads: "Losses in trade or business by an individual: if the losses over a five year period in each year exceed gross income, the individual is limited to a $20,000 deduction against other income."

RAILWAY UNION ASSERTS IT WON'T LIFT RACIAL BAN

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16 (AP).—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today informed the President's committee on fair employment practice the union is unable to comply with an order to stop limiting its membership to white persons only.

Brotherhood President D. B. Robertson, in a letter to the committee, also said the FEPC had no legal authority to "direct the abrogation of agreements" regarding employment relations between the union and certain railroads, among them the Southeastern Carriers conference.

Last Monday 16 southern railroads told the committee they would not obey directives forbidding racial or religious discrimination. The railways declared the directives, ordering in effect an end to discrimination against Negroes, were invalid because the FEPC had no legal authority to issue them.

Flames Halt Production 12 Hours at Ford Plant

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP).—Flames that leaped from a box car filled with magnesium chips damaged one end of the aircraft building in the Ford Motor company Rouge plant this morning and halted production of aircraft engines for more than 12 hours. Seven thousand employes on the day shift were forced into idleness, but an afternoon shift reported for work as usual. Ten men and women were overcome by fumes and smoke from the burning car, and a crane operator suffered slight injuries when he leaped from his control seat.

$550 COAT STOLEN.

Mrs. Robert Barton reported to police yesterday that her apartment at 3146 Sheridan road had been burglarized and a silver fox coat valued at $550 stolen.

OFFICIALS DOUBT RAILWAY UNIONS WILL WALK OUT

Expect to Reach Truce at Chicago Meeting.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16 (AP).—Railway and government officials expressed belief today a nation-wide railroad strike scheduled in two weeks would fail to materialize, while a spokesman for one of the five operating brotherhoods involved said "We know of no reason why a settlement cannot be worked out" at a mediation meeting next Monday.

The meeting was called by the national mediation board after operating brotherhoods set Dec. 30 and the three succeeding days for a "progressive strike" of 350,000 unionists seeking to enforce demands for wage increases. The session will be held in Chicago and will be attended by railroad officials and brotherhood leaders.

"Strike Against Inflation."

Announcing a proposed "strike against inflation for the privileged few and deflation for the many," presidents of the brotherhoods said 97.7 per cent of their members voted for the walkout.

President H. F. Fraser of the Order of Railway Conductors; John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads; Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, and Daniel Loomis, chairman of the Western Carriers' Conference committee, were optimistic concerning the outcome of the mediation meeting.

"We believe we have an absolutely just case," said Fraser, "and we know of no reason why a settlement cannot be worked out at Chicago.

Pelley said "the outcome remains to be seen, but I'm an optimist—I just can't see a nation-wide railroad strike."

Transportation Stoppage.

Eastman asserted, "I cannot and will not believe railroad workers will resort to a strike and stop transportation."

Loomis, whose committee handles labor matters for all lines running from Chicago westward, said "I don't think there will be a strike."

Presidents of the other brotherhoods are A. F. Whitney of the trainmen, D. B. Robertson of the firemen and enginemen, Alvanley Johnston of the locomotive engineers, and T. C. Cashen of the switchmen.

They cautioned members against "acts of violence of any nature" during the strike if it should materialize.

Vinson Fights Wage Boost.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Fred M. Vinson, stabilization director, urging a house committee to kill a resolution increasing wages of non-operating railroad employes by 8 cents an hour, contended today it threatens both the wage stabilization program and administrative government.

If the house joins the senate in approving it, he told the interstate commerce committee, it will be difficult if not impossible to deny wage increases to other groups.

Administrative Agency.

Vinson argued the resolution sets congress up as an administrative agency against "every consideration of provident statesmanship, of the separation of powers, of general legislative policy, of constitutional propriety."

The resolution was approved by the senate last week with only four votes cast against it. The pay increase originally was recommended by an emergency board which considered demands of the 1,100,000 workers for a 20 cent increase.

Vinson disapproved the recommendation on the grounds it violated wage stabilization policies, and President Roosevelt appointed a second emergency board which recommended a scale of increases ranging from 10 cents an hour for lower-paid workers to 4 cents for those in better-paid brackets. The unions rejected this, asked congress to approve the 8 cent recommendation, and, meantime, took a strike vote. The vote has been completed but has not been announced.

Sailors Fight Fire

The most destructive fire in Waukegan's history damaged two buildings and for a time threatened adjoining structures in the downtown district yesterday morning, causing damage estimated at $350,000 before it was brought under control by more than 100 firemen and equipment rushed in from the Great Lakes Naval Training station and neighboring suburbs. Two firemen were injured and a sailor suffered frozen hands as the men battled the blaze at near zero temperature for more than four hours.

The fire, said Chief Thomas McNamara, started in the basement of a three story building of the Hein company, a department store at 105-111 North Genesee street. It spread thru the store and then to a neighboring building housing a clothes shop, offices, and apartments. All occupants escaped safely.

More than 250 telephone operators on duty in a building to the rear of the Hein store stayed at their posts until most of them were ordered to leave as a precaution.

More than half of Chicago's equipment fought a stubborn blaze in the six story Wabash theater building, 1838 South Wabash avenue, early yesterday. The damage was $50,000.

Fire originating in the boiler room of the Gary Country club, seven miles south of Gary, Ind., destroyed the $50,000 building, $15,000 worth of golfing equipment, and $5,000 worth of liquor early yester day.

THREE LOCKUP KEEPERS FACE QUIZ IN DEATH

A coroner's inquest into the death of Emil Seeger, 61 years old, a war worker who died of a skull fracture Monday in County hospital after being found unconscious in front of his home at 2834 North Racine avenue, yesterday was ordered continued until Dec. 21. Several more witnesses, including three lockup keepers of the Sheffield avenue station in whose care the man had been placed, will be called to the next session of the inquest.

Policeman Charles Meyer testified he had found Seeger about 6:40 a. m. Monday, unconscious and smelling of alcohol, and, assuming him to be intoxicated, had taken him to the lockup. The day lockup keeper apparently was unaware of the man's condition, which was noticed by his relief man. Seeger then was moved to the hospital, where he died a few hours later.

His son, William Seeger, 31 years old, testified that he and his father had visited a tavern at 2762 Lincoln avenue, accompanied by a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Sandburg, and that his father had three glasses of beer and was driven home by a friend named Butch. Deputy Coroner Gene Ingles ordered police to find Butch for his appearance next Tuesday, with Mrs. Sandburg and the lockup keepers.

INQUEST BLAMES BOY'S SUICIDE ON LOSS OF TICKETS

Donald Klemm.

Donald Klemm, 13 years old, shot and killed himself Wednesday in his home on Roger avenue, a half mile west of Gurnee, in Lake county, because he had lost $4 worth of tickets to a school play, a coroner's jury at Waukegan decided last night. He was a freshman in Warren Township High school.

While his father, Arthur, a war plant foreman, and his stepmother, Barbara, were absent, and his brother, Robert, 2, asleep, Donald sent his two sisters, Diane, 5, and Hazel, 4, out of the house, then shot himself. The father said he had refused to give the boy money for the tickets.

A note he had written before he died was read at the inquest. He told his father he owed $4 for tickets and said: "Got to pay it. So long, dad."

SENATORS CALL SOMERVELL TO EXPLAIN CANOL

Even Navy Holds It Should End.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The Truman senate investigating committee announced today that it has invited Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell to explain why he ordered the Canol oil project construction in Canada.

The committee divulged at the same time that the navy has joined with the war production board and the petroleum administration for war in recommending the abandonment of the 134 million dollar project. Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, the WPB, and the budget bureau had previously recommended abandonment.

Hearing to Be Public.

Somervell, commander of the army services of supply, has been invited to tell his side of the story at a public hearing next Monday.

The committee, which is investigating the national defense program, extended the invitation to Somervell as the entire petroleum situation was becoming one of the major issues in the capital. One senator has expressed the opinion that the inquiry into the Canol project may be dwarfed by other oil investigations to come.

Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] announced on behalf of the committee that it has asked the war department and the agencies which recommended abandonment of the Canol program to confer on the advisability of continuing construction. Truman said all but the war department have agreed that the project should be dropped. Members of the senate said it would be better to write off the 100 million already spent as a loss and save the 34 million available but unspent on the project.

Includes Wells and Line.

The project includes the drilling of 27 wells in northwest Canada and construction of a pipe line from Fort Norman, N. W. T., to Whitehorse, Yukon, with roads and other facilities. The United States is paying the bill, but officials say the government neglected to get any post-war rights to the development.

Army spokesmen have attempted to justify the project on the ground it seemed a good idea when it was conceived. Critics say tankers can carry the gasoline and oil needed, and even that a major part of it could have been transported by the shipping required to carry the equipment used in the project.

Army witnesses have testified the oil development was planned when it was feared the Japanese might make it difficult to move oil to Alaska. The project was veiled in secrecy, except in Canada, and the Truman committee has been trying in vain to learn whether or not any experienced oil men gave their approval to Somervell's plans.

Interest in Arab Princes.

Interest in the recent Washington visit of two princes from Saudi Arabia was revived today by the story of the lavish entertainment given American oil men and an American army commission by the king of Saudi Arabia. Rep. John M. Coffee [D., Wash.] said in an interview the story strengthens his suspicions the prices were here in the interest of transactions concerning the fabulous Saudi Arabian oil reserves.

Rep. Coffee recently charged in the house that the government is coöperating with the major oil companies, against the independent oil producers, in foreign oil operations.

GRAIN MARKETS TURN WEAK IN LIGHTER TRADING

Grain markets turned weak yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. At no time were wheat prices above the finish of the preceding session and the close was ⅝ to 1⅛ cents a bushel lower. December rye sold at a new seasonal high early, but eased later on profit taking and ended ½ to 1⅜ cents lower. Oats were unchanged for December and ⅜ to ⅞ cent lower on the deferred months. Barley lost ¼ to 1½ cents. Trading was lighter.

Failure of the office of price administration to announce ceiling prices on wheat and reports that no action may be taken until mid-January, combined with belief that large deliveries of cash wheat would be made on December contracts in Minneapolis had some effect on sentiment.

Minneapolis Wheat Declines.

Minneapolis wheat futures closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower on scattered liquidation. Deliveries of 2 million bushels or more cash wheat are expected in the northwestern market in the next few days.

Officials of the Board of Trade were understood to have held a conference yesterday on the situation in December oats. Some officials were reported to have favored ordering all trades closed immediately at the ceiling price of 82 cents, but after discussion it was decided to wait several days before discussing conditions again.

Oats Futures Under Pressure.

A leading holder of December oats was said to have sold about 150,000 bushels, the first business in that future in two days. The deferred months were under pressure from operators who believe that when the permanent ceiling is placed on this grain, prices will be well below the current level. No. 2 white oats sold in the cash market at 83¼ cents, the ceiling.

Brokers said they saw evidence of liquidation by holders of December rye, but the selling was said to have been largely in the way of changing over to the May future at 1½ to 1⅝ cents discount for the latter.

PRICES OF HOGS MAINLY STEADY; 8,000 HELD OVER

All hogs except 200 to 270 pounders that were eligible for government support were in good demand at strong to higher prices in the Chicago stock yards yesterday. "Government weights," which made up most of the offerings, sold steady at the floor price of $13.75. Hogs above and below the 200 to 270 pound range were scarce.

Gains of 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds for sows, and strong to 10 cents higher prices for lightest weights and heavy butchers resulted in a 10 cent rise in the average to $13.45.

Department Store Sales Dip in Chicago District

Department store sales in Chicago and in the 7th federal reserve [Chicago] district dropped 5 per cent in the week ended Dec. 11, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Sales in Indianapolis and Milwaukee rose 3 and 1 per cent, respectively, but declined 10 per cent from last year in Detroit.

REPORT SHOWS DRAIN OF TAXES ON PAY, INCOME

American Steel Foundries, notifying stockholders of the annual meeting to be held in Flemington, N. J., Jan. 27, yesterday disclosed the remuneration of Thomas Drever, president and director, during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was $89,999, and called attention to the fact that federal taxes at current rates would take $58,627, leaving a net amount of $31,372.

The company also said F. B. Ernst, vice president and director, would have $23,530 left out of total remuneration of $54,000. The same amounts were shown for A. Walcher, vice president and director.

$35,999 Paid Vice Presidents.

C. L. Heater, Oliver E. Mount, and C. C. Jarchow, vice presidents, were paid $35,999 each, of which $19,140 remained after taxes for Heater and Jarchow, and $19,395 for Mount. Ernest P. Waud was paid $72,000 as president of Griffin Wheel company, a subsidiary, with $28,451 left after estimated taxes.

Retirement provision made during the year for the officers also was shown. Drever was paid $6,044, and his estimated annual benefit on retirement was $13,182. Waud's amounts were $4,982 and $7,390.

Income Taxes Mount.

Federal income tax provision totaled $14,850,200, equal to $12.50 a share, compared with $9,800,000, or $8.25 a share, in the preceding 12 months. The tax provision was equal to 84 per cent of the 1943 fiscal year net income, against 77 per cent the preceding fiscal year.

The company's preliminary statement said net income was $2,752,543, equal to $2.32 a share, compared with $2,906,343, or $2.45 a share, a year earlier. The 1943 earnings were after a reserve of 9 million dollars for renegotiation of war contracts. Net sales were $96,773,638, against $67,095,720 a year earlier. Current assets as of Sept. 30 totaled $37,624,567 and current liabilities $18,289,502.

Spaniel Chained to Sink Victim in Apartment Fire

Fire started by an overheated oil stove yesterday cost the life of a black cocker spaniel, chained to the sink in the apartment of his owner, Miss Virginia Reioux, 32 years old, 1317 North Dearborn street. The flames drove Miss Reioux to the street in night clothing.

MILLS PRODUCE AND EARN SAME; ONE PENALIZED

Repricing by Whim Draws Attack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The war department has been asked to explain why the army price adjustment board demanded the recapture of $35,000 from a North Carolina cotton mill while another mill, under the same management and reporting the same profit on work for the navy, was not asked by the navy for any refund, Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] said today in an interview.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar.

The conflicting decisions of the army and navy price adjustment [renegotiation] boards were reported to Sen. McKellar by A. G. Heinsohn Jr., president of the Cherokee Spinning company, Knoxville, Tenn., who also manages the Spindale Mills, Inc., Spindale, N. C.

McKellar said he had sent a copy of Heinsohn's letter to Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, asking an explanation of the army board's action.

Charge Policy Differences.

Charges that the army and navy renegotiation boards have lacked uniformity of policy in determining allowable profits have been made in the past, and have been vehemently denied by the renegotiation officials.

Heinsohn, in presenting his case to Sen. McKellar, wrote:

"Each of these mills gave up more lucrative civilian business to weave twills for army, navy, and marine corps uniforms. By sheer coincidence the indicated profit realized by each mill on the twills woven in 1942 amounted to 8.36 per cent on sales before taxes.

"Both mills were subjected to renegotiation. The navy price adjustment board issued a clearance to Cherokee stating: 'It has been found that you have not realized any excessive profits during your fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1942,' while the army price adjustment board demanded the recapture of $35,000 from Spindale.

Government by Personal Whim.

"Would you call this attempted recapture from these North Carolina stockholders 'due process of law'? We believe this renegotiation procedure is government by personal whim and that it is arbitrary seizure of private property by burocratic decree."

Heinsohn said many companies do not dare protest renegotiation decisions for fear of government retaliation.

"When American citizens submit to the dictates of burocrats thru fear of retaliation are we not approaching the very thing our ancestors freed us from and the very thing our boys are fighting to destroy?" he asked.

Union Agents Blamed.

If congress votes to continue renegotiation, it should do a thoro job and "renegotiate the non-producing labor union agents" who collect initiation fees from workers in war industries, Heinsohn said. He asserted the activities of such agents may be one cause of high labor turnover.

"It is, however, our fervent hope that congress will repeal this [renegotiation] act and rely on the constitutional means of taxation to prevent undue war enrichment," Heinsohn's letter concluded.

10 Pct. Pay Rise Asked for 85,000 Dressmakers

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Eighty-five thousand dressmakers of the metropolitan area today asked a flat 10 per cent wage increase. Julius Hochman, union representative, made the demand as negotiations for a new contract opened between the Dress Joint Board and Waistmakers' union, an affiliate of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers' union, and industry representatives. A three-year agreement under which the workers are now operating expires Jan. 31, 1944.

Bonus Assured Workers of Kellogg Switchboard

Employes of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, Chicago, have been advised by the newly elected president of the firm, J. K. Kellogg, that they shortly will receive their annual Christmas bonuses. Those employed for a year or more will receive a minimum of one week's pay. Other bonuses will be graduated according to length of service beyond a year.

M'Bain Fetes 33 Long in Field Service

Thirty-three Marshall Field & Co. employes, described as "still going strong after a half century of service," were honored by Hughston M. McBain, president, at a luncheon in the Wedgwood room of the company's State street store yesterday. The guests included eight members of the "class of 1893," who attained the 50 year mark this year. The combined years of service of all the guests totaled 1,750.

George H. Merritt, 3405 West Monroe street, who 61 years ago entered Field's rug department, where he is a salesman of oriental rugs, is the company's oldest employe. Merritt, chipper despite his 78 years, said that besides the famous dictum, "the customer is always right," Marshall Field, founder of the company in 1852, was fond of a second business adage, still preserved as the motto of the rug department: "The customer first—thoroness in everything."

Retire at Age 65.

McBain referred to the fact that under the retirement plan voted by the stockholders Nov. 15, employes under 65 will be retired on reaching that age. Employes of 65 or older when the plan was adopted may retire at their option, with similar pension allowances, but not as a part of the plan.

William S. Street, vice president and general manager, informed the guests that during 1943 the company will have served the largest number of customers in its history and dollar sales volume will set a new record high.

Fred Bonk, Oak Park, still gives a start when he hears the cry "Cash!" for he began his career at Field's as a cash boy 56 years ago. He wore yesterday a cash boy uniform with a No. 99 badge.

Tells of Opportunities.

"The cash registers rang the knell on that activity, but department stores still offer bright opportunities for boys," said Bonk, now a service department manager.

Miss Katharine Messmer, 1943 Keystone avenue, a member of the "class of '94," wore a shirtwaist costume of that era, with a flower trimmed straw hat, tied with a yellow ribbon under her chin. She and Bonk waltzed to the music of an orchestra attired in "fancy dress" of the gay '90s, and wearing handle bar mustaches.

The woman employe of longest service is Miss Ellen Jane Bredin, 6109 Drexel avenue, who went to work for Field's nearly 58 years ago at the age of 18.

ASSURES WOOL PARLEYS BEFORE DISPOSAL MOVE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15 (AP).—Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] said tonight he had been assured by the WPB that no action would be taken to dispose of the government's wool stock piles until after conferences with "all groups concerned." WPB announced yesterday it was considering proposals to divert the 330,000,000 pound stock of imported wool with careful controls "to assure insofar as possible the continuance of established operations of importers and domestic wool growers."

O'Mahoney, chairman of a special senate wool committee, said the Commodity Credit corporation and the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which have funds invested in domestic wool, also assured that any action on the proposal would be delayed until all interested groups were contacted.

WLB RIGHT TO EXTEND UNION'S CONTRACT IS CHALLENGED BY WARD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Montgomery Ward & Co. told the war labor board today it would "object very seriously" to an order extending temporarily its contract in Chicago with the CIO United Wholesale, Retail and Department Store Employes' union, and questioned the board's authority to issue such an order. The contract expired Dec. 8.

The company refuses to recognize the union as the exclusive bargaining agent of the employés unless ordered to do so by the national labor relations board, contending that the old certification of the union is no longer effective. John A. Barr, speaking for the company, questioned the union's claim that it represented a majority and objected to an extension of the contract pending an election.

"There is an issue of representation," said Barr, "and that is a question for the NLRB to decide."

Heavy Driver Losses Take Toll of Trucks

Lack of man power is resulting in idleness of motor transport equipment urgently needed in moving war goods congesting Chicago freight terminals, Frank T. Corcoran, district manager of the office of defense transportation, said last night.

He spoke as chairman of a meeting of motor transport representatives called by the ODT to discuss man power problems with selective service officials.

"The industry found in a recent survey that because of its inability to replace lost man power, more than 6 per cent of the equipment of 750 carriers in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin is idle," Corcoran said.

Predicts Heavier Strain.

He asserted motor transport facilities will suffer an even heavier strain and freight transportation will be slowed to a larger degree as the weather grows more unfavorable and as inexperienced drivers replace experienced men.

Lt. Col. George A. Irvin, regional selective service officer, warned that the army will require larger numbers of men from the industry, particularly in the 18 to 23 year age bracket. He said, however, that the industry is not using selective service deferment procedure that has been established in certain age groups under some conditions.

"It is the responsibility of the employer to provide the local draft boards with documentary evidence as to how urgently a man is required in your industry," he said. "If you haven't sold your board on the necessity of keeping a man it is either because you had an improper bill of goods or because you did not produce proper evidence that the board could understand."

Blames Draft Boards.

Walter McCarron, general manager of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association, asserted that "it is the draft boards that are not properly educated." He charged that some boards have told drivers to get into war plants. To remedy the man power shortage McCarron advocated "cleaning out the dead wood in the war plants."

Prior to the meeting McCarron said government figures reveal about 70 per cent of war freight is moved in and out of plants thru motor transport service. "Despite that fact, we have been subjected to a man power loss of 325,000 and our present need is 338,000 men," he said.

Carbonic Gas Maker Earns Less in Year

Liquid Carbonic corporation yesterday reported a net profit of $1,309,935, equal to $1.61 a common share, for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, compared with $1,402,495, or $1.80 a share, in the preceding year. Net sales amounted to $20,733,543, against $21,260,266.

Provision for federal and Canadian income taxes, including excess profits taxes, increased to $1,790,000 from $1,185,000.

W. K. McIntosh, chairman, said that sales in the consumer goods division, chiefly compressed gases, were in general restricted only by productive capacity, but shipments in the durable goods division were limited.

Western Union Reports.

Western Union Telegraph company's net income for October, including operations of Postal Telegraph, Inc., from Oct. 8 was $405,034. A. N. Williams, president, said that the figures were not comparable with the same month last year because the loss at which Postal has been operating reduced the consolidated net profit.

For the 10 months ended Oct. 31 Western Union earned a profit of $5,696,238, against $7,457,501 in the 1942 period. On the new class A stock the earnings were equal to $5.45 a share, applied directly, or to $4.58 on a participating basis, with $2.92 a share earned on the B stock. In the 1942 period the earnings were $7.13 a share.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 16 (AP).—Daniel W. Bell, undersecretary of the treasury, tonight urged continuation of high income taxes "for as long as possible" after the war to help keep down inflation.

While the natural tendency for a person with accumulated savings may be to "play it close to the chest" Bell said that to count on this attitude alone to combat inflation "would be as improvident as counting on an internal smash-up in Germany to win the war."

Speaking to the Worcester Economic club, he asserted that high personal taxes in the post-war period would "serve the anti-inflationary purpose of absorbing surplus purchasing power" and also would help pay off the national debt.

MERGER PLANS ARE FILED BY LACKAWANNA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—A plan for the merger of the New York, Lackawanna and Western Railway company into the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company was filed today with the interstate commerce commission.

The proposed merger involves merely a change of corporate ownership of the properties and franchises of the New York company, including the stock of the New York, Lackawanna and Western Railway company [of Pennsylvania].

Under the plan, shareholders of the New York company would receive $60 in new first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series C, and $40 in 5 per cent income bonds for each share of their stock.

Mill and Lumber's Test Fails to Find Oil Trace

A drop yesterday in over the counter quotations on Chicago Mill and Lumber company stock brought to light the fact that the company's oil well test in Tensas parish, Louisiana, had failed to find traces of oil in the Tuscaloosa sand level. Earlier tests showed oil in the Wilcox sand at 3,000 feet.

SUBSIDY FIGHT ROUND IS LOST BY FARM BLOC

Senate Group Asks 60 Day Extension.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Dealing a temporary set-back to the farm bloc in its campaign to kill government food price subsidies, the senate banking committee recommended today a 60 day extension of the present subsidy authority pending further efforts toward compromise.

In a surprise development the committee voted down, 9 to 8, the Bankhead bill for outright subsidy repeal and also rejected, 11 to 5, the compromise plan of Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] to retain part of the administration food price control program. This postponed a showdown until after Christmas.

Vote Today on Extension.

Sen. Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader, introduced in the senate a resolution to carry out the committee recommendation by extending the life of the Commodity Credit corporation—which pays most of the subsidies—from Dec. 31 to Feb. 29. It is scheduled for consideration tomorrow.

Altho the door was not closed to a later revival of legislation for outright subsidy repeal, at the flat Jan. 1 ban voted by the house, the committee rejection of the anti-subsidy bill of Sen. John Bankhead [D., Ala.] upset the expectations of farm organization leaders that the senate would go along with the house.

The Bankhead bill was similar to the house repealer but it would have permitted until June 30, 1944, the liquidation of the billion dollar a year subsidy program.

Promises to Seek Compromise.

Sen. Barkley said that if the two houses approve the extension he would devote the holiday recess to "working at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue"—the White House and Capitol hill—for a compromise.

Bankhead opposed delay in the executive session of the committee but said later he would not fight the CCC extension on the floor. Both sides in the subsidy fight favor a continuance of the CCC, which in addition to subsidies carries on various farm aid programs.

The senate committee action amounted to a victory for the advocates of subsidies, but the postponement had been opposed by Marvin Jones, war food administrator. He told the committee recently that 60 days of uncertainty may seriously interfere with farmers' plans for spring planting.

NEWSPRINT USE DROPS 14.7 PCT. FROM YEAR AGO

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Newspapers of the United States in November cut their use of newsprint paper 14.7 per cent below consumption in the corresponding month last year and 15.7 per cent below the level in November, 1941, a survey of the American Newspaper Publishers' association disclosed today. Newsprint used by 525 newspapers which account for 74.3 per cent of total consumption amounted to 222,343 tons in the month.

For the first 11 months of the year total consumption, based on these figures, was estimated at 3,367,250 tons or 3.1 per cent less than in the comparable 1942 period and 6.4 per cent less than in the first 11 months of 1941.

Boulevard Bank Declares 50 Pct. Dividend in Stock

Directors of the National Boulevard bank yesterday declared a 50 per cent dividend in capital stock, payable Dec. 28. The action will increase the outstanding capital from $500,000 to $750,000, as recently authorized by the stockholders. The dividend is subject to approval by the controler of the currency and will be distributed to shareholders of record on the date on which such approval is given.

Soft Drink Company Stocks Join Liquors in Price Runup

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Liquor stocks went on another climbing spree in today's market and, altho rails and many leaders failed to join, motors, rubbers, and scattered "blue chip" industrials advanced after early hesitancy.

Soft drinks joined the liquors after mid-day as talk of further whisky dividends and rising earnings of sparkling water and ginger ale components enthused buyers. Gains ranged from 1 to more than 5 points for favorites, altho a number ended below the day's tops.

The national railway strike call was a mild handicap for the carriers. Little was found in the war news to prop bullish sentiment. Light year-end selling persisted as a handicap, altho commitments were reinstated here and there.

Touch New Highs.

New highs for the year were touched by Schenley, Dunhill International, Park and Tilford, and Canada Dry. Hercules Motors also was in the new high division with a gain of 1⅜ as talk of a merger with Chrysler again was heard. Chrysler was up 1¾.

The Associated Press 60-stock average managed to emerge with a net advance of 0.1 of a point at 49. Of 818 issues traded, 350 were higher against 468 down or unchanged. Transfers totaled 761,420 shares, compared with 664,130 Wednesday.

On the curb Brown-Forman Distillers jumped 4¼ points, and lesser gains were retained by United Gas, Cities Service, and Cuban Atlantic Sugar.

BOND PRICES UNEVEN.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Steep recovery moves by some medium and lower priced rails in late trading in the bond market today left prices mixed despite the lower trend in the forenoon. Gains ranged from fractions to more than 3 points for some carriers, altho losses generally held to less than a point.

Price changes were narrower among other corporate loans and about evenly balanced between advances and declines.

CHICAGO STOCKS GAIN.

Gains slightly exceeded declines in light trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Alfred Decker & Cohn was more than usually active, rising a point to a new high at 8 and closing with a net gain of ¾. Among other volume leaders, Commonwealth Edison advanced a small fraction, and Chicago corporation, Standard Dredging, and Domestic Industries A were unchanged.

People and Events

Ezra S. Taylor, head of the employe suggestion department of the Pullman company, has been reelected president of the National Association of Suggestion Systems, it was announced yesterday. Other officers elected were H. W. Seinwerth, Swift & Co., vice president; F. A. Denz, United Air Lines, secretary, and F. R. Evers, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, treasurer.

◆

R. S. Rheem, president of the Rheem Manufacturing company, yesterday announced the appointment of William E. Curran as vice president of manufacture, with headquarters in New York. Prior to joining the Rheem organization in 1942, Curran was for 18 years general superintendent of the Birmingham plant of the Republic Steel company.

Week's Freight Loadings Are Reduced 4.6 Per Cent

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The Association of American Railroads today reported 823,211 cars of revenue freight loaded during the week ending Dec. 11. This was a decrease of 39,548 cars, or 4.6 per cent, from the preceding week, an increase of 79,028 cars, or 10.6 per cent, from the corresponding week a year ago, and 15,986 cars, or 2 per cent, above two years ago.

FOES OF CHANGE IN FREIGHT RATE PLAN TO CONFER

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 16 (AP).—Commercial and government representatives from 13 states will meet here tomorrow to complete organization of the recently formed national freight rate conference against legislation for "class" railroad freight rates.

Clarence A. Jackson, executive vice president of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce and acting chairman of the organization, said the meeting will seek ways of opposing efforts by "southern governors" to interfere with "establishment of freight rates by the interstate commerce commission solely on a basis of evidence produced by interested parties before the commission."

Other states besides Indiana to be represented are Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maine, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, and New York.

CANADA TO END WHEAT ACREAGE SLASH PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 16.—Canada's wheat acreage reduction program, instituted in 1943 to encourage a switch from wheat to coarse grains, will be discontinued, J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, said today.

The program, which reduced wheat acreage to 17,500,000 acres from the 28,726,000 acres of 1940, will have cost the public treasury about 80 million dollars when all the 1943 payments have been made.

VAST DOMESTIC TASK IS MET BY U. S. AIR LINES

Fewer Craft About Tie Pre-War Job.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Aviation, assuming its first major role in this war, is performing a job on the commercial front that is matched only by its more spectacular job on the battle fronts. Its commercial operations are as varied and as world-scattered as its military operations.

Chicago air line executives who commented yesterday on what commercial aviation is doing in this war said the job actually began in the summer of 1940, a year and a half before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The task has assumed increasing magnitude ever since. While half the pre-war air line fleet flies on military missions thruout the world, the remaining fleet available for domestic operations has been able to handle nearly as much business as the entire fleet handled before the war.

Express Nearly Doubled.

With about 165 planes left in domestic service, the United States lines expect to transport nearly 3½ million passengers this year, against 4,060,500 carried by the full fleet in 1941, the last pre-war year. The 1943 volume of air express will approximate 43 million pounds, nearly double the 1941 figure. Somewhat less air mail—41 million pounds—is scheduled.

The 17 domestic air lines began the war with 352 airplanes in service. Before turning over about half of their equipment to the government, the lines were flying 368,867 miles daily. Now, they fly 311,000 miles daily. Demonstrating ability to meet the war crisis, the number of schedules flown has been cut only 29 per cent, altho the size of the fleet has been halved.

Many of the air line planes were taken over by the army's air transport command beginning in the spring of 1942. With the new transports coming off the factory assembly lines since, they give this country the largest air transport fleet the world has ever known.

Pilots Flying for Army.

Former air line pilots pressed into army service are helping fly these planes in all parts of the world. More than a million pounds of cargo move each week between points in the western hemisphere alone. Next year, ATC officials envision routes

VAST DOMESTIC TASK IS MET BY U. S. AIR LINES

Fewer Planes Nearly Tie Pre-War Job.

Flights incidental to the construction of war plants marked commercial aviation's first contribution to war, the officials explained. Many have been made since mid-1940 to deliver blueprints or vitally needed machinery, or to carry military and civilian personnel.

A vital contribution to the war program has been the air lines' operation of several military airplane modification centers, where changes in fighting or other equipment are made after the planes come off the factory assembly lines. This method is utilized so that production is not held up to make the changes at the factories.

Some Services Discontinued.

Additional guns are mounted on planes destined for certain battle theaters, and different camouflage is applied for operation in different parts of the world. When factory production lines are halted for a change in model, the basic changes are incorporated in the plane so that this particular operation is no longer necessary at the modification center.

Several factors explain the air lines' ability to maintain commercial operations so near the pre-war level with only half the number of ships in service. Long nonstop flights have been eliminated, enabling the planes to carry bigger pay loads and serve more cities. All sleeper service has been discontinued. Service has been suspended over certain areas not deemed of sufficient importance in a war economy, and to eliminate duplication. "Convenient" passenger trips—those timed purely for the convenience of business men—have been stopped.

Parts Replaced Regularly.

Most important, according to the airmen, has been the vast improvement in maintenance methods. All engine parts are dated, and come out for replacement after specified length of service even tho they show no perceptible signs of wear. Practically a new engine is born after a half dozen trips to the repair shop.

Women have helped vastly in the job, the executives said, working in radio, meteorological and a host of other jobs, including the operation of Link trainers.

The air lines believe the war has accelerated public acceptance of the airplane twentyfold. Even the small role played by the airplane in World War I. accelerated the advance in aviation after that war. Now, according to reliable estimates, the transport companies are prepared to spend 40 million dollars on new ships and engines to meet demands that will develop after this war.

PLEA FOR MORE NEGRO HOUSING GRANTED BY NHA

The Washington office of the national housing agency has approved a recommendation made recently by the Chicago NHA that funds be used for the public financing of 500 additional family dwelling units for Negro families to be provided thru conversion of existing structures in the central area, William Divers, regional NHA representatative said yesterday. He made the announcement at a meeting held at the Home Owners Loan corporation office to discuss Negro housing.

As a result of criticism of NHA by various Negro social workers, Divers said that within the next two weeks he would send to Washington statistical data covering the Negro housing situation. According to an NHA official, the Divers statement indicated he will suggest a relaxation of occupancy standards for Chicago housing.

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE.

Please send me a report on the Baldwin Locomotive Works. Z. B.

Answer: Baldwin is one of the two largest producers of steam and electric locomotives, and with its wholly-owned subsidiaries also manufactures diesel engines, forgings and castings, hydraulic and other special machinery, and marine engines. A 61.5 per cent stock interest is held in the Midvale Co., leading supplier of heavy armor and forgings for the navy.

Earnings for the 12 months to Sept. 30, 1943, subject to renegotiation, were reported at $6,159,211, or $4.71 per common share, after a $1,775,000 provision for contingencies. This compared with $4,239,257, or $3.96 a share, for the corresponding 1942 period, after a $450,000 contingency provision.

Net income for the full 1942 year amounted to $4,516,344, or $4.23 per share, after a $800,000 provision for contingencies. Losses were reported for the years 1931 to 1936, inclusive, and for 1938.

Capitalization consists of $4,210,400 funded debt, 77,633 shares of $30 par 7 per cent preferred stock, and 1,028,512 shares of $13 par common. A total of 620,363 warrants are outstanding, each permitting the purchase of one common share at $15 up to Sept. 1, 1945. Dividends were resumed on the common stock in 1942 after a lapse since 1931. The 1942 distribution was $1 a share, while dividends paid or declared in 1943 amount to $1.50 a share.

Special Loan Service for Folks in a Hurry
Short of time as well as cash? Don't borrow unnecessarily, but if a loan of $10 to $250 or more is to your advantage, see us. We make cash loans with a minimum of delay. Outsiders not involved.

No Fussing Around
Just come in, or better still, apply by phone. Call us, then make one visit to sign and pick up the cash. You'll get the same courteous, private attention as though you applied in person.

Sensible Cost
Loans are made on signature, furniture, or auto, without involving others. $30 for 2 weeks costs only 45c. Let us know today how we can serve you.

PICK YOUR OWN MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

RADIONICS
BRILLIANT FUTURE!
We need men whom we can train to become radio technicians. Previous radio experience is not essential; we are interested primarily in men who are ambitious, energetic, and interested in promotions and a secure future.
You can begin work in our Packing Division where immediate job-training will be at a minimum. As soon as you begin work, you are then qualified to enroll in Zenith's Radio School. Through classroom instructions in radio theory and through practical demonstrations, you will be given the necessary technical background to equip you for highly skilled radio work.
JOIN US NOW HELP US BUILD
WAR EQUIPMENT!
This is a real opportunity to secure a job, an education, and assure yourself a brilliant future. Radionics is a breathtaking industry . . . alive with opportunities. Peace time production of Radio, F. M., Television, and all the other marvelous radionic devices will offer unusual opportunities for trained radio technicians. Get your training now—prepare for the future.

"I GOT MY START LAST CHRISTMAS," SAYS SUE . . .

"I was so anxious to get started in the right job when I graduated," said Sue. "I had heard a great deal about the opportunity offered at Montgomery Ward and during my Christmas vacation I decided to have a talk with them . . . and I did."

"From a friendly Ward interviewer I learned about the many advancements that you could get . . . learned that Wards pay the HIGHEST STARTING salaries for comparable work in CHICAGO and that wage increases were regular. I was thrilled to learn that Wards would willingly train me at FULL PAY and I could start the day after I graduated."

WORK FOR ZENITH
What a Future for You
THRILLING CAREERS FOR GIRLS AND WOMEN
A breathtaking career and an exciting secure future awaits you at Zenith. The Radionics world is a woman's world . . . It takes nimble feminine hands to skillfully assemble radios, hearing aids, and all the other marvelous radionic wonders. We have hundreds and hundreds of clever girls and women who have been with us five, ten, even fifteen years. They'll tell you that Radionics is as fascinating to them now as the first day they started.
Experience Not Essential
Every day we are training girls and women who have never before been in a factory. The work is clean, simple, and extremely interesting. We have patient, courteous, considerate supervisors to train you—and we pay you well while you learn. You'll be amazed at how quickly you will grasp the work and how efficient you will become in a very short time.
